

BUSINESS WOMEN FOR CUTOFF ROAD WILLIAMS VALLEY

A resolution favoring the completion of the proposed Williams Creek cutoff was unanimously passed at a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at the Hotel Medford last night. The vote on the resolution followed a spirited discussion of the conditions for and against the project.

An outline of lively programs for the remainder of the year was tentatively drawn and Mrs. R. C. Mulholland was selected as official song leader for the organization. Although not eligible to membership, Mrs. Mulholland will attend all meetings as an honorary member and conduct the singing, which will enliven every gathering from now on.

Mrs. Frances Carlin was appointed chairman of the committee in charge of amending the by-laws of the organization and Mrs. W. A. Walters was elected to the office of director left vacant by Miss Mildred Knight, who recently resigned due to pressure of office work. Mrs. Minnie Weisharr gave an interesting report on the survey now being taken in regard to early closing. Not yet completed, the survey will be continued until a representative census of downtown business concerns has been taken.

More Aid to Cotton
WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The federal farm board announced today it had arranged for additional loans to cotton cooperative marketing associations in the south, whereby the unharvested cotton can receive a supplemental loan of ten per cent above the amount loaned by the intermediate credit banks.

CUPID BUSY AMONG SAMS VALLEY YOUNG

SAMS VALLEY, Ore., Sept. 6.—(Special)—News of the recent marriage of Miss Georgiana Gustafson of Medford completely surprised her young friends and acquaintances of this community. Miss Gustafson was formerly a student of the Sams Valley high school.

Another wedding which was recently reported to us and concerns one of our former boys, was that of Olney Edington, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Edington, in California last week.

We do not believe there was ever a year in the history of our community when cupid has been as busy among our young people as he has been within the past year, in which time he has to his credit the marriage of seventeen of our young people.

ENROLLMENT AT HIGH SCHOOL TO REACH 750 MARK

The total enrollment of students at the local high school this morning was 745 students, with the increase by Monday morning estimated to reach 750. A large number of students who have been working in packing houses and at other positions throughout the summer months will continue on through until tomorrow night, according to Ralph Bailey, publicity director at the local high school.

Due to overflow registration in a number of classes, it has been made necessary to organize new courses. History, French and the sciences have experienced an exceptionally large enrollment. In the two former, considerable readjusting has been accomplished, but in the latter a difficult problem arises due to the limited laboratory equipment on hand, it is said.

THOMPSON CLASS OF AGRICULTURE AT HIGH SCHOOL

A part time school of agriculture, the classes to be given in the afternoons at the Medford high school, will be opened December 1 by C. Thompson, local instructor, according to an announcement this morning.

Free of tuition the school will be for the benefit of boys between the ages of 17 and 25 who are interested in agriculture. No previous high school training is required. Beginning at a time of year when farm work is generally slack, the course, it is thought, will meet with a hearty response throughout Rogue River valley.

A night school for adults in the same subject will be started by the instructor January 1, according to present plans.

Beginning his tenth year with the local high school, where he is retained on the Smith-Hughes plan jointly by the state and federal government and the school district, Mr. Thompson conducts two regular morning classes at the high school, dealing with farm problems. A constant demand for further instruction in the subject, arranged to accommodate those vitally interested in farm problems who cannot take the regular high school course, prompted the decision to organize the part-time afternoon and night schools.

MISS ARNOLD TO SUPERVISE MUSIC

Replacing Miss Esther Church, former instructor and supervisor of music at the local high and elementary schools of Medford, Miss Margaret Arnold, graduate of the school of music at the Willamette university, entered upon her new duties this week. Her work at the high school will consist of conducting the boys' and girls' glee club classes, membership to each of which will be determined by tryouts.

In addition to this she will organize a class in harmony, a subject not heretofore included in the regular local curriculum. This course will present the technical side of music as well as music appreciation.

Miss Church has been appointed new supervisor of music at the Southern Oregon normal, to replace Miss Lenna Marsters, who recently accepted a teaching position at Columbia university.

BROADCAST NEED HELP IN PICKING

The Federal Labor Bureau branch in Medford and the chamber of commerce have sent wires to cities in Oregon and California stating that owing to the opening of the late pear picking season and the shortage of pickers in this locality it is imperative that they assist in helping save the Rogue River pear crop by sending pickers to the chamber of commerce at Medford.
