REV. HUTCHINSON, KIWANIS SPEAKER, LAUDS TED BAKER

Rev. Robert A. Hutchinson, pastor of the Northminster Presbyterian church of Portland, was a guest of the Kiwanis club this noon at the Hotel Medford, and gave a very interesting talk, entitled "Honor." Rev. Hutchinson said that "Honor River ain't what it used to be, since Ted Baker came to Medford." He also said that he thought Mr. Baker had contributed more to that community than any other person in the last ten years.

Reverend finding it necessary to learn the three R's when attending school, Mr. Hutchinson said that he had found it necessary for three R's to be added to the list. The three R's stand for vision, volition, and venture. "Someone had to have a vision before the Medford municipal airport was voted on, and before the water system was established here," he further stated.

Dreamers are scorned and sneered at by the majority of people, but it is they who accomplish the most. "A dreamer is necessary to every community if it is to progress," said Rev. Hutchinson.

The be and do of life are determined by the amount of volition, or will, he said, because "there is nothing good but good will, and nothing bad but bad will."

Plans were also made for the Kiwanis caravan to advertise the picnic at the Ellis picnic grounds on Labor Day.
