REESE CREEK HAS BREAKS IN CANAL; TOO MUCH WATER

REESE CREEK, Ore., July 19. (Special.)—M. Heckenburger gave a hand in repairing a break in the canal bank on schedule one last week.

Ted Seaman has had quite a spell of bad luck in connection with the Eagle Point irrigation district. On Monday, the 15th, it was found necessary to put in 80 feet of flume on schedule one and the next two days it was necessary to construct another flume at the Dahack place at Nichols Gap, and since several hundred feet of sand and gravel had had about filled a portion of the ditch at the head of the west lateral. The farmers were quite willing to assist the regular crew and at this writing the repairs are nearing completion. One of the directors is very busy with a pick and shovel and another is ably represented, and the superintendent, Mr. Seaman, is on the go almost day and night. The canals and laterals are in the best condition they were ever in, but on account of the late spring rains, if they irrigating so much together that it has been necessary to put more water in the main canal than usual and as a result the danger of breaks is greater.
