

KITCHEN MAGIC TO BE EXPLAINED BY FOOD EXPERT

KATHERINE CORUM BRIDE OF DONALD LONG OF TALENT

"Yellowed mashed potatoes in a mound, with tips all nicely browned!"

Sound like a bit of delicious magic, doesn't it? Let the way to brown the tips of those potatoes, together with other amazing things that you have never heard of, will be told you quite casually and confidently next week when Miss Warner, through the courtesy of the Southern Oregon Gas corporation, and the Mail Tribune, conducts a cooking course.

To Miss Warner cooking isn't merely a part of every day's task. To her it is an art which she has studied and with which she has experimented until ordinary foods appear under her talented fingers in almost unrecognizable shapes and ways, and women wonder why they had never thought of those things.

Miss Warner will show you how to prepare everything for the family dinner or luncheon from the bread to the dessert, and will show you in such a way that it will not be out of reach either of your purse or your time table. In fact, according to information available concerning Miss Warner, she believes very decidedly in saving as many steps as possible, in eliminating as much work as is practicable and in using as few utensils as is consistent with good cooking.

The first class who will conduct will be on next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the children's playgrounds. Arrange to attend.

THIRD CROP OF ALFALFA READY AT TABLE ROCK

TABLE ROCK, Aug. 9.—(Special)—The third crop of alfalfa is growing rapidly here and from present indications will be ready to put up by the middle of next week.

The quality of hay is extra good, being of fine straw and free from weeds or pest of any kind. As there is no alfalfa weevil in this section, hay growers should use every precaution to keep it out. In order to do this wagons or trucks which have been working in the infested part of the valley should not be permitted to load hay here without going through some form of thorough inspection.

Good food promotes good health
A little sugar is so helpful in making the healthful foods delicious

HEALTH is an indispensable feature in the efficient life of this busy world. If most of us who were born healthy would eat and exercise properly from earliest childhood through adulthood, most of us would be strong, healthy and happy. Good foods, varied foods, balanced foods, are becoming more and more important in the art of keeping well. Nearly everyone knows that a balanced diet of milk foods, cereals, fruits, vegetables and meats are needed for health. But taste enters there and makes it hard for a great many people to enjoy the things they should eat. That is why sugar is being acclaimed as the world's greatest blessing when it comes to making a varied diet palatable and enjoyable. If people like the proper foods, they are almost sure to eat them. A group of women cooking experts, working in a kitchen high up in a New York skyscraper, recently rediscovered an old secret that a dash of sugar added to vegetables while they are cooking develops their flavors, improves their colors, and makes them fresher and better to the taste. Sprinkle sugar over cereals and watch how much more the children enjoy them. Use sweetened milk desserts and notice how much easier it is to get the members of your family to eat the amount of milk they should each day. Use fresh fruit salads with a sprinkling of sugar and slightly sweetened stewed fruits for health and enjoyment. Remember a few cookies or cakes and ice cream for topping off the meal. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

Snowdrift
A new package... that is as fresh and attractive as Snowdrift itself
You will recognize the new blue and white can on your grocer's shelf as Snowdrift, even before you read the label. The design is so clean and inviting and fresh—so simple and modern. For all the world like Snowdrift itself. You'll be pleased when you learn of the convenience of the large cans—the new three and six pound sizes. Just about as wide as they are tall and as easy to spoon from as from your own mixing bowl. These new sizes add to the convenience of Snowdrift itself. And convenience, you know, is just another word for Snowdrift's creaminess. A creamy texture so smooth and so spoonable that you never have to work it into sugar or flour—just put them together and mix with a few stirs of the spoon. Maybe that's why Snowdrift cakes and biscuits and pie crust have such an unusually fine texture, and why food fried in Snowdrift is so deliciously good to eat.
