

FIFTEEN PERISH IN COLLISION OF VESSEL AND TUG

Spanish Steamer Rammed in North Sea, Sinks in Six Minutes — No Time to Launch Boats — Captain and Officers Lost.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—(AP) Fifteen members of the crew of the Spanish steamer Ogozo were drowned yesterday when their boat was rammed and sunk by the British tug King's Cross in the North sea 30 miles off Humber. The King's Cross, badly damaged, picked up the remaining members of the crew.

The Ogozo was struck amidships and sank in six minutes, the crew of 25 having no time to launch its boats. The King's Cross after it went down picked up eight members of the crew who clung to the lifeboat and two others struggling in the water.

The drowned included the ship's captain and all officers with the exception of Second Mate Uvalde. Second Mate Uvalde said he was on the bridge with Captain Sandina at 8 p. m. when he saw the lights of a ship approaching and heard short blasts from the siren.

Almost immediately the collision occurred, the Ogozo taking a big list and rapidly sinking. They went with others to try to launch the starboard lifeboat but the effort was hopeless. He and others gathered about one of the Ogozo's upturned lifeboats and clung to it until rescued.

"I saw the captain diving into the sea but that was the last I saw or heard of him," said the mate. "The scene was terrible. Men were shouting and screaming and I shouted to them until I became almost too hoarse to whisper."

"I and four more of our crew clung for about an hour to the upturned keel of one of our boats before the King's Cross rescued us. I saw the chief engineer and the chief mate clinging to a piece of wood. They drifted away and were lost. Steward Juan Landa had a wonderful escape. A wave carried him to the mast. When he was picked up about two hours later only a foot or two of the mast was showing above the water."

"Our limbs were absolutely frozen and we were terribly exhausted when picked up."

Captain G. Anderson of the King's Cross said he was asleep at the time of the collision and the force of the impact threw him to the floor of his bunk. "Mate Gardner was on the bridge," he said. "And he told me he did not see the Ogozo until he was right on top of her. It was then impossible to avoid collision."

STUBBORN FIRES AIDED BY WINDS, DRY CONDITIONS

SEATTLE, Aug. 19.—(AP) Stubborn forest fires in eastern Washington, Idaho and Montana, aided by high winds and dry weather, continued to claim the services of almost 10,000 men today, although fires in the Puget Sound region were being quenched by rain which started falling early yesterday.

The Chelan national forest in central Washington, scene of desperate fire fighting during the past week, blazed with renewed energy despite a light rain.

A 35-mile an hour gale was blowing a huge fire north over Graves Mountain toward Dead Man Creek basin near Kettle Falls in northeastern Washington. Fifty men were sent to fight the Sherman creek fire, which has burned over between 45,000 and 50,000 acres. The blaze started at Dollar mountain.

Forest fires in Siskiyou county, northern California, were quenched after an inland over 400 acres in the Shasta national forest.

FINKE INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 19.—(AP) Fourteen true bills returned by the Multnomah county grand jury today included indictments against Walter J. Finke, Jr., charged with slaying Herbert Deem in the Jefferson high school; Charles R. LaFollette, state representative from Washington county; and Hamilton P. Ewen, driver of the automobile in which Grover W. Reed, Oregon state representative, was killed.

LaFollette was indicted on a charge of non-support, growing out of the complaint of his estranged wife, and her four minor children. Finke is charged with first degree murder.

Archie Eaton, who is alleged to have flourished a bottle containing what he claimed was a high explosive and robbed one place and tried another, was indicted on a charge of robbery by putting in fear.

JURY TO PROBE DEATH OF DRINK CRAZED FATHER

Twelve-Year-Old Son Says Patricide Due to Attack On Mother—Grandmother Witness of Shooting Corroborates.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 19.—(AP) The fatal shooting of Frank R. Howard, wealthy automobile distributor, by his 12-year-old son Richard, with a .22-caliber rifle, was ordered to be investigated by a coroner's jury late today. The shooting was described as having been done by the boy in a family quarrel, says being shocked and hoarse by her drink-crazed husband.

District Attorney Byron Ellis, who made a personal investigation of the tragedy, termed the shooting an "apparently justifiable homicide." The boy, while looking on a technical charge of second degree murder, was allowed to remain in his home. He and his mother were in a state of collapse, with only physicians and close friends being permitted to visit them.

Richard and his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Richter, who witnessed the shooting late Saturday, will be the principal witnesses. The latter, who is Mrs. Howard's mother, corroborated the boy's story in describing the shooting to the police. Both were first attracted to the scene of the attack by Mrs. Howard's screams, and both declared that Howard held his wife by the throat with one hand while he struck her face with the other. The boy stated that, fearing his mother would be killed, he determined to aid her, and the gun was his first thought.

Howard died while en route to the police emergency hospital in the ambulance. The boy told the police that his father took several drinks when he came to the house, and began crying his mother in law for "making too much." The crying, Richard said, soon was directed at Mrs. Howard, culminating in the attack upon her and the shooting.

HOME REPUBLICAN LEADER WRECKED BY HEAVY BLAST

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(AP) A powerful bomb was exploded early today under the front porch of the home of T. King, county Republican leader and sanitary district trustee. The bomb wrecked the front of the house and threw King and his five children from their beds. None was injured.

It was the second time in eight months that King's home had been the target of bombers. Another bomb wrought considerable damage here last December at his home in Chicago. Today's bombing was in Justice park, a suburb on the southwest side, where the politician and his family are spending the summer.

King, who was one of 15 persons indicted last winter for alleged graft in the affairs of the Chicago sanitary district, told police this morning that he knew of no reason why the bomb was thrown at his home. He declared he would demand police protection from State's Attorney John A. Swanson.

SCHNEIDER CUP PLANE WILL LEAVE THIS WEEK

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 19.—(AP) Decision to send the Mercury racer, Lieutenant Alfred S. Williams, to compete in the Schneider cup races without any further tests here was announced at the naval academy today.

When Lieutenant Williams, navy speed flyer, started the Mercury racer off the water in tests yesterday, a slightly bent propeller was discovered. The propeller was sent to the Annapolis naval station and straightened and was back on the plane this morning, but because of unfavorable weather, Williams said he would not resume the tests today.

LLOYDMINISTER HIT BY MORNING BLAZE

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 19.—(AP) A fire that destroyed 26 buildings at Lloydminster this morning and caused $500,000 in total damage was extinguished about 11 a. m. according to a telephone message received here.

Tire Manufacturer's Wife Travels by Air

Mrs. W. O'Neil, of Akron, is shown with her husband, president of the General Tire and Rubber Company, in the center of the group in the above picture, just after she had completed a cross-country flight with Mr. O'Neil from their home in Akron to Pittsburgh, where Mr. O'Neil had been called on business. With them are Lieut. Sheldon B. Yoder, one of former army fliers who are piloting the eight Aristocrat cabin monoplane in the "Sky Fleet" of the General Tire and Rubber Company in a nation-wide tour in the interest of developing commercial aviation. James Campbell, Pittsburgh distributor for the General Tire Company, is at the left.

G. O. P. Gesture to C. H. Huston Cheers Southern Wing of Party

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—(AP) Consideration of a southern man for chairmanship of the Republican national committee has given new hope to some southern party leaders of an early adjustment of the tangled Republican situation in several southern states. When the Republican national committee meets in Washington, September 9, Claudius H. Huston of Chattanooga, banker, educator, business man and long-time friend of President Hoover, is expected to be named chairman. From his point of vantage in this border-line political state Mr. Huston has been able to give party leaders excellent counsel, and his influence has been felt in national party affairs over a considerable period of time. Since his election to the party chairmanship another expression of the party's interest in and gratitude for the southern vote.

His knowledge of southern affairs, his understanding of the southern situation and his interest in party affairs, it is felt here, would make him a valuable man to the party in its efforts to effect better organization in the south. Mr. Huston was active in behalf of Hoover in the pre-convention campaign as well as in the election campaign. The Tennessee leader served two years under Secretary Hoover as assistant secretary of commerce at the beginning of Mr. Hoover's administration in the commerce department.

The Tennessee was a leader in state party affairs in 1926 when the state went for Warren G. Harding. When Mr. Hoover was campaigning for the presidency, he chose Elizabethton, in the industrial section of Tennessee, for his only southern campaign speech. The prospective party chairmanship was born in Harrison county, Indiana, February 15, 1876, the son of the Rev. Columbus DeWitt Huston a Presbyterian minister who formerly lived in Pennsylvania. His mother was the former Margaret Knepp, of North Carolina.

After attending the university at Valparaiso, Ind., Huston taught school at Chattanooga. Later he was chairman of the executive committee of the University of Chattanooga. Leaving the educational field for business, he engaged in manufacturing and banking in Chattanooga. His keen ability as a business man and his hearty interest in party affairs attracted attention of Mr. Hoover, resulting in the department of commerce appointment, which Huston resigned to reorganize the Trans-Continental oil company. He was made chairman of the oil company's board since then he has been active in many lines.

Mr. Huston is a widower and has four daughters, Eleanor, Katharine, Alice and Mildred. He maintains a residence in Chattanooga and has a home at 277 Park avenue, New York.

News Notes of Pomona and Subordinate Grange Chapters Given by Official Reporters

If one of us would have better luck. We all would better fare. 'Twas then we learned the lesson That we united stand; That if we fell, 'twould be because Of a divided hand.

And now we all are farmers. And as a group we're working soil. Buying and selling through co-op. To fill our money till. When boys we learned the lesson That cooperation paid. And if we failed in that, why then Nothing more need be said.

DECLARATION OF PURPOSES (Extracts from the Grange) "We acknowledge the broad principle that difference of opinion is no time and hold that 'progress toward truth is made by differences of opinion, while the fault lies in the bitterness of controversy.' "We shall endeavor to advance our cause by laboring to accomplish the following objects: "To develop a higher and better manhood and womanhood among ourselves. To enhance the comforts and attractions of our homes and strengthen our attachments to our parents. To foster mutual understanding and co-operation. "We propose meeting together, talking together, working together, buying together, selling together, and in general, acting together for our mutual protection and advancement, as occasion may require. "For our business interests we desire to bring producers and consumers, farmers and manufacturers into the most direct and friendly relations possible. Hence, we must dispense with a surplus of middlemen, not that we are unfriendly to them, but we do not need them. Their surpluses and their exactions diminish our profits. "We wage no aggressive warfare against any other interests whatsoever. On the contrary, all our acts and all our efforts, so far as business is concerned, are not only for the benefit of the producer, any consumer, but also for all other interests that tend to bring these two parties into speedy and economical contact. "Keeping in view the first sentence in our Declaration of Principles of Action, that 'individual happiness depends upon general prosperity.'"

GRANGE CALENDAR (For this week.) Live Oaks, Monday, August 19, 8 p. m. Eagle Point, Tuesday, August 20, 7:30 p. m. Lake Creek, Thursday, August 22, 8 p. m. Jacksonville, Friday, August 23, 8 p. m.

GRANGE MOTTO In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things, charity.

DUTY The sweetest lives are those to duty owed. Whose deeds, both great and small, May close knit strands of an unbroken thread. Whose love enables all.

CO-OPERATION When we touch all were young. When we were boys at school: We'd play and fight together. Which was against the rule. We studied hard when teacher looked at us hard and glum. For we never did approve Of boys having some fun.

GRANGE FIRE INSURANCE (By R. E. Neale) One branch of grange work put into this valley are fast work fire up to the protection from fire loss offered to grangers by the Grange Relief Fire Association of the State of Oregon. Although this association has been in operation in the state since August 14, 1926, with an enviable record for paying its losses, its largest gain was made during 1928 when insurance in force increased nearly three and one-half million dollars and, from present indications, 1929 will equal or surpass this record. Inuring only the property of grangers and being operated on a nonprofit basis, the saving to the policy holders is well worth while, in many cases paying grange dues for an entire family. Those who have had fires in this valley report that there is no hickering or red tape over settlement of losses, but in some cases the association was ready to pay before the claim was sent in. Aside from the satisfaction of knowing that they are participating in their own company and keeping their money in Oregon, patrons are finding it more convenient in having their policies written and in making payments, as each grange has an agent to care for this work.

WALKER SLATED LEAD KIWANIANS

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 19.—(AP) Charles H. Walker, of Portland, president of the Northwest School of Commerce, is considered the likely choice of the 12th annual convention of the Pacific northwest district of Kiwanis International, in session here Sunday. Monday and Tuesday, as the next district governor.

Walker was nominated for the governorship at Aberdeen last year but he withdrew in favor of the present governor, T. Harry Gowman of Seattle. Walker, according to general convention sentiment, will have practically no opposition for the office.

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 19.—(AP) One of the most interesting competitive events of the convention of Kiwanis International will be staged at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning when representatives of eight of the divisions of the district will give five minute talks on Kiwanis topics. The best talker will be presented with a silver cup.

The Pomona Grange realizes that when a cooperative buying and selling organization must borrow the money with which they do business, the overhead is necessarily much higher than when financed by an ample amount of paid up stock held by members of the exchange, and that this overhead must be added to the buying and selling price.

The Pomona Grange realizes that cooperative buying and selling is absolutely necessary to insure a farm profit. The Pomona Grange realizes that only about one-third of the farmers of Jackson county buy and sell cooperatively and that if all the farmers of the county would buy and sell cooperatively the profits derived from such buying and selling would be greatly increased.

The Pomona Grange believes that every farmer in Jackson county should own a few shares of stock in our cooperative organization. Every subordinate grange will handle the sale of such stock through its marketing committee chairman. Ask him.

The Pomona Grange is at present investigating the feasibility of establishing an "all day and six days a week" public market, under the management of the Farmers' Exchange Co-operative, to sell produce both retail and wholesale. Such a market would greatly benefit Jackson county in that many small tracts of land would be sold and truck growers would be assured a comfortable living thereon. In this way much unused land would be put to better use, and so many can always be attracted where a comfortable living can be assured.

Pomona Grange is ready and anxious to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce or any other organization seeking to promote a more healthy agricultural condition in the county.

EAGLE POINT GRANGE Eagle Point Grange will hold a hall warming community night on Tuesday, August 20, at 7:30 p. m. A covered dish supper will be served at 7:30 to which all are invited. Bring a covered dish or two and sit down with us to a real community spread.

No rural organization knows how to have a good time as does a grange, and a grange good time is never purely local, for all grangers are always welcome at any other grange, and few grange meetings are held without visitors present. There may be some program during supper, but a good program has been prepared which will be given immediately after supper. There will be dancing afterward for those who wish to enjoy it. Good music has been secured.

This is an open meeting and all are welcome, whether grangers or not. Come along and enjoy with us our first meeting in our new hall, which has been built at a great sacrifice on the part of our members and with the assistance of many outside friends.

IL W. Ward and Mrs. Violet Swincer, soliciting committee, were soliciting funds for the new grange hall for two days last week and met with such splendid success that many good friends the grange has. The millenium cannot be far off when city and county get together, each working for the common good of all. That is the true grange spirit.

A list of those outside friends contributing to the grand hall fund will be published at an early date. There will be no charge for the above mentioned entertainment or supper. Your passport will be a smiling countenance and a friendly spirit of good will for the grange and for its work. Do you have the passport? Then come.

MANCHESTER, Eng., Aug. 19.—Lancashire went to work today after three weeks of paralysis of the cotton industry. The drone of machinery as 200,000 mill hands resumed their tasks, and smoke pouring from tall chimneys all through the factory towns proclaimed the end of the stoppage that cost workers and employers many millions of pounds.

Only the card rooms where workers are to return tomorrow, were silent. The wage dispute which caused the stoppage, is in the hands of a board of arbitration whose deliberations begin Wednesday. Meanwhile, workers will be paid the old scale of wages until a settlement is reached. A proposed reduction of the present scale by 12 1/2 per cent caused the cotton workers to quit three weeks ago.

Baker Hotel Damaged. BAKER, Ore., Aug. 19.—(AP) Fire starting from the explosion of a far pot used by workmen laying hardwood floors in the club dining room of Hotel Baker, under construction, threatened a $200,000 damage to the new hotel yesterday afternoon, but was extinguished by firemen who threw sand on the blaze.

ILLIHEE RANCH DEAL LARGEST OF YEAR HERE

The amount involved in the transfer of the Illihee Orchard property, in the Coker Butte district, is authoritatively reported to be in the neighborhood of $125,000. It is owned by Harry E. Lester of Los Angeles and the other land in the deal are L. A. Banks, local fruit grower and shipper, and F. C. Carr, realtor.

The transaction is based upon a lease with option to buy, and negotiations to this end were completed between all parties concerned about three weeks ago. Details of the deal have been generally known for the last ten days.

A telegram Saturday from Lester, who was called to Los Angeles by the death of a relative, said that the Illihee deal had been closed. He is expected to return to this city this week, when papers giving Banks and Carr formal possession are due to be signed.

The proposition includes this season's crop. The Illihee comprises 100 acres, 93 in bearing. The sale, if and when consummated, will be the largest of the year, in this section, at the $125,000 figure, exceeding the $112,000 paid by J. E. Edmiston and Weldon Liddle for the Three Oak orchard.

Just in Time. SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 19.—(AP) Fire which burned over 50 acres in the Mountain View city dump was extinguished within a few yards of a building housing 5000 pounds of dynamite and powder.
