EARWIG PLAY PLEASERS COPCO HOUR LISTENERS

The Earwig, Mary Greiner's latest radio playlet, with the lowly earwig in the title role, was enjoyed by radio fans last night. The play, a satirical farce on the earwig situation, was a pleasant deviation from the usual plot. The story revolved around a typical small town "Rabbit" so engrossed in his committee meetings and organization of a campaign to exterminate the earwig that he did nothing to actually kill them.

In the mounting Professor Knecker, a twist quietly exterminated them by paying a dollar a pint for the insects for his experiments.

Prof. Knecker was played exceptionally well by Fletcher Fish, and Earl Davis, who took the part of J. Franklin Balcus, a type exactly the opposite of the professor, did equally well. Others in the cast were Grace, Mrs. Balcus' niece, Dorothy Neese, Emily, Mr. Balcus' daughter, Mary Greiner; and a taxi driver, Mr. Bishop. The play was said by critics to be one of Miss Greiner's best.

INTEREST IS KEEN IN HORSESHOE TOURNAMENT

The height of the horseshoe tournament was reached at the local playground when Bernard Eskate and Lee Hubler played this morning. Over fifty children were crowded around the boys, each yelling for his favorite. The boys and girls in the playground were not the only spectators, as the Bear Creek bridge was lined with adults, who became quite interested in the game. Lee Hubler won the first and third games with the scores of 21-12 and 21-19. Bernard Eskate won the second, 21-14.

Other scores in the tournament were as follows: George Watson won two games, 21-16 and 21-9 from Dean Pieper, who won the first game 21-20. Lee Hubler defeated Floyd Leonsie, 21-12, 21-6; Kenneth Wilson won from Sam Cliff, 21-11 and 21-16. Sam won the second game 21-13. Tingley Champie won from Kenneth Wilson, 21-12 and 21-14. Although Lee Hubler showed such skill in his first game today, Tingley Champie defeated him 21-13, 21-12.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kendall of Wadsworth, N. C., 77 and 67, respectively, have spent less than $5 on sickness bills in their 50 years of married life.
