

MARSHAL GETS WITNESS LIST FOR U.S. COURT

Because the opening of the southern Oregon term of the United States district court in Medford is only five days away, about which time nothing definite is known here as yet, and the fact that up to this forenoon he had received only four subpoenas to appear, summoning witnesses and principals in criminal and civil cases, whereas it is known that quite a number of cases are to be tried at this term, Cal C. Wells, deputy United States marshal with headquarters in Medford, had been on pins and needles with anxiety all this week, until this noon.

However, he departed for Klamath Falls late this afternoon in a much relieved state of mind, as he either received late this forenoon from the federal court authorities, his list of cases and subpoenas or was to find them awaiting him on arrival at Klamath Falls.

Takes Time.
It takes time to serve a big bunch of subpoenas, and to "find your man." The deputy marshal often, after the latter is located, has to call from several to a dozen times to find him in.

What worried Cal so much is that he feared a general rain would come any day and the ban on the deer season opening would be called off, in which event the witnesses and others he had to summon to appear for the opening of the court term next Tuesday, would all hike with their rifles out to the mountains and it would be especially hard, if not impossible, for him to locate them in time.

He had been expecting this list daily ever since his return from making a large bunch of prisoners from here and Klamath Falls last week for delivery at Portland to the federal court authorities, and on phoning to Portland from Medford last night he learned that the batch of papers were mailed to him from Portland last night to either Medford or Klamath Falls.

The delay in making up the docket for the Medford term of court has been caused by the lawyers of many defendants in cases conducting negotiations with the United States district attorney's office at Portland relative to entering possible pleas of guilty, and both sides in civil suits scheduled to be tried endeavoring to reach compromises, which would take the latter cases out of court.

All that is known here now about the docket is that it will probably be the usual heavy one that will keep the court in session for two weeks, and that the case to be placed on trial will be a civil suit.

Probably the most interesting criminal case to be tried at the Medford term is that against Dr. A. A. Soule and Dr. A. Dieutche, prominent and well to do physicians of Klamath Falls, on the charge of selling narcotics. It is said that the government feels confident of winning its case and that the defendants will put up a hard fight to establish their innocence.

CITIZENSHIP GIVEN SIX BY CEREMONY AT COURT HOUSE

Impressive ceremonies marked the program of naturalization of six aliens this forenoon at the court house, where examinations for citizenship were in charge of V. W. Tomlinson of Portland district director of naturalization. One applicant failed to pass the test, a second did not appear and a third was expected to pass this afternoon.

The new citizens, who were congratulated by a fair sized audience in the court room, are as follows: Mrs. Walter J. Leverette, Canadian; Mrs. Jeanie Watt, Scotch, of Phoenix; Mrs. Doris Stanley Jones, Canadian, of Central Point; Francis Nandi, Italian, of Perrydale; Donald McPherson, Scotch, of Medford; and Vincent Lantini, Swiss, of Dead Indian.

The examiner, in asking the applicants for citizenship questions, covered the provisions of government and most of the applicants found little trouble in giving correct answers. Lantini was the last to be examined and he was perhaps the most nervous. He attempted to answer two or three questions at the same time and was reminded by the examiner that he was not running a race, and that he had better take the 100-yard dash race at a walk.

Lantini had failed in his last attempt to gain final citizenship papers and for the past several months had come to Medford from his Dead Indian ranch to attend a night class to gain further knowledge on subjects in which he had failed the last time. He became confused at times during the examination, but Mr. Tomlinson, a kindly examiner, helped him over the rough spots. Two of those granted citizenship were citizens before, but had married aliens.

The program following the examination was opened by an invocation by Mrs. Virginia Riggs of the Daughters of the American Revolution, followed by an address by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton, who stressed the aims of citizenship and objects of freedom and liberty as compared to conditions in foreign countries. Mrs. Susanne James Carter, president of the Jackson county branch of the Oregon state department of Americanization, welcomed the new citizens, cited various advantages of the United States and urged each to use his new found franchise of voting.

Remarks in behalf of the American Legion were made by Col. W. H. Paine, followed by remarks by Mrs. J. C. Woods of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

DICK APPLIGATE OUT FOR SEASON

Richard Appligate, a member of the high school football squad, is out for the remainder of the season, as a result of injuries to his foot, sustained during scrimmage Friday evening. Appligate was a letter man from last year, and a running mate of Stine in the backfield, and together they were counted on by Coach Hagen to carry on the running attack of the locals.

STORE UNPACKS LARGE NUMBER DOLL BUGGIES

Shades of the Christmas holidays are already approaching, at least as far as the J. C. Penney store is concerned. That establishment last night from 7:30 to 10:29, with the assistance of six men, unpacked, assembled, pressed and oiled 194 doll buggies of varying sizes. This is considered a record. The store is also receiving other Christmas goods.

As We Grow Older

Proper kidney action is more than ever important. GOOD health isn't possible unless your kidneys are properly removing the waste impurities from your blood.

For bladder irregularities and for the lameness, stiffness and constant backache due to sluggish kidneys, use Doan's Pills.

Doan's promote normal kidney action and assist the kidneys in cleansing the blood of poisonous wastes. Recommended the world over. Sold by dealers everywhere.

MARSHFIELD WILL BE SHRINE MECCA ON OCTOBER 26TH

Southern Oregon Shriners are already making plans for the fall ceremonial which will be staged at Marshfield next month by the members of Hillah Temple, October 26 is the date which has been set aside for the event and on that day there will be a general exodus of the wearers from various southern Oregon communities.

Marshfield Shriners are determined to make the fall ceremonial in their city eclipse in size and gaiety that which was held by Hillah members in Medford last spring when Ben All Temple of Sacramento journeyed here for the initiatory work. Director Louis Older and his wrecking crew will have some brand new stunts to spring in the coast city and Rex Barnett's Hillah patrolmen and drum corps members are busily practicing for the pilgrimage to Coos Bay.

E. C. ("Jerry") Jerome, potentate of Hillah Temple, accompanied by Dade Terrett, assistant director, and Bery Peasley, business manager of the patrol, were in Marshfield last week conferring with Marshfield's committee on details of the ceremonial. Potentate Jerome has extended special invitations to the leading Shrine temples of the Pacific coast, including Ben All temple of Sacramento, Achmes temple of Oakland, Al Kader temple of Portland, Islam temple of San Francisco, El Kattif temple of Spokane, Nile temple of Seattle, Afili temple of Tacoma, and Glah temple of Victoria, B. C.

Hillah temple's elaborate initiatory paraphernalia will be shipped to Marshfield in advance and local committeemen will journey to that city several days before the ceremonial to assist in preparing for the affair. The principal streets of Marshfield will be decorated for the occasion and merchants will prepare attractive window displays to greet the visiting horde of nobles.

HAMILTON PATTON AT SCOUT MEET

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 25.—(AP)—Methods of financing Boy Scout movements, training of volunteer scout leaders and responsibilities of executive boards were discussed here yesterday by a group of southwestern Washington backers of Boy Scouts.

Those attending the conference included: W. H. Cowles of Spokane, R. O. Wyland of New York, L. P. Campbell of Salem, H. Patton of Medford, C. C. Colt of Portland, S. Bloom of The Dalles and O. C. Spencer of Portland.

A dinner was held last evening at which Judge John H. Stevenson presided. Robert Cathey and Hunter Newton, Portland Boy Scouts who returned from the jamboree at Birkenhead, England, told of the international session.

MILLIONAIRE MINE SOLD TO CALIFORNIA GROUP

Martin Johnson, receiver for the Millionaire mine, located in the Gold Hill district, today reported the sale of the property to A. Mole and associates of San Francisco.

Johnson said that the price was in part payments, and that the new owners planned to develop and operate the mine.

The Millionaire mine has been developed considerably and has machinery on the ground.

It has not been operating for a couple of years owing to litigation.

NEIGHBORING ELKS GIVEN INVITATIONS FOR FALL FROLIC

"Plans for the Elks fall frolic are well under way and indications point to the most elaborate event ever staged by Medford lodge 1168," according to Ben Mohler, excited ruler of the local Elks lodge. "It's going to be even more extensive than we had at first anticipated and Medford people may expect three big days of enjoyment on October 19, 21 and 22."

"We want to be very clear that everyone in southern Oregon and northern California is invited to join us in this fall frolic. It will be a public affair and all stunts and entertainment are being prepared so that it will appeal to everyone," Mr. Mohler said.

Invitations are being sent to the residents of all surrounding communities through the Elks lodges in Klamath Falls, Ashland, Roseburg and Yreka so visitors from those cities will swell the crowds at the Medford Armory during the three-day frolic. Committees are busily preparing the decorations and stunts and indications already point to a record attendance.

In the near future the talent of Medford lodge 1168, including the popular Elks band, will be featured on a radio hour over KMEB, as one of the stunts advertising next month's frolic.
