

PRINCESS PRAISES EUGENE'S PAGEANT AND CELEBRATION

It was something like having the world by the tail while that spherical body was doing a tailspin—those four glorious days as Princess Medford in the Sunset Trail pageant, according to her Ed-wards, Medford's regal representative in the celebration, who returned on the Shasta yesterday.

"Everything in the way of beauty and entertainment possible was crowded into those days—and they will always remain some of the happiest memories of my life," she said this morning.

"I thought the airplane ride there was the biggest thrill imaginable—but that was only part of it. If I'd only known some of the wonderful surprises in store for me after I got there, I wouldn't have needed the airplane—I'd have walked the whole way on air."

She described the exquisite costumes provided for her by the local chamber of commerce and airport committee. One was a pioneer costume of peaseck blue taffeta, the full hoop skirt of which was caught up by countless tiny ruffles.

"I thought the airplane ride there was the biggest thrill imaginable—but that was only part of it. If I'd only known some of the wonderful surprises in store for me after I got there, I wouldn't have needed the airplane—I'd have walked the whole way on air."

Before the banquet for the queen and princess on the second night of the celebration, the Medford girl was the recipient of a magnificent coronation which bore no name and which elicited considerable delighted conjecture on the part of the entire "royal" party.

"My only hope is that I may be of some real service to the Medford chamber of commerce, when they decide to put on the local dedication celebration, in order to, in my small way, repay them for their wonderful kindness to me," said Lee.

Equipment of the fountain consists of two milkshake machines, six ice cream compartments, eight sundae topping jars and eight syrup pumps worked by compressed air.

Lorenzo Gross and Mrs. Blanche Wheeler will have charge of the fountain service. Lunchees, featuring sandwiches and hot dishes, are also served at the fountain.

A Kelsator refrigeration system was installed by the Southern Oregon Electric, and the plumbing was done by William Hammett, well known local plumber. Products of Sneider's Dairy & Produce company will be served exclusively.

Fred L. Heath established the first store fifteen years ago and with service as his hobby and standard products as his motto, the business has steadily increased. Mr. Heath, Sr., retired from active business about a year ago and the business is now conducted by Fred Heath, Jr., and Larry Adams.

YOUNG ROBBERS SENT TO PRISON FOR LOCAL RAID

Alvin J. Young, 21, and James Baker, 19, who completed a two-year term at the Monroe, Wash., reformatory, July 21, were sentenced this afternoon by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton to prison terms at Salem. Young was sentenced to not less than four years, and Baker to not less than three years.

The pair entered the office of the Rogue River Lumber company and stole a shotgun, a fountain pen, and a screwdriver. Upon their release from Monroe, they pooled their prison earnings and bought a second hand car. They employed two days of freedom before they again were arrested. They were on their way to their home in Las Angeles, Calif., and intended to sell the lot to defray expenses.

Both made confessions and both entered pleas of guilty. In passing sentence, Judge Norton told the youths, "You seem to have learned nothing from past experience, and I hope when you have finished your term, you will both take a lesson."

Good behavior at Salem will entitle you to consideration from the parole board, and I hope you will both be there. Both Baker and Young have served reformatory terms for auto thefts. Baker told the court that his first arrest came when through a misunderstanding he was arrested for the theft of his father's Ford truck.

Both denied that when arrested at Salem in 1927, on a federal charge, they had fired shots at L. A. Porter Elmhart, then a traffic cop, and the endurance flight plane, "Angelene."

They admitted they served their full terms at Monroe, losing time off for good behavior because of an attempt to escape.

DRAINAGE SURVEY WELL UNDER WAY

The preliminary work for the drainage survey of the Rogue river valley, is well under way, according to R. A. Work, federal engineer in charge. He is now engaged in lining up domestic wells for the purpose of securing drainage data. Between 80 and 100 wells, in all sections of the valley are needed.

The topographical map, made years ago by Water Master Cummings was finally located, and will be used in the drainage survey. This will save six weeks' work.

It is expected that the survey will cover a year, and the maps and data will be made an official part of the United States geological department.

MISS CRAWFORD WILL ENTERTAIN KMED FANS

Great interest is being evidenced in local music circles in the far west piano recital of Miss Alice Crawford, premier pianiste and talented pupil of Rosa Blackmore Willett, which will be broadcast over tomorrow evening, KMED four o'clock.

Miss Crawford, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Crawford, leaves shortly for the east, where she will continue her studies in the famous Bush Temple conservatory, and her many friends throughout southern Oregon wish her the best of success in her future work.

NEW FLYING SCHOOL ESTABLISHED HERE

One of the new institutions located here as a result of the new airport is the Cooper King Flying Service, established last week with C. D. Partridge, chief pilot and instructor and W. J. Browne, pilot and manager, both of whom as well as their plane, are licensed by the department of commerce.

High Cost of Young Ball Talent Puts Minors On Financial Skids; Golf, Gasoline Also Deterrents

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Golf, gasoline and the increasingly high cost of youthful talent have accentuated the financial difficulties of minor league baseball clubs of the mid-west and southwest.

The lure of the fairway and open road to establish diamond farms, in the opinion of Dale Gear, for several years president of the Western League and Western association, has proven "almost destructive competition" for small ball clubs.

The salary problem, Mr. Gear believes, has been made doubly acute by payment of comparatively independent wages to recruits by major league clubs. Financial stability will be achieved in the minors, he contends, only when major league clubs, or in lieu of that, when minor leagues are allowed to employ the best promising talent at modest salaries.

Financial woes have invaded such clubs as the Texas league. In the past 40 years 21 clubs have tried to maintain clubs in it. Even now few of its teams make money unless they are winners.

DRUM CORPS WINS PAGEANT PLAUDIT ESCORTING FLOAT

The American Legion drum corps of Medford Post No. 15 arrived home yesterday from Eugene, where they took part in the Sunset Trail celebration. The Legionnaires made a splendid showing in the northern city and received a great ovation from the crowds as they escorted Princess Lee and the Medford float. The industrial parade was a wonderful presentation, according to those who saw it, and took an hour and a half to pass a given point. Local people who attended the celebration report that it was a notable success and reflected great credit upon the people of Eugene.

Moving pictures of the big parade and other events of interest were taken for the Copco Current Events newscast by H. L. Bromley, advertising manager of the California Oregon Power company, who made the trip as manager of the Medford drum corps. The films will be given a premier showing before the local Legion post in the near future and will then be available for exhibitions before service clubs, civic organizations, schools, etc., throughout this territory.

The Medford drum corps will undergo an intensive drill schedule during the next week to prepare for the drum corps contest at the state convention in Salem next month, August 7 to 10, inclusive. Their appearance at the Legion convention should be the means of securing much valuable publicity for Medford and southern Oregon, judging from the many favorable reports and press notes received from their showing at Eugene last week.

The following is a list of the drum corps members who made the trip to Eugene: H. L. Bromley, manager; P. Wilson, Walter, instructor; L. A. Williamson, drum major; Eugene Everett, W. J. Lecher, A. Parker, W. G. Mische, Fred Fry, A. E. Hall, Val Singler, Drummers: Ted Baker, I. C. Guelick, R. H. Duncan, A. Livermore, Ted Fish, Herb Hussong, J. C. Ross, Lou Baker.

Group 2 left this morning for Grants Pass to compete in the Crater Lake council swimming meet and hope to bring back the cup now held by Troop 29 of Grants Pass. From 12 was assisted in the meet last year and should have a good chance of placing first this year.

Twenty-five or thirty scouts will journey by cars to Holland tomorrow morning where they will start the hike to Helen lake. They will camp at the lake for a week and make some improvements in the camp and also receive instruction in scouting. The boys will be accompanied by A. G. Jackson of the forest service and William Lee Dricker, scout executive.

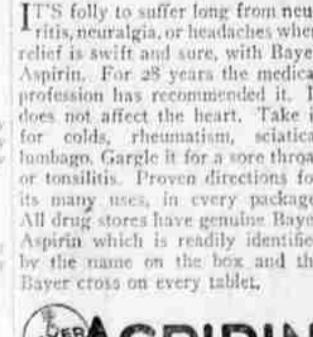

MISS DUNHAM GIVES RADIO PIANO SOLOS

A half hour of piano solos played by Miss Gladys Dunham over KMED was enjoyed by radio fans this morning. Miss Dunham, who is a graduate of Medford high school, class of '25, has been attending the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco and also the Advertising Art school there. Miss Dunham will play a half hour recital program of popular and standard numbers later in the week. The date will be announced later so that fans may phone in their requests.

PROPER SUPPORT WOULD INCREASE POULTRY INCOME

"If the proper support and encouragement are given the poultry industry in this valley, the present yearly income of $100,000, can be increased to a half million dollars," said N. C. Westerfield, poultry specialist, now located in Medford, at the Kiwanis club luncheon this noon.

The Pacific northwest have for the past five years or more been selling their eggs at a premium in New York.

New York buyers have been paying a premium for eggs shipped from the Pacific northwest, and eggs from this district have been selling for from four to seven cents a dozen higher than those in California, because of their superior quality, according to the expert.

That the climate, soil and natural conditions of this valley are partly responsible for the quality, was a further statement made by Mr. Westerfield, who claimed that Rogue River valley was more ideal in those respects than fertile lands elsewhere.

The speaker said that if those owning orchards would put in 500 pullets, they would be able to make a living for their families on the farm, whether or not the fruit turned out a failure.

OWEN AND JUDGE WILL CONFER ON STREET EXTENSION

County Judge Alex Stetter and James H. Owen of the Owen-Ostrom company will confer this week upon the extension of Court street through Owen-Ostrom property from North Central avenue to the Pacific highway near the junction with the Medford-Shasta Valley highway. This is the north leg of the Central avenue property, which is owned by Owen-Ostrom and is now being sold to the Owen-Ostrom company.

The extension of Court street would give the north-central portion of the county a direct route to the heart of the city.

We wish to thank our friends for their kind expressions of sympathy in the loss of our son and grandson, James Grant Crocker.

SOUTHERN OREGON SALES INC. PLANT NEAR COMPLETION

The processing and storage plant of the Southern Oregon Sales, Inc., at Stewart avenue and Pacific Highway, built at a cost of $25,000, will be completed Thursday, Leonard Carpenter said today, and will be ready for the receipt of fruit next week.

The plant, one of the most modern and complete of its kind in the Pacific northwest, was started March 1. It has a large and intricate system of refrigeration and ventilation and the work of installation was delayed by slow delivery of parts and machinery.

The Southern Oregon Sales, Inc., will hold open houses to the shippers, grocers, and general public of the valley, within the week, full details of which will be announced shortly.
