Ashtand Art School Doing Fine Work

Under the instruction of the four splendid teachers, Miss Belle Cady White, director, Miss Margaret Hansen, W. Ray Fenton and Stanley G. Brenneiser, the School of Art in Ashtand is progressing.

A new pupil, Mrs. Dalton Cox of Medford, entered the first of the week. Mrs. Cox will be able to complete one course in arts and crafts during the remainder of the term.

The landscape in oil class are really doing some very creditable studies from Oregon scenery under the supervision of Miss Belle Cady White.

The crafts and design classes, under Mr. Fenton, are already completing some handsome pieces.

Stanley G. Brenneiser has the largest classes in pictorial and commercial art and the students are getting real pleasure out of the work.

Quite a number of the students, Miss White and Miss Hansen, spent the last week end at Crescent City and the Oregon Caves, going as far south on the Roosevelt highway as Eureka, Cal.

Real work will be done the coming week finishing up all problems and at the end of the week, Saturday afternoon and evening, August tenth, an exhibit will be held at the Civic club in Ashtand. Everyone should come to this exhibit, both afternoon and evening.

He expects to continue his tour tomorrow, circling the west and then to the east coast.

OPEN AIR COOKING SCHOOL AT MEDFORD AUGUST 13-16

The ladies of Medford and south-east Oregon are to have a rare treat for four afternoons of next week, beginning Tuesday, August 13th, in the way of out-of-door free cooking lessons. This will be the first series of lessons in modern cooking we know of to be held out in the open and will be under the trees in the main square, just across the Bear creek bridge. Arrangements are being made to make these afternoons not only profitable but comfortable and delightful.

These lessons will be given by the Southern Oregon Gas Corporation and the Mail Tribune and will be absolutely free.

Miss Victoria Warner, of the home service bureau of the Thompson Store Company, of Mansfield, Ohio, who conducted the lessons last year and who delighted the ladies so well with her charming personality and thorough knowledge of the art of cooking, will be in charge again this year.

Miss Warner is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and a nationally recognized dietitian and home economics expert. She will have an interest in every woman who attends and will offer recipes and original suggestions that will revive the interest of every member of the family in the every-day home bill of fare.

These classes are open to every woman of Medford and the Rogue River valley, whether she is cooking in tiny kitchenette or managing the diet for a large family. They are to be quite informal and are to be featured with daily informal pictures.

Dr. Eva Maine Carlow told of new churches visited in the different cities. We are glad we have new churches in Medford. She also told of visiting the oldest or one of the oldest churches in the United States, St. Louis Cathedral in New Orleans. The stained glass windows and the paintings were all brought from France.
