Freshness Insures Quality

One of the first essentials to satisfaction in foods is freshness. The quality may be ever so good—yet if not fresh that intangible something that makes us relish our food is gone.

You may assure yourself of freshness in every thing if you will buy where stocks are turned rapidly — where everybody trades — and where goods are sold before they have a chance to lose that quality of freshness which adds so much to their flavor.

That is why nearly everybody trades at the Groceteria — for besides the saving from our always lower prices — our tremendous volume insures freshness at all times.
