Sennacherib in Wall St. When Did Crime Start? Big Country, Big Figures. The King Returns.

(Copyright by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

At the opening Monday, Wall Street reminded you of cheerful Robin Hood and his merry men when "some would jolly and some would jump and some would play artillery."

Wall Street skies were bright, everything was gay, good news from all sorts of places.

And suddenly the money lenders reminded you of the monkey that would not drink milk after he had tasted whiskey.

The money lenders, on having tasted 15 and 20 per cent, have no interest in old-fashioned interest rates.

They called $60,000,000 of loans. Interest jumped to 15 per cent soon, speculators looked like Sennacherib's soldiers, after "the angel of death spread his wings on the blast and breathed in the face of the foe as he passed."

Science in the human brain will seek the cause of crime and other mental troubles.

Science will have to go a long way back; about 1,500 million years ago the crust of the earth was already solid and life, according to science, traveling on some meteor through the absolute zero of the ether, started in earth's salt seas.

About a million years ago man appeared, learned to fasten a sharp flint at the end of a club, an invention that made him boss of the world and started his "civilization."

A long line of animals, locked up back of that low forehead, looked out under the projecting eyebrows. The business of suppressing those ancestral animals is not yet finished. Hence crime, at least that is what science says.

You may refuse to go any farther back than the fatal row between Cain and Abel.

Our debt is reduced to $16,931,000,000. Mr. Mellon will have a surplus of close to $400,000,000 at the end of the calendar year, and income tax on earned incomes may be cut down. So rejoice.

During the year Mr. Mellon reduced the national debt by $673,000,000, which means, every year hereafter, a saving in interest of $54,000,000.

Big figures, but it's a big country, with a big and efficient financial manager.

"Oh, I had a party fair time. You know their's nearly all some one at a party sober enough to talk to," said Mrs. Leghorn Tharp, speaking of the dinner given for Mr. Busby Sep, who's soon to join the navy. 'Nuthin' shows up the slackers like a war on weeds.

TWO DEAD TWO HURT BY PLUNGE

Party of Six Swept Into Deep Chasm - Guides and Rangers Seek Survivors - One Man Crawls to Safety - Veteran Mountaineer Attempts Single-Handed Rescue.

TACOMA, Wash., July 3.—(AP)—At least two men were killed when a party of six returning from the first attempt of the season to scale Mount Rainier were swept into a deep crevasse at the 13,000-foot level above Gibraltar Rock, Tuesday morning. Three separate crews of Rainier National Park company guides and government rangers are endeavoring to rescue the other members of the party, all of whom are believed to be seriously injured. First news of the accident was contained in a long distance telephone call received by the Tacoma News-Tribune from Rainier National Park company officials at Paradise Valley on Mount Rainier this morning. The dead are Forrest Greenhouse, football coach at Lincoln high school in Seattle and a former teammate of Red Grange, former University of Illinois football star, and Edwin Wetzel, of Milwaukee, Wis.

Greenhouse was employed by the park company during the summer months as a guide. Wetzel was a visitor at the park. The known injured are L. H. Brigham of Seattle, veteran amateur guide and athletic director at Garfield high school in Seattle, and Robert Strobel of Tacoma, assistant guide. The other two members of the party whose condition has not been determined, are D. Yancy Bradshaw of Cambridge, Mass., and E. P. Wetterly of Kansas City, Mo.

Both Bradshaw and Wetterly were visitors at the park.

One Man Slipped The men were returning from the summit in a raging blizzard when one member of the party slipped and plunged over the side of a deep crevasse, taking his five companions, who were roped together, after him. They landed on an icy shelf between 50 and 75 feet below the top of the crevasse, where they were barely able to cling while the blizzard beat down upon them.

Strobel was the first to crawl along the shelf to safety. He made his way out Tuesday morning and started down to the cabin at Camp Muir, which is 10,000 feet above sea level. Here he notified workmen who were preparing the cabin for summer use.

Charles Brown of Tacoma, a veteran mountaineer and government ranger, who was working at Camp Muir, started out alone to rescue the other five members of the party. His feat was described by government and park company officials as one of the most daring rescue attempts in the history of Pacific northwest mountaineering.

Staggering against a terrific wind, Brown made his way up the ice chutes above Gibraltar, where he met another member from the party who has not been identified. Brown lowered the man down the chutes and continued until he found tracks of another unidentified member of the party who had escaped from the crevasse and wandered to a long snow slide on Ingraham glacier, north of Gibraltar Rock. Brown followed the tracks down the steep snow and ice until, about a half mile away, he found a man lying unconscious.

Brown made several desperate but futile attempts to carry the man up the incline. He then dug a groove in the snow and left the injured man and went for help. He succeeded in reaching Paradise Valley late last night with meager reports of the accident.

Rainier park company officials, Maj. O. A. Tomlinson, superintendent of the park, and Homer Barrett, chief ranger, at once organized searching parties of guides and rangers and sent them out to rescue the injured men.

Brown told officials of the park company that the other two men who were injured were not fatally hurt but that their injuries were serious. A staff physician was sent from Paradise to Camp Muir with the first rescue party.

Strobel told Brown that they were crossing an ice bridge over the crevasse when one of the party slipped, pulling all six outside after him. He reported that one member of the party had been slipping.

CHICAGO, July 3.—(AP)—Orange Apple flew down and went crash yesterday and wound up in the hospital. Orange is only seven. They asked him his name and he said "Orange" in the obliging nurse brought him one. They asked him again and he said "Apple," and the nurse got suspicious. She peeked into a phone book and found Orange Apple listed. She called him up, and sure enough he was little Orange's daddy. They asked Orange Jr. how he happened to fall down. He said he slipped on a banana peel. Altogether, everything considered, it was a fruitful event.

FARMER MUST WORK OUT HIS OWN SALVATION

Alexander Legge, Chairman of New Farm Board, Says That Body Can Only Help Find Way—Urge Mascries to Reconsider.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., July 3.—(AP)—The farmer will have to work out his own salvation; the federal farm board can only help to help him find a way," Alexander Legge, chairman of the new federal farm board, said here today. Mr. Legge, president of an implement company, is here observing the Kansas wheat harvest. "It is the hope of the farm board that it may find a way to help the farmer to help himself," he continued.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(AP)—W. S. Moscrop of Lake Elmo, Minn., who has declined to serve on the federal farm board, is being urged to reconsider by President Hoover.

Moscrop was offered a place on the board last week after a conference with President Hoover and Secretary Hyde, and took the proposal under consideration. In declining to serve he said that the necessities of his own business affairs required his attention to such an extent that he could not see his way clear to accept the post. Moscrop had been chosen to represent the dairying industry in the deliberations of the board.

Baseball Scores

NEW YORK, July 3.—(AP)—Babe Ruth hit his seventeenth home run of the season in the seventh inning of the Yankees-Red Sox game here today with the bases filled. It is very rare for the Yankee slugger to hit for the circuit with three on base. Charlie Ruffing was in the box when the drive sailed into the right field seats. The homer gave the Yanks a tie at 5 to 5.

ANGELENO GETS FUEL AFTER A DELAY BY FOG

Reinhart and Mendell Continue Record Flight Attempt Over Los Angeles—Cleveland Plane Nearing End of Fifth Day.

CLEVELAND CITY, Cal., July 3.—(AP)—Gasoline lowered to their biplane "Angeleno" in five gallon cans enabled L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart to continue their attempt to better the refueling endurance record here this morning. Fog had delayed a refueling contact and when the fliers dropped a message saying they were nearly out of gas the refueling plane refused to start. An emergency plane was used and three five-gallon cans of gasoline were lowered to the Angeleno with a rope. This carried the biplane on until 7:50 a. m., when the bulky refueling ship was started and 50 additional gallons were given the Angeleno.

CLEVELAND, July 3.—(AP)—Nearing the end of their fifth day in the air, Pilots Roy L. Mitchell and Byron K. Newcombe shuttled back and forth above Cleveland airport today with all apparently going well aboard the monoplane "City of Cleveland" in which they hope to set a new refueling endurance flight record.

At 11 o'clock this morning the City of Cleveland had been aloft 112 hours and 21 minutes. The pilots must stay up until 12:11 a. m. Saturday to set a new mark.

CHICAGO, July 3.—(AP)—The Chicago Tribune amphibian, "Untin Bowler," lifted its wings from the waters of Lake Michigan at 3:48 a. m. today and sailed northward on the first leg of a flight to Berlin. Its first stop was scheduled at Milwaukee.

Aboard the craft as it started its air journey across the northern wastes to Europe were two pilots, Robert H. Gast of Kentucky and Parker Cramer of Clarion, Pa., and Robert Wood, aviation editor of the Tribune.

URGE TEACHERS AND PARENT TO AID LAW REGARD

National Education Association Sees Good Citizenship As Foundation of Liberty—Asks Congress for Federal Department of Education.

ATLANTA, July 3.—(AP)—A resolution before the National Education association today, framed by the resolutions committee, urged "all teachers and parents to renew their efforts to inculcate a regard for law as the foundation of democratic liberty."

The association reaffirms its belief in the public school as a constructive agency in character development," the resolution continued. "It re-emphasizes that conduct arises from what the child really loves and desires to be. Since training in right conduct is one of the chief objectives of the public school, it is recommended that investigations be made in the field of character development.

"The association believes that the greatest force for law observance is character education in the home and school and urges all teachers and parents to renew their efforts to inculcate a regard for law as the foundation of democratic liberty."

The resolution also urges congress to establish a federal department of education with a secretary in the cabinet. While affirming adherence to the principle of state control and direction of education, the resolution held that such a department was necessary, and on that subject concluded:

"We, therefore, urge upon the congress and the president the necessity of establishing a federal department of education with a secretary in the cabinet. The functions of this department shall be the administration of existing educational activities of the federal government that might be properly transferred to such a department; the development of such research agencies as educational interests of the nation require; the performance of such other duties as the congress from time to time may determine."

'CONSOLIDATED' WILL OPERATE THE BLUE LEDGE

The Consolidated Copper company, composed of a group of mid-west and eastern capitalists, has been formed for the operation of the Blue Ledge mine. It was announced today by Geo. R. Hughes, local representative of the eastern interests, that machinery for the mine had been ordered and that the project could be available Friday.

The operation of the mine has been under consideration for three months and was consummated through the efforts of Dr. J. F. Reddy of this city.

The contract for the hauling of the ore, from Seattle Bar to this city for shipment to the Tacoma smelter, has been let to a Portland trucking concern.

It is planned to build a 200-ton unit mill at Seattle Bar for the making of concentrates. A tramway, electrically operated, will also be erected from the mine to Seattle Bar, where loading platforms will also be installed.

It is expected that the mine will be in operation in 60 days and that the machinery will arrive shortly. A force of men is now engaged at the mine in making repairs to the buildings and trails, and cleaning out the mine tunnels.

The Consolidated Copper company has located in the Liberty building and retained Crews and Coffing as attorneys.

BARTLETT DEAL ABOUT OVER FOR CANNERY PACK

Only Two Concerns in Market—Offering $80 Per Ton—Hall Expects Quotations Soon On Bosc and D'Anjou Varieties.

Boying of Rogue River Bartlett pears for cannery purposes has practically ceased, as the canneries have secured their quotas. Two concerns are still in the market, offering $80 per ton, it was announced this morning.

J. Court Hall, a pear buyer, reported today that quite a few Howell pears have been sold at $2 per box, f. o. b. Hall represents both upstate and California canneries, buying 1800 tons of Bartlett for the California canneries, and 900 tons for the northern canneries.

Mr. Hall states that he and the Libby, McNeil and Libby company are still in market, and that the million dollars paid next August for Bartlett will facilitate the growers in the handling of their late pear crops.

Mr. Hall's views of the pear outlook is as follows: "As yet no orders have been taken for Bosc or D'Anjous. Quotations will soon be made on these two varieties. The general impression prevails among the growers that they should receive from $2.40 to $2.50 net per box for Bosc. On D'Anjous the range is wider and the growers are asking for this variety a price varying from $2.60 to $3.00 net per box.

"The Conice crop is light in the valley this season, and the growers are talking of forming a pool to sell the total Conice cropage to one fruit firm. For the past several years Conice prices have not been any too good and it is thought that the method of pooling will be a great advantage in securing a better price for the Conice pear.

"Winter Nellis prices last season were generally poor, and in some cases very disappointing. This season the growers are expecting that prices will increase correspondingly with other varieties of pears."

JONES PLANS TO PLAY IN BRITAIN

ATLANTA, July 3.—(AP)—Bobby Jones announced here today that he planned to play in both the British open and British amateur championship next year. His next big tournament will be the national amateur at Del Monte, Cal., in September.

Bobby's last appearance in the British open was two years ago when he successfully defended the championship he won in 1926. He also played in the 1921 tournament, but failed to win. He entered the British amateur twice, in 1921 and 1923, but failed both times. This is the only major championship he has never won.

CALIFORNIA IS BESET BY BRUSH FIRE

Conflagration Threatens More Homes Near Mill Valley—Heavy Damage Suffered—Breeze Aids 4000 Fighters—Santa Clara Valley Has Worst Fires in Years.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 3.—(AP)—The fire situation in California attained serious proportions today with six fires reported to the state forester as having burned more than 153,000 acres of grain, grass or timber and several homes and farm buildings. These did not include a large fire in Mill Valley, Marin county.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—(AP)—More homes in the vicinity of Mill Valley were endangered today by the conflagration which already had reduced a part of the picturesque little city to ashes. Flying embers started new fires among the homes of Cascade canyon, on the slope of Mount Tamalpais and along Corte Madera ridge, west of the canyon.

The extent of the loss, houses and personal property, remained to be determined, but unofficial estimates ranged from $500,000 to $1,000,000. Fire department estimates indicated that about 100 homes, including several that contained costly art and literary treasures, had been destroyed or badly damaged.

A stiff breeze, which made its appearance when the flames were licking the fringes of the business district, aided the work of 4000 fire fighters in turning the conflagration away from the town shortly after midnight. The fire then leaped up Cascade canyon, along the west slope of Mount Tamalpais, but firemen believed that it could do little damage in that direction.

Power lines were severed when the fire reached near the downtown section yesterday and fire fighters worked only by the light of the conflagration last night. Scores of persons who had lost their homes remained downtown throughout the night. Many were cared for at the emergency relief station established by the Ted Cross in the Northwestern Pacific depot.

William Thomas, assistant manager of the Mount Tamalpais and Fair Woods railroad, was the only person who remained unscathed. He was last seen yesterday afternoon. Several firefighters received burns, cuts and bruises.

A detachment of soldiers from the Presidio of San Francisco, who were sent to help fight the fire, returned to their headquarters this morning.

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 3.—(AP)—Mountain fires in the Santa Clara valley burning at an early hour this morning, were termed the worst in recent years by state fire

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 3.—See by this morning's paper where this fellow, Kemal Pasha, is considering making us a visit. They claim, people who have been over there, that he is the biggest man in the world today. He is Mussolini, Borah, Aimen McPherson and Charley Dawes combined. He jerked the veils off the women, made the people all learn to read and write a new language, put in a golf course, gave the farmers relief, discharged the federal reserve board and whipped Greece all in one week. Certainly hope that bird comes over here.

Yours, WILL ROGERS.
