LAST SUNDAY OF LAKE SEASON TO ATTRACT THROG

Many Medford and Rogue River valley people will spend tomorrow at Crater lake this Sunday is the last one during the official season of the lake. The lodge cafeteria and other concessions will close next Friday, September 29, for the long winter sleep. Beautiful weather is continuing in the park and many people regard the fall as the ideal time to visit the resort. Winter is not far away in the high mountains and the shrubs, trees and flowers have taken on the appearance of autumn, with their red and yellow leaves. The heavy snow which covers the valley now is noticeable at Crater Lake and the air is clear and crisp.

Many tourists are continuing to enter the park although the weather is getting late. During the last week over 8256 visitors were recorded at the checking stations in 2884 cars.

If weather permits, visitors will still be allowed to visit the lake after the season officially comes to a close next Friday. The concessions, however, will be closed and preparations will be under way for the winter.

ROGUE PEARLS AT LEGION CONCLAVE

Rogue pearls from the Rogue River valley will be distributed to delegates at the American Legion national convention at St. Louis next month, members of the local legion announced today.

The Legion members, orchardists and others are sending the pearls to the convention as a novel way of attracting attention to this district and the state of Oregon.

Leo Garlock, assistant of the local post, is receiving the pearls at the chamber of commerce office and asks any one wishing to donate a box to call him at that office.

Those are the only variety of the state will be given to the convention, which opens October 1.

The pearls will be distributed from a display room in the lobby of one of the large hotels. Other Oregon fruit will also be on hand for distribution. Also, literature of the state will be given to the convention visitors.

PIERCE-ALLEN DISPLAY AT FAIR IS ENLARGED

Given more space by the removal of several supporting posts, the Pierce-Allen Motor company this year was able to display two more machines in the auto show pavilion at the Jackson county fair than in previous years. The company has six Chevrolet models, the latest model on show, in addition to a collection of parts and accessories. A sedan, an imperial sedan, a sport roadster, a coupe, a coupe and a one and one-half ton truck are being shown. The display was handsomely equipped with a list of auto exhibitors, published yesterday.

LAST PAVILION DANCE OF FAIR WEEK TONIGHT

Tonight is the last night of the popular pavilion dances at the fair grounds and preparations have been made to take care of a record attendance.

The "open air" feature of the fair grounds pavilion has made a big hit with the dance fans during the warm weather of the past week and has provided cool comfort for the large crowds throughout each night.

FOREST LOOKOUTS ARE HANDICAPPED BY HEAVY SMOKE

The smoke haze in Medford and the valley today was mainly due to forest fires in the Umpqua and Siskiyou national forests. The smoke from them drifting this way and settling, so no new fires were reported yesterday or today in the Crater National forest.

The visibility throughout the forest, which has been poor all week, due to forest fire smoke, was worse in the Crater forest today, the lookouts being able to see but a short distance.

Because of this and the low humidity prevailing along with the excessively dry condition of the woods makes the forest fire situation extremely dangerous, hence the Crater national forest authorities urge fire-dwellers, who will be on in the woods tomorrow, to exercise extreme caution in passing through forest land in the matter of extinguishing their cigarettes, cigars or pipes, and if they run across a forest fire any place, no matter how small, to at once report it to the nearest forest ranger or game warden.

With the poor visibility today and which will prevail tomorrow, the lookout system of the forest is practically put out of business. A fire could start and get big headway and the lookouts could not "spot" it.

TEN THOUSAND IS CRATER INCREASE CURRENT SEASON

An attendance increase of over 10,000 persons has been recorded at Crater Lake, according to word received from park headquarters today. The total attendance for the season up to the middle of the week was 112,637 persons.

Many tourists are continuing to visit the park although the season is getting late. During the past week over 8226 persons traveled to the lake in 2584 cars.

The heaviest travel into the park for any single day this season was on Sunday, August 11, when 943 cars carrying 2591 visitors arrived at the rim.

MEDFORD BOASTS BEST CHAMBER IN ACCOMPLISHMENT

The Medford chamber of commerce stands well at the top of the list, and accomplishes a yearly program that is considerably higher than the average attained throughout the entire United States. This statement was made by Leonard B. Reid, assistant manager of the western division of the national chamber of commerce, who stopped off here last night on an itinerary through the northwest.

Mr. Reid, who is making this trip to get acquainted with the different chambers of commerce heads through the northwest and to ascertain the problems that should be brought to the attention of the national headquarters in order to render all clubs the greatest possible service, was not only enthusiastic over the work of the local organization, but of the prevalent community spirit of Medford.

Although assistant manager of the entire western division, Mr. Reid has been especially assigned to the northwestern section, which takes in Washington, Oregon and Idaho. His home is in Seattle, Wash. He will remain here until tomorrow evening when he will leave for Klamath Falls and other points in the state.

EGYPTIAN WHEAT IN EAGLE POINT GRANGE EXHIBIT AT THE FAIR

Egyptian wheat, the first ever grown in southern Oregon, is a feature of the Eagle Point grange exhibit in the horticultural building at the Jackson county fair.

The wheat was grown on the Menards ranch in the Eagle Point district on land upon which nothing else would grow. The grain attained a height of several feet and is good for poultry and stock feed.

A big proof squash, which also had never been grown here before, is another feature of the Eagle Point booth, which in addition has an enviable display of canned meats, fruits and vegetables in uniformly sized jars.

These are also 15 varieties of dried vegetables on display in the booth in addition to jars of fruit canned by Mrs. Peter Young, who has the use of only one arm.
