

SEMON UPSETS GOLF DOPE AND DEFEATS TUMY

Championship in 2nd Flight Tourney Won By 18 Handicap Man — Winner Comes From Behind to Cop Cup in Thrilling Struggle.

Russ Semon upset the dope bucket in the finals of the second flight yesterday at the Medford Country club, when he defeated Earl Tummy, former tournament title holder on the 35th hole, 3 and 1. It was an interesting and surprisingly close match, particularly in the afternoon, when after being two down on the morning round, Semon proceeded to square the match on the 20th, and then came in one up on the 27th. With only three strokes left on his 9 handicap, however, whereas he had 6 on the first nine, it looked like a Tummy victory.

In the afternoon, however, as in the morning, Semon demonstrated that he can play his best game under pressure—hit his best stroke when he has to. Through-out the 28 holes he played the best golf when he had no advantage in handicap. On the 14th hole in the morning round, for example, he was four down and had to play Tummy even for the remaining four, with the exception of the 18th. Instead of erubling or merely holding his own, he proceeded to start an offensive on his own account, won the 15th with a par 4, halved the next two holes, and with his one stroke won the 18th, ending the morning round only two down.

In the afternoon Tummy, in spite of the discouragement of losing his morning lead, in the first two holes regained it again with a 5 on the 21st, and giving his opponent six strokes, proceeded to hold him all square until the 27th, which took some good nerve and steady shooting.

Match Lost on No. 14. The match was really lost—and won on the 23rd hole (No. 14). Tummy was only 1 down and 2 to get to the 13th, with but two strokes to give his opponent it certainly looked as if he could win 3 out of those five. Both got fair tee shots not ten feet from each other, though Tummy has been unable to get his iron working all afternoon, he decided to try it again. As he had to give his opponent a stroke, he undoubtedly figured he had to reach the green to win the hole and square the match. But he had checked his brassy stroke and was also short. Semon, however, topped his massive approach, the ball going into the rough beyond the green. This gave Tummy another chance, for it looked as though Semon, 3 in the rough, would have to be content with a 6. Tummy had a 5 to halve the hole and a 4 to win. He made a fine try for his 4, split the cup, but rolled 15 feet beyond. They were both 3, but Tummy was on the green, Semon in the long grass, beyond the hole. It looked like a possible win for Semon, and a certain half. But here Semon proceeded to upset the dope again. He made a beautiful one from the rough and sank his putt for a 5. Tummy missed his putt by two inches and also took a 5. With his stroke that gave Semon the hole and he was 2 up. Playing Tummy stroke for stroke, he halved the next two holes, and the match appeared to be over. It was Semon's second 2—against a man who was playing par against who had a stroke on one of the holes, and only needed a half to win. "No can do."

Medal Play Identical. The former tournament winner made a gallant try at it, however. His drive from the 17th tee was a screamer, straight down the alley. But Semon matched it. They were both on the green with their second, but Tummy's slight hook caught the rough on the left of the green, while Semon was straight and ran again bisected the cup, but was too big, giving him a long downhill putt for a four, which he missed. With three putts for a half and victory, Tummy conceded Semon the match. Just to show what he could do, however, Semon sank his putt for a par four, and a new champion of second flight tournaments was crowned.

Some idea of what Tummy was up against on that last nine may be gleaned from Semon's medal score. With two balls out of bounds, one on the 11th and on the 13th, (giving him a 6 for one hole and a 7 for the other), he came home with a 42. On the same basis Tummy shot a 42. Going out in the afternoon, both had 44. It doesn't require a mathematician to see that, barring the "outs," they shot identical 86's for the 18 holes.

Some golf for an 18 handicap man against a player of Tummy's calibre.

Dean of Pilots Connie Mack in Harness 35 Years; Won 7 Flags

CONNIE MACK

By John H. Reitzinger, Associated Press Staff Writer. PHILADELPHIA.—(AP)—Had Tompkins lived in the days of Connie Mack, he could have applied the words of his song of the brook "for men may come and men may go, but I go on forever," to the tall and slender tutor of the Philadelphia Athletics.

No manager in baseball has been as long as the Philadelphia, nor has any manager been the guiding genius of one team as long as this master of the national game.

Only a little more than three years short of the Biblical three score and ten, this veteran of the ball and bats keeps exuberantly at it, developing finished ball players from the raw material, worrying other managers, and winning pennants.

Connie Mack, whose name was whittled down from Cornelius McGillicuddy by the hard working sports writers in the dawn of modern baseball, will be 67 years old in December. He has no thought of quitting the game. Every once in a while he is asked when he is going to retire and replies he has no present intention of so doing. Recently he said he would leave the bench only when his health fails and there is no present sign of such an unfortunate happening.

Compolo-Scott Brawl Tonight to Open Four-Day Heavyweight Fete

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Two tons of heavyweights will be on display at Robets field and the Yankee stadium during the next four days.

Starting with Victorio Campolo's 16-round bout with Phil Scott, champion of England, at Ebbets field tonight, the week's climactic encounter will bring together Tommy Loughran, erstwhile ruler of the light heavyweights, and Jack Sharkey, of Boston, in a 15-round slugfest at the Yankee Stadium Thursday night.

These two heavyweight shows have overshadowed the featherweight championship battle at Hartford tonight between Andre Roubin of France and Ben Battalino.

Campolo, an untrained performer, can punch with any of the current heavyweights. Largely because of the wallop in his right hand he has been made a 7-5 favorite over Scott, one of the cleverest boxers in his division. After a mediocre exhibition against Art

MAJORS FACING DRAB DAYS FOR GATE RECEIPTS

Two Weeks Before Series Holds Little Lure for Fandom — Yankees Excuse Five Remainder of Season On Full Pay.

By William J. Chipman, Associated Press Sports Writer. Big hearted baseball magnates are about to begin payment to the bidder for a two weeks' dance through open dates toward two crowded week-ends, which may or may not entice sufficient fans to the parks to pay the ushers.

William Wrigley, of course, is sitting pretty with the Cubs, and even the Athletics should have no great financial drain upon the Messrs. Shibe and McMillicuddy in the dying days. But the rest of the boys face a deficit estimated in the aggregate at anywhere between $250,000 and $500,000.

If anything can bring a magnate to his senses, it is a deficit, and for this reason alone, it may be authoritatively stated that the scheduled double-headers placed upon the chart for Philadelphia, a full week could easily be cut from the 1928 program, which covered 25 weeks of 174 playing days.

The poor business being transacted at the turnstiles at this moment is largely due, of course, to the two run-away races, about which the magnates can do nothing. But if a race is going to be lopsided anyhow, the club owners certainly will lose less by moving toward them with a minimum of open dates.

Bargain Draws Crowd. After attracting some 500 fans to their park one day last week, the Yankees did manage to muster 20,000 clients on the banks of the Harlem, with a bargain ball yesterday, but E. G. Barrow would sell the rest of his home dates from now until October 5 at strictly bargain prices. The double-header was divided, the White Sox winning the opener by 7 to 4, and the Yanks the nightcap by 3 to 1. Red Faber outpitched Herb Pennock, but Roy Sherid turned the tables on Al Thomas.

At the end of the game, Charlie O'Leary excused seven players for the rest of the season with full pay, the Messrs. Pennock, Hoyt, Von Hell, Byrd, Meusel, Grabowski and Jorgens.

Elton Howard, the 210,000 Detroit recruit from Montreal, made his first home start, and south-pawed the Tigers to a 5 to 0 victory over Sammy Gray and the Browns. St. Louis drove only three safe hits to the outfield.

Wesley Ferrell pitched the Indians to a 7 to 4 victory over the Red Sox in 10 innings. Grove, Earnshaw and Walter all had a hand in a game at Washington, which the Senators won from the Athletics by 7 to 6 in 10 rounds. It was the fourth Senatorial triumph over the Macks in 20 games this season.

Dazzy Vance featured the National league afternoon with a fine game against St. Louis, which he won by 7 to 2, but the Caris rallied in the nightcap, a 4 to 0 victory for St. Louis.

Rogers Hornsby entertained the Chicago fans with his 35th home run, but the Glants shaded the Cubs by 5 to 4 in the final game of the series. Cincinnati out-pitched Philadelphia by 3 to 2 in 10 innings just prior to Jack Hendrick's announcement of his resignation, effective on October 5.

BEAVERS TO USE INVITE GOLFERS MILITARY SHIFT OF SO. OREGON IN GRID JOUSTS TO PLAY HERE

Fancy Formation Planned Amateur Invitational Tourney Planned On Local Course—Qualifying Play Starts October 11—Finals Sunday, Oct. 13.

By Frank G. Gorrie, Associated Press Sports Writer. CORVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 22.—(AP) The Oregon State college football team has gone in for some fancy work this season.

Not satisfied with having crushed the New York university grid team in the biggest football upset of last year, the Beavers brought back with them the easterners' pet formation—the military shift—to use against their opponents in the Pacific Coast conference this season.

Coach Paul Schissler has been steadily drilling his line and backfield in the new formation, and although they have had only a week of practice the Beavers worked the shift well against Willamette university last Saturday. All the O. S. C. team needs is a little more practice to get the shift down to perfection.

To work the formation the center comes out of a huddle to take the place over the ball. The line remains two yards back with the backs bunched together. At a given signal the line jumps into position and the backs spread into their formation. A second later the ball is snapped and the team goes into action. The object of the shift is to screen the starting offense from the defending opponent.

Schissler has a green line and a veteran backfield working on the play.

Green Line. The coach has only two regular line men back from last year. Bob Golden, veteran center and Russell Striff, spectacular end and fullback, the only men to return leaving a mighty task for Schissler. Striff was ill all last summer and is 29 pounds under weight but is expected to be back in form soon.

The former fullbacks, Jack Cox from the freshman team and Chief Thompson, a substitute fullback last season, are being groomed for the two vacant guard positions. Jack Carlson and Vernon Edger, who handled the positions in 1928 were graduated.

At the tackle role Sayle, Young and Charles Stout are succeeding Russoe, Luce and Fred Scheil. Luce was graduated and Scheil failed to return to school. Sayles and Stout were substitutes last year. Besides Striff, Schissler has built up a mighty backfield with McCallie, Arthur Gustafson and Alex McGilvray for the ends. McCallie, a letterman, looks like Striff's running mate. Gustafson was a freshman while McGilvray was a reserve last season.

Oregon State lost its brilliant quarterback, Howard Mapple, but has the other three regulars back on the job with a likely looking youth succeeding Mapple. Carl Sherwood and Henry "Honolulu" Hughes, half backs, and Carl Gilmore, fullback, make up a powerful combination with R. A. P. Buckle, substitute quarterback last year, running the team. Backfield reserve strength is good with Floyd Owen and Carl Meiten, half backs. Johnny Brown, fullback and Roger Montgomery, quarterback on hand.

The Beavers meet the California Aggies at Corvallis, Ore., next Saturday.

SHIEKS HOLDING ONE GAME LEAD OVER MISSIONS

Seals Tumble to Third Place in Coast League Race—Portlanders Break Even in Double-Header Against Senators by the Associated Press. With four games out of seven to their credit for the week's series against Los Angeles, Hollywood today led the Pacific Coast league holding a full game's margin over the second place San Francisco Mission Reds. The Seals, who for a couple of days basked in the top position by winning three of the seven games from the Reds, were back in third place.

Only two weeks remain before the Coast league season ends and the second half season champions are named. Meanwhile, the five clubs in the first division were still lurching closely at the top, and the winning aggregation remained as much of a problem as ever.

The Hollywood team won both games of their doubleheader with the Angels at Wrigley Field yesterday. In the first game Shellenback and Rollins clouted two homers, each with two men on bases. Carley and Jacobs also turned in circuit hits. The score of the first game was 12 to 4. In the second game the Stars won 9 to 6. Tuntz Westel blanked the Angels with four hits in the seven inning nightcap.

Bounding early to collect four runs in the first three frames, the Mission Reds won the first game against the Seals at Recreation Park 14 to 5, and in the afternoon they repeated the process with a score of 12 to 3. Boone of the Missions clouted out two homers, one in the fifth and one in the sixth. The double victory put the Missions back as chief contenders for the league lead which they have held several times this season.

Portland broke even in a double header with Sacramento but took the series six games to two. Jack Walters of the home team, formerly from San Francisco, defeated the Senators in the first game 5 to 3. In the second game he failed to duplicate the feat and the California boys won 9 to 5.

Rainy weather at Seattle caused postponement of the Seattle-Oakland doubleheader.

STARBUCK AND LARSON EXPECTED TO STAGE A HECTIC LINKS CONTEST

Anyone who wishes to see a hot contest and good golf may do so by going out to the Medford Golf club any time between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. tomorrow, when Art Starbuck tangles with C. O. Larson for the president's cup championship. The match was scheduled for yesterday, but, owing to government regulations, Starbuck, who is a famous mail pilot, was unable to take part. He offered to forfeit, but Larson, showing his usual good sportsmanship, refused to allow it.

All the dope favors Larson to win for he is shooting in the 80's and Starbuck has to give him nine strokes on each 18 in the 36-hole match. The air mail pilot, however, is playing a pretty game now, is particularly strong as a competitive player and the present handicaps tournament has shown that the number of strokes a man gets is often not as important as where he hits to get them.

So a real contest is certain. Churchill Looks Big One. AVALON, Santa Catalina Island, Cal., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Winston Churchill left British statesman, caught a 188-pound swordfish 20 minutes after starting on his first deep-sea fishing trip.
