It May Be Urgent

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. It relieves, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

Declares Farm Problem Can Be Solved By Artificial Ripening Producing Three Crops a Year

Artificial drying of green crops by means of coal fire heat and powerful ventilating fans which enables the farmer to raise three crops a year instead of one, is offered as the real panacea for agricultural ills by Arthur J. Mason of Chicago, nationally known industrial engineer.

Upsetting agricultural traditions which have prevailed since man first began to till the soil for his food supply, Mr. Mason proposes to revolutionize the work of the farm and boost the farmer's prosperity by placing the farm on a factory or mass production basis.

To this end, he is raising three crops a year instead of one on each of a dozen large farms he is operating in various sections of the United States and declares that it is possible for any farmer to do likewise.

The essence of Mr. Mason's sensational conception of agriculture, which long since passed the theoretical stage, is the cutting of crops while green and immediate planting of other crops—the substituting of green harvests for golden autumn harvests.

Declaring that crops are three or four times more valuable when green, Mr. Mason says that his method eliminates a frightful waste, slashes production costs and boosts the farmer's profits manifold.

"There is nothing beautiful about the golden harvest," Mr. Mason said. "It is dead waste."

After cutting, Mr. Mason proposes his green harvest for market by artificial drying which removes all moisture from the crop. He calls this method a "portable summer," which consists of a 20-foot blower fan and a soft coal heater.

In this way, hay or alfalfa may be cut in the rain and within half an hour it is nicely baled and ready for shipment.

Driven by the powerful blower, air-heated to 300 degrees, has removed all signs of moisture.

Mr. Mason found that this method not only tripled the yield in dollars per acre but the product is higher in flesh building protein and nitrogen content as well as in nutritive value.

Not only does artificial drying of crops make them more valuable but it enables a new view of the entire subject of agriculture. It enables the season to begin earlier in the year and to go later. Thus, we make excellent hay in May, and on one occasion, at least, I have made a crop of alfalfa worth as much as the corn crop of my neighbor before my neighbor's corn crop was planted at all.

At the other end of the season, cow-peas may be harvested and cured in November at a time when all conventional farming has long shut up shop for the year.

EDEN PRECINCT HAS 2 WRECKS IN 4 DAYS

EDEN PRECINCT, Ore., July 12.—(Special.)—Two wrecks have occurred in four days at the same place, Anderson Road in front of the Arthur Ferry place on the highway south of Phoenix. The first happened Saturday night at about 12 o'clock when a California car driven at high speed, got out of the road at the Carey place and hit their mail box post, tearing it out and stringing post, beams and box for three hundred feet, then playing along the ditch beside the highway and plunged into the ditch, which is about ten feet deep.

Officer Talent found the driver of the car sitting at the wheel in a dazed condition, out about the face and arms. He was rushed to the hospital in Medford and got a stiff toe and jaw sentences.

Tuesday night at a late hour, a young man from Los Angeles, who had been driving steadily since leaving there, was wrecked at the same place, the one driving having gone to sleep at the wheel. The car struck the guard rail, stripped off a wheel and right hand wheel, then slipped to the right taking off the second guard rail. The car landed against a fence. Neither of the boys was injured but the car was badly damaged.

The boys were enroute north to work in the fruit, one being a lawyer and the other a packer. Their names are Melvin Metakos and Ben Lewis.

Do you know this about sugar?

Use this knowledge for better cookery.

MANY people might think of sugar only as a sweetener. This is to miss at least half the value of sugar—the developer of natural flavors in good cookery.

If a dash of sugar is added to unbeaten egg-whites, and the two beaten together, the meringue will be lighter than if the egg is beaten before the sugar is added.

Sugar brings out the natural flavors of fruits and berries by softening the fruit acids.

A little sugar makes bitter chocolate mellow and tasteful.

If cereal is cooked with a dash of sugar, an entirely "new" flavor develops. This is the delicate flavor of the cereal that the sugar has brought up so that it can be tasted.

Add a dash of sugar to beets, peas, string beans, lima beans, corn, carrots, parsnips, sweet potatoes, squash, onions, tomatoes, cucumbers, spinach, asparagus, beet greens and celery while they are cooking (preferably in little water). You will find delicious flavors rarely tasted in vegetables before. These are the natural delicate vegetable flavors developed by the sugar. Use sugar flavor to improve the diet and health of the nation. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.
