

AUGUST HEAT MODERATE THO CLOUDS ABSENT

According to the monthly meteorological survey for August, prepared by W. J. Hutchinson, meteorologist in charge of the Medford weather station, the mean temperature for that month was 78.4, which is slightly lower than the average annual temperature for the month of August. Although the mean maximum temperature was 92.9 and would indicate moderately warm weather for the month, there were no pronounced periods of extreme high temperatures.

The highest temperature occurred on the 19th when the mercury climbed to 92. This was the only day on which the temperature exceeded 90. The lowest temperature for the month was 42, occurring on the 27th, and was about a normal minimum temperature for August.

No precipitation fell during the month and there was a resulting deficiency of 0.24 inch. This amount brings the total shortage for the rainfall season, September 1 to August 31, to 2.45 inches. The total seasonal rainfall was 12.59 inches. However, the deficiency has caused no apparent serious dryness to date and crops seem to be maturing at a normal rate. Unirrigated pastures and ranges are in need of moisture.

The prevailing wind direction for the month was northwest with a total wind movement of 5539 miles. The average monthly velocity was 4.5 miles with a maximum velocity of 19 miles per hour from the northwest on the second.

The usual clear weather for the month of August prevailed. There were 28 clear days, 3 part cloudy and no cloudy days.

The August summary, by days, is as follows:

Truth in Milk

The American public does not consume more than about one-half of the fluid whole milk available to the highest degree of health and honesty.

It is thus readily apparent how important a place the product of the cow, which we call milk, has in the feeding of the nation, and how necessary its food product becomes in the proper development and nourishment of the human body.

In real helpfulness to the consumer and producer let us all become thoroughly interested and informed with the thought of "Purity in Milk," and having this confidence established, what can be more wholesome and satisfying than a nice cold bottle of this greatest of all foods, which also combines a most refreshing drink?

Take sufficient interest in the source of supply of the milk you get to go and see the place and premises where it is made, and how it is handled. The producer should welcome you, his customer, and he will try to please you.

Remember the old adage: "Cleanliness is next to godliness." We can't get too much of either.

CHARLES W. AUSTIN.

PACKING PLANTS ON 12-HOUR RUN START OF WEEK

Packing plants of the Rogue River valley will go on a 12-hour basis next week, to handle the peak of the pear crop. Night shifts will be maintained by most of the orchards.

A flood of boxes and crates will start Monday and continue for 60 or 70 days. By the middle of next week, packing will be general for these two varieties, pressure work shown. The two fruit trains a day schedule of the Southern Pacific railroad from this district will then be in full force and effect.

Several smaller D'Angelo orchards started packing today. Shipments of Bartlett pears to canneries, upstate and in California, will reach its crest next week.

RIFLE CLUB WILL PRACTICE SUNDAY

The Medford National Rifle Club will hold the regular weekly rifle practice at the rifle range near Medford beginning at 7:25 a. m. Sunday morning and a good turnout is expected.

Several members have been out to the range the past few evenings targeting their rifles for the coming hunting season.

Ammunition will be furnished by the club for use on the rifle range using either the .30 caliber Winchester or Remington-Union. Also arrangements can be made for the purchase of ammunition from the government, through the club at reduced prices.

Game Officer S. C. Richmond will be in charge of the rifle range next Sunday morning, and further information may be had from him at the time, or by communication with any of the club officers at any time.

WEST WIND USES Red Crown Gas, Zeroline Oil

The giant tri-motored Ford airplane "West Wind" in charge of "Nick" Mamer and crew that will visit our city tomorrow and Sunday, uses the internationally famous Red Crown aviation gasoline and Zeroline aircraft oil—better known as "the ace of lubricants," both Standard Oil products.

The "West Wind" will remain here Saturday and Sunday, under the auspices of the C. E. Gates Auto Co., local Ford dealer, and will take passengers for flights over the city and valley.

Ensure the government against damage claims.

Temporary legislation to require bonds was passed in an appropriation bill in 1921, the department said. It added that high premiums were charged for such protection and during the whole time that the legislation was in effect there were no accidents.

Fire Was Costly

SPOKANE, Sept. 6.—(AP) Forest fires in north Idaho and western Montana destroyed merchandise and reproduction timber worth approximately $2,000,000 this season, the U. S. Forestry office estimated today.

'The Whip' Coming to the Rialto

A neatly-wrought melodramatic plot, and a well-chosen cast, and all the thrills which made the old-time play famous, combine to make "The Whip" one of the most entertaining of the seasons' offerings.

It opens its local engagement tomorrow at the Rialto theater.

Based on the old Drury Lane melodrama first produced almost a century ago, "The Whip" is brought up to date in settings and dress and its multitudinous thrills.

Dorothy Mackall brings her beauty and charm to the leading feminine role and Ralph Forbes proves an excellent foil in the masculine lead.

Anna Q. Nilsson is the scheming "vamp" and Lowell Sherman contributes his delightfully villainous "heavy" characterizations.

Cocanuts Pleasing Large Audiences

Harris Marx, mad wit of the hilarious comedy team, the Four Marx Brothers, need have no fears of the microphone, for this fun provoking fellow hasn't spoken a word while performing for the last twelve years.

He is one of the featured players in "The Cocanuts," current attraction at Hume Craterian, which is now in its third day of capacity audiences.

Oscar Shaw and Mary Eaton, favorites of Broadway, are featured with the Marx boys. They sing the theme song, "When My Dreams Come True." "The Cocanuts" is the film version of the musical comedy of the same name in which the Marx Brothers were starred.

LAWLER STATES HE CAME WEST BY OX TEAM IN 1864

"I know a lot of folks in this country because I came across the plains by ox team with my father in 1844 and I've been in the north-west ever since. In case any of my old friends are sick I'd like for them to know about this wonderful Sargon treatment and what it did for me.

I was in pretty bad shape about five years. My stomach caused me all sorts of trouble after meals and I finally lost my appetite almost entirely. My liver and my kidneys were not functioning properly and I was losing both weight and strength.

The way Sargon and Sargon Soft Mucous Pills built back my health and strength is wonderful. My appetite came back and I began to eat plenty of good solid food. My old-time energy and vitality have come back and I get plenty of restful sleep. The pills regulated me perfectly and never upset me in the least. I'm glad to tell others what Sargon has done for me.

The enthusiastic statement above was recently made by M. M. Lawler, 124 1/2 West Third Ave., Spokane. Sargon may be obtained in Medford at Magilla Drug Store.

Mr. Holst so greatly enjoyed the sight of his many friends seated with him at the long bountifully spread table in the shade of his trees that he had several pictures taken of them. Friends departed in the evening expressing many wishes to be able again to celebrate many more such occasions.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lloyd returned to their home in San Francisco Sunday. Mrs. Lloyd has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Roberts, for the last three weeks.

Miss Wilting Sparlin is improving slowly but is still in Medford, where she is taking treatments. Her mother is staying with her.

PEACH AND APRICOT SPRAY NEEDED NOW

Peach and apricot trees should be sprayed for the control of peach blight as soon as the crop is off and before the fall rains start. Peach blight is a fungus disease found on practically all peach and apricot trees, causing a dieback of young shoots, killing of fruit buds and gum cankers on older wood.

Bordeaux mixture, 4-4-50 is the material to use and spraying should be thorough, giving all branches and trunk a liberal covering. Information relative to the mixing of this spray can be obtained from your county agent.

L. P. WILSON,
County Agent.

SAMS VALLEY RESIDENT HAS 77TH ANNIVERSARY

SAMS VALLEY, Ore., Sept. 6.—(Special)—The 77th birthday of Grandpa Holst proved a very pleasant occasion when celebrated at his home Sunday by more than 100 of his friends, who came from far and near corners of the county, with well filled dinner baskets to make merry.

Mr. Holst so greatly enjoyed the sight of his many friends seated with him at the long bountifully spread table in the shade of his trees that he had several pictures taken of them. Friends departed in the evening expressing many wishes to be able again to celebrate many more such occasions.
