

Need a woman's hands say — "I have no maid"?

305 leading beauty shops answer:

"With all our experience, we are unable to distinguish between the hands of a woman who never washes dishes and those of a housewife who uses Lux in the dishpan."

JUST IMAGINE—here is beauty care right in your dishpan—the wisest, most inexpensive beauty care known!

Every time you wash dishes in Lux your hands receive the soothing, gentle care that keeps them white and soft—and it costs almost nothing! Lux for all your dishes costs less than 1¢ a day!

Compare this with the expensive care many women of leisure give their hands. Have hands just as lovely—at almost no cost!

The secret is this: the gentle Lux suds protect the delicate oils of the skin, while ordinary soaps dry these beauty oils. That is why Lux gives your hands beauty care—right in the dishpan!

And remember—Lux for dishes means lovely hands for less than 1¢ a day.

SEEK AUTO RENTED BY DRY AGENT

Car Sought As Clue To Slayers Reynolds—Told Garage Was Going For "Little Swim"—Brief Case With Evidence On Crime Ring Missing—Sleuths Fly To Scene.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 13.—(AP) An intensive search was being staged by federal officers today for the automobile in which Paul E. Reynolds, 31, special agent of the department of justice, was last seen alive five days ago, in an effort to find a clue concerning his slaying.

Reynolds' body was found floating in an irrigation canal several miles north of here yesterday, a bullet wound in his heart. Friends said the special agent, who had headquarters at El Paso, Tex., had signified his intention of going to Albuquerque, N. M., late Friday night.

At an automobile agency where he rented the car, Reynolds had said he was going for a "little swim," and that he "would return in a few hours." The management of the concern said they had given his delayed absence no thought, since he often rented machines and kept them for several days.

Authorities here said they were unable to throw any light on Reynolds' slaying as the case he was working on at the time of his disappearance was not considered to be of a dangerous nature. It was pointed out, however, that he had been instrumental in apprehending narcotic smugglers along the border recently.

Some significance was placed by the fact that a brief case, which was believed to have contained valuable evidence concerning a large liquor and narcotic smuggling ring he suspected was operating at the Mexican boundary was also reported missing, along with a pistol he was known to have carried.

Reynolds, who was a graduate of Idaho university, practiced law in Boise several years. His widow and a child three years of age survive.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Two agents of the department of justice today were en route by airplane from Washington to Phoenix, Ariz., to investigate the death of Paul E. Reynolds, department of justice special agent, whose body was found yesterday near Phoenix.

The agents, J. N. Keith, general inspector of the justice department's bureau of investigation, and S. W. Hardy, special agent, left here last night and expected to arrive in Phoenix some time today.
