Sees Errors.

To the Editor:

May I point out a few errors in the item, "Constitution Day Most Significant to United States," which appeared in your paper yesterday?

It is a fact that New Hampshire was the ninth state to ratify the constitution, but it did so on June 21, 1788, and not September 17. It was on September 17, 1787 when 39 of the 55 delegates signed the constitution, hence "Constitution Day."

In giving honor for the composition of this document, we must not forget our immortal Benjamin Franklin and it was Governor Morris, who was largely responsible for the clear, simple language so easy is it to understand that we often wonder how any one can be proud to say, "I am an American," and then know so little about this masterpiece.

There were some whose Americanism brought forth Old Glory yesterday.

AN AMERICAN.

Obituary

MASTERS—Fannie Arthurs was born at Brownsville, Oregon, January 15, 1858, and at the age of four years moved with her parents to Walla Walla, Wash., where she spent her girlhood, receiving her education at Spring Valley and Coppel schools. In December 1875 she was united in marriage to Emmett Ross Henderson. To this union were born two children, Mrs. W. E. Kockenderfer of Walla Walla, Wn., and Lyman Ross Henderson, Jr., of Portland, Ore. July, 1925, she was again married, to John H. Masters, who with her mother, Mrs. Sarah Arthurs of Gold Hill, Mrs. Olive Shelton of Nyssa, Ore., Mrs. W. H. Lamb of Gold Hill and Chester Arthurs of Hawthorne, Nevada, survive.

Since 1925 Mr. and Mrs. Masters have resided in Medford and Klamath Falls. During the past six months they made their home at 1008 West Main street, where she passed away Wednesday, September 18. Mrs. Masters was a very patient sufferer and a real friend to the needy and those in distress.

Deceased united with the Christian church 24 years ago, and it could be said that she was a Christian in every way. The last three years she has worked in the Pentecostal work and has many friends who will sorely feel her passing.

Mrs. Masters was a member of the Rebecca lodge at Waitsburg, Wash., where after the funeral services are held in Medford, the remains will be forwarded to be placed by the side of her former husband. The date of funeral services will be announced from the Conover funeral parlors.

HITTER—Carl Evans Hitter, aged 56 years, passed away at his home two miles northeast of Medford very suddenly Wednesday September 18. Mr. Hitter was born at Gold Hill May 1, 1873, and spent the better part of his life near that place. A short time ago he bought a ranch near Medford, where he has resided. He is survived by six brothers, A. J. Hitter, Keating, Ore.; Joe Halfway, Ore.; James Halfway, Claude B. Junction City, Ore.; Walter Triangle, Idaho; John of Gold Hill and one sister, Myrtle Gillespie of Junction City. The remains are at the Conger funeral parlors, where the funeral services are being arranged.

PALL OF SMOKE HOLDS AIRPLANES ON GROUND

Flying entirely by instrument, air mail planes are continuing to make scheduled trips between Portland and San Francisco, but two other ships, one owned by the Hoid Airways of Eugene and the other a five-winged monoplane, piloted by Fred Urlah, are staying in Medford because of bad smoke conditions. The two stranded ships have no instruments and without them pilots would be lost in a short time, it was explained this afternoon.

Notice For Bids

Bids are now open for 75 cords of body fir wood to be delivered at the County Poor Farm not later than November 15th. Bids must be in the hands of the county clerk on or before October 15, 1929.

TUTUILA TOPIC OF TRAVELOGUE BY HERB GREY

Those who live in grass houses wear a great big smile—that is, if their houses are situated on Tutuila, one of the colorful Samoan Islands, according to Herb Grey, who entertained the Lions' club this noon with a brief, but interesting account of his recent trip to the south seas and Australia.

Herb gave a vivid picture of Samoan Whoopee, which happens only about once a year. It takes place when, by a strange gyration of nature, the ground all over the island gives up a sea of wriggling, phosphorescent worms. At this time, the natives dull up in an extra strand of beads and brush up on their song and dance act. Working up an appetite, they culmax the celebration by devouring the worms.

The Fiji Islands were next visited by Herb, who was particularly fascinated by the flappers who, instead of using peroxide as per Hollywood, bleach their shocks of black hair with lime and use henna on their teeth.

Dropping his audience in Sidney, Australia, Herb was followed on the program this noon by Charles Reames, local sportsman, who gave a graphic account of his favorite fishing haunts, many of which he visited this summer.

The rugged South Fork country with its sporting hazards and natural beauty, has a strong appeal to Mr. Reames, who said that it was no trick at all in this section, to take out 100 to 150 trout in a day.

Frank Farrell, newly appointed city attorney, and Ed Ross, on the publicity staff of the California Oregon Power company were introduced as the newest members of the Lions club by President H. T. Hubbard. The Lions club code of ethics was presented to the new members by Lion Ernest Scott.

HOT COMPETITION FEATURE OF PLAY IN CUP CONTESTS

That the present players are well handicapped is shown by the result of the President's cup play at the Medford golf club, many of the matches being won by only one hole and several requiring extra holes for the final determination.

Early this morning Jack Thompson of Copco and Grover Corum staged a terrific battle, Thompson finally winning on the 18th hole one up when he got a pretty 5.

Art Starbuck, the veteran aviator who is one of the coming golf cracks, defeated his co-pilot Tyler rather easily, six and four, but is having a hard struggle with C. M. Kidd this afternoon. The winner goes into the third round.

R. W. Ruhl in the second flight, finally defeated H. D. McCaskey one up on the 18th hole, after a fine uphill fight by the latter. McCaskey was three down at the end of the 9th, but instead of breaking under pressure he proceeded to win two holes in a row and although he was dormie two at the sixteenth, he won the next hole with a pretty pitch from the rough, and made a gallant effort for the 18th, missing his putt however for a half.

Tomorrow one of the best matches promises to be between two coming youngsters, Bob Hammond, Jr., and Tommy Emmens, while George Roberts plays G. F. Pythian and Bill Isaacs plays R. B. Smith.

CRATER WORKERS MAKE READY FOR CLOSE OF SEASON

Because the Crater Lake season officially closes next Friday the remaining employes of the lodge and other concessions in the national park have already begun the work of packing up and storing equipment away safely to withstand the winter's rigors.

The number of employes of the concessions have gradually been decreased since Labor Day and only a sufficient number have been retained, especially at the lodge, to care for the much waned tourist patronage until closing day.

Friday forenoon will be spent in the finishing of packing up, and by early afternoon the remaining employes will begin leaving for Medford on the stages, after which the big hostelry will be in the hands of a caretaker until the season opens next July.

The rangers and labor employes of the park will remain there for several weeks yet to complete improvement work for the year, unless the weather should change and it begins to snowing so hard as to drive them out.

The park headquarters will not be moved from government camp to the winter headquarters in the federal building of Medford until the middle of October, just after the conclusion of the federal term of court here for southern Oregon, as the court officials use the Crater Lake offices in the federal building during the term.

However, tourists and others will continue to visit Crater National park as long as the weather permits, making the round trip in one day.

Dairy farming has invaded one of the south's leading cotton strongholds, eastern Texas.

WOMAN GOLFERS HAVE TOURNAMENT THRILLS

Not to be outdone by the men who are now fighting for the President's cup, the women of the Rogue Valley Golf club started their handicap tournament today for the club championship.

The first match played was one of the closest was between Mrs. Tom Fuson and Mrs. R. J. Hoy, who were all square at the end of the nine holes, Mrs. Fuson finally winning on the 11th hole after a terrific struggle.

Mrs. Dave Wood, club champion, defeated Mrs. William Vawter, 3 after an interesting match four up and two to play, and Mrs. Jay Thompson defeated Mrs. Willis Vawter, Sr., in a neck and neck struggle two up and one to play.
