FLORIDA RECOVERING FROM BAD EFFECT OF MEDITERRANEAN FLY

Florida will soon recover from the evil effects of the Mediterranean fruit fly, in the opinion of V. E. Chenna of Miami, who left Portland last night after a short vacation for Panama, where he will resume his duties in the traffic department of the Pan-American Airways. Mr. Chenna was in the stock and bond business in Portland several years. He went to Florida six years ago. "I have talked with fruit growers and hotel men in Florida within two weeks and they tell me that the country is fast recovering," he said.

"The federal government is making progress in its fight on the fly and fruit growers believe they will be rid of the pest within a year. The public in Florida has become alarmed. The character of the people has much to do with the excitement. They went into the country and were nearly wiped out when the boom broke three years ago and were just beginning to get on their feet again when the fruit fly appeared. The ruin on the banks down there is a good thing for the country. It will wipe out the weak banks, which should be closed, and make the strong banks stronger. Miami is beginning to build again, but building is slow in the smaller towns on the east coast. Jacksonville has never ceased building and is going forward very fast."—Gregoriary

CRIPPLED YOUTH RECEIVES THRILL ON 9TH BIRTHDAY

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 20.—(Sp.)—The thrill that comes once in a lifetime was enjoyed today by Marshall Newton, son of Walter H. Newton of Minneapolis, secretary to President Hoover.

Mrs. Hoover made the thrill possible for Marshall on his ninth birthday, as he lay on a cot at a hospital here, recovering from amputation of a leg crushed in an accident recently.

A large package bearing the official mark of the White House at Washington was brought to Marshall by a nurse. Opened, the box revealed a big piece of cake, a strange looking board with some peas stuck in a design formed by holes, and a letter.

The letter was a personal note from Mrs. Hoover, and explained that the piece of cake was from President Hoover's birthday and the board and peas were a puzzle which kept Col. Charles Lindbergh guessing for most of an afternoon.

RUMANIAN BLAST DESTROYS FORT

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 20.—(Sp.)—Seven carloads of powder and 3,000 shells stored in old Fort Domestul, 12 miles outside of Bucharest, blew up last night. The cause of the explosion could not be immediately learned by investigators from the war department.

First reports said that at least 18 soldiers had been killed and 19 wounded and that the presence of a large number of workmen in the building would probably swell the casualty list.

The minister of war subsequently denied, however, that there had been any casualties, and described the material damage as limited to destruction of a few railway cars and a magazine.

The populace of the region was panic-stricken by the sound of the explosion.

Jungle Animals at Rialto Today

"Simba," the motion picture record made by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, the famous explorers, during four years in the jungles of Africa, is at the Rialto theatre.

Marching across the screen come antelopes, giraffes, zebras, rhinos, hippopotamuses, herds of elephants, leopards—all the denizens of the jungle, just as they are at home. And they are photographed with a clarity and against such wondrously beautiful backgrounds that the value of the film is wondrously enhanced.

Among the outstanding features of the picture are the charge of the infuriated rhino straight at Osa Johnson, who is forced to shoot him to save her own life, the stampede of a herd of elephants, the swarms of ugly crocodiles, the gorgeous shots of running giraffes, and speeding antelopes and zebras; photos of lions and leopards and above all, the scene which shows fourteen lions, playing in a grassy glade like a lot of big cats.

One sees Osa Johnson shoot a charging lion that falls within twenty feet of her. But really the great kick is when "Simba"—that is the native word for lion—makes himself a subsane by killing off the heads of the antelope, and the blacks, with only their spears, turn the robber into a pincushion, judging his charges and hurling their spears until he falls dead.

McMinnville.—Building work here sets fast pace.
