

CITY MATTERS TO BE AIRED ON TUESDAY EVEN.

City government matters, which have been at a low ebb since the first of last week, with the expected return to the city of Mayor A. W. Pipes from his California trip tomorrow morning and City Attorney John H. Carlin today or tomorrow from spending most of last week in Salem are expected to come to life with a vim and vigor Tuesday night's city council meeting is expected to be an unusually interesting one because of a number of important matters coming up then for consideration, including the opening of bids for paving several streets.

The matter of the recent leasing of the old fire department quarters in the city hall building to the Treichler Motors company will probably be discussed, as will also new airport matters and the question of proposed selling water to outside communities. It is understood that no lease has yet been prepared for the Treichler Motors company by City Attorney Carlin, as the latter, after having been instructed to draw up a three years' lease, according to report, had not found sufficient time to do so before he and Mrs. Carlin left on their trip to Salem.

The matter of an appointment of a new city attorney may also come up at Tuesday night's meeting, to succeed Mr. Carlin because of the removal of the latter and his family to Salem incidental to his resuming his new duties as member of the state tax board, in the not distant future.

Rumor has been in circulation the past few days that Mr. Carlin wanted to be released, from duty as city attorney on August 1st, and it is understood that the trip of himself and Mrs. Carlin to Salem last week was for the purpose of selecting a home in that city.

Nothing definite about this matter could be learned because of the absence of both Mr. Carlin and the mayor.

Various candidates have been removed for the city attorney position which Mr. Carlin has filled so successfully for the past two years, and a strong rumor persists that the position will be tendered by the mayor to C. M. Thomas, former circuit judge, with the understanding that he give only part of his time to the city attorney duties.

However, in this connection there is an equally strong rumor that Judge Thomas will refuse to take the position on the ground that his law practice takes up all his time.

It is regarded by some in city administration circles that less money, if possible, will be paid to the new incumbent, on the ground that the duties of the position will not be so heavy after a few months. City Attorney Carlin drew a salary of $300 per month in recent years.

On the other hand it is also said that Medford has grown and prospered so and it is still growing, that despite the majority of the delinquent lots have been sold, preparation for which sales required so much legal preparation and time, that the complex affairs arising constantly with the city's growth and expansion demand the city attorney give all his time to city affairs, and thus would have no time for private practice of the law.

There are many more delinquent city lots to be sold as fast as legal titles can be obtained for them.

The council will receive bids Tuesday night for paving the following streets:

- South Central avenue from the end of the present pavement to the north line of Boyd street.
- Alder street from Jackson street to the north terminus of said Alder street.

Danger Period In Developing Pullets Requires Care and Proper Diet, Says Westerfield In Hint for Better Birds

Pullets being grown for laying flocks have now reached a very critical stage in their development. The stronger and hardier of them will of course continue to grow and thrive. But the difference between profit and loss depends on the care now given the entire flock of pullets.

Checking the development of pullets at this time makes of them the low producing, unprofitable type of hens. A proper combination of feed is the only thing that will bring about the best and most profitable results. For best results the pullets must now have a feed that is so perfectly balanced that it will meet every requirement of growth and provide every chemical element necessary to complete the development of the body.

A chemical analysis is not enough. It takes no account of the character of the proteins used, whether they are growth promoting or not and it does not give us any hint of the vitamin content of a feed.

It is common knowledge that some kinds of feed products are not growth promoting, hence a flock of pullets being fed on such products do not grow steadily, and many of them are small, undernourished weaklings, unfit even for fryers. The secret is to continually supply our pullets with every element necessary to meet their changing requirements of growth.

The nutritive ratio of their feed as chicks will not meet their demands as fast developing pullets, therefore the nutritive ratio of growing pullets must be the exact ratio required as they advance to complete development.

At two months of age most all pullets will have small red combs, but unless the feed used is made up of those products known to promote growth, their combs will soon become pale in color and will be covered with a whitish coating very similar to dandruff.

The comb is the best indicator of the state of health of the body. When the comb is pale and shriveled, body growth has ceased, and if this condition continues, you will have a pullet that at six months of age will have the body of a two months pullet. Such a pullet will lay largely peewee eggs, which are low in price and very unprofitable. To prevent these unwelcome, undesirable and unprofitable results is far better than to attempt to cure them.

The properly balanced feed will contain only growth promoting products and these will be chemically balanced in natural mineral elements, including the vitamins and together with a high digestibility we insure a natural body growth that continues to the complete development of the body, which in turn insures a reserve power to make of our home heavy and profitable producers of large eggs.

RACE WAR LOOMS NEBRASKA TOWN

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., July 13.—(AP)—Special police guarded the negro district of this city to night while regular forces continued their vigilance against the slaying of a policeman today by a negro, whom officers sought to arrest.

All negroes were ordered to leave town. They began their exit this afternoon, on foot, by horse and buggy, automobile and train. A mob formed at the house of Louis Seelman, 35, negro slayer of Policeman Ed Green, retained its formation despite efforts of police to break it up. Threats of violence were heard as members of the mob shouted orders to the negroes to leave town at once.

The shooting grew out of an attempt by Green to arrest Seelman who had previously been ordered to leave town in lieu of $950 fine for beating Alvin Miller, a negro, with whom he lived. He went to Omaha but returned this morning. The woman notified police and Green and another officer went to arrest him.

MRS. IKE DUNFORD HURT IN CRASH

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar (Ike) Dunford, who had their vacation here last month, when they became the victims of a car accident two miles west of Toledo, Oregon, arrived back in Medford yesterday noon, obviously happy to be home.

Mrs. Dunford, who only the day before yesterday was able to leave the Lincoln hospital at Toledo, is still under the doctor's orders.

The accident occurred when the Dunford car skidded on loose gravel and overturned, throwing both Mr. and Mrs. Dunford clear of the machine, out on the highway. Mrs. Dunford suffered broken ribs, scalp wounds and crushed muscles in the shoulders and chest. Mrs. Dunford also received injuries including a broken finger and hand bruises. Their son, Lavon Dunford, seated in the back seat of the car was barely scratched. The family left Medford June 15.

WIDER WILLAMETTE PROMISED SALEM

SALEM, Ore., July 13.—(AP)—In response to a telegram sent from Salem by Senator Charles L. McNary, sharply calling to the attention of the federal engineering department the condition of the Willamette river channel between Salem and Portland, a reply was received by the senator today promising immediate correction of the channel difficulties which are now a handicap to navigation.

"This situation requires prompt action and centralized responsibility," McNary wired the department. "I therefore earnestly request that the district engineer be immediately authorized to waive customary procedure in the procurement of services and equipment and that he be instructed to take such steps as in his opinion are necessary to maintain the project depth."

The reply, coming from Senator McNary's Washington office, says that Colonel Robbins, member of the board of army engineers in charge of rivers and harbors, will get in immediate touch with the district engineer and authorize him to take the necessary steps to correct the situation at once.
