Radio Story That Justice Lydon Shot in Face By General While Hunting Grouse in Scotland Vigorously Denied.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—(AP)—There is absolutely nothing to it," said General John J. Pershing today when informed of a New York report that he had accidentally shot and slightly wounded Justice Richard P. Lydon while hunting grouse in Scotland. He declined to say anything further.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP)—A radio broadcast story that General John J. Pershing accidentally shot and slightly wounded Justice Richard P. Lydon, New York supreme court justice, while hunting grouse this summer on the Scotland estate of Bernard M. Baruch, was denied today by Mr. Baruch.

An account of the shooting was given last night over station WOR, by Alexander Woolcott, dramatic critic. Later he told reporters he learned of the incident from two members of the shooting party. The general and the justice, he said, were in two shooting boxes, and when Pershing fired at a grouse some of the birdshot entered the justice's face, inflicting slight injuries.

Mr. Baruch denied the story. "I never saw a scratch on Justice Lydon's face," he said. "To my knowledge, nothing of the sort happened, and as I was host I think I should have heard of it if it had."

Down Went McGinty Man Is Proprietor Little Candy Store

TAMPA, Fla., (AP)—Across the street from a local high school is a little notion and candy store well patronized by pupils because the proprietor is always jolly and always whistling a vaguely reminiscent tune.

Said proprietor is Joe Flynn, on-time headliner with the vaudeville team of Sheridan and Flynn, and the tune he whistles brought him fame in a past generation.

It is "Down Went McGinty," Joe Flynn's 20-minute song writing effort of a "broke" period in his life, which started him on a successful stage career of 20 years.

Flynn retired from the stage 15 years ago and explains his present semi-accetic life as a seeking for the peace and quiet which he never received as a youth.

ANGLO-AMERICAN FRIENDSHIP WAS HURT BY SHEARER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Drew Pearson, a newspaper correspondent at the unsuccessful 1927 Geneva naval limitations conference, told a senate investigating committee today that William B. Shearer, $25,000 "observer" and reporter of American shipbuilders at the parley, "appeared to be a real influence against Anglo-American good will and was with the naval experts on many occasions."

Pearson reported the conference for the Japan Advertiser, the Consolidated Press and the Washington Star.

"About the first thing I heard when I got to Geneva," Pearson said, "was that Shearer was in town." He added that he understood Shearer had a very luxurious apartment in the fashionable section of Geneva.

"He called himself the 'brass drum,'" the correspondent continued. "He was interested in drinking up merchant marine business." He entered the newspaper conferences and passed out handouts and seemed to be interested in a failure.

SEVERE QUAKES MAY FORETELL BIG ERUPTIONS

Residents of Western Hawaii Flee Homes As Violent Tremors Continue—Scientist Asserts Volcanic Activity Looms.

HILO, Island of Hawaii, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Suspense and excitement gripped the populace of western Hawaii today after residents had been frightened away from their homes by a violent earthquake, which was believed to be the forerunner of eruptions from the three big volcanoes nearby.

The most violent quake of a series of about 150 tremors, that had kept the western half of the island quivering for more than 24 hours, came shortly after 6 o'clock last night. Walls and buildings in various parts of the quaking area fell and residents rushed from their homes.

So violent was the quake that this seismograph at Kealahou, was ruined. It was the most severe shaking the island has received within the memory of its oldest residents.

Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, government volcanologist, a few hours before the most violent shock was felt, asserted the frequent quakes portended an eruption of one or more of the three large volcanoes on the western half of Hawaii. He declared that all three, Kilauea, Mauna Loa and Hualalai, might erupt simultaneously.

Kona, the district in which Hualalai is located, appeared to have been shaken more frequently than any other. Jaggar, who has studied Hawaii's volcanoes for many years, said an eruption, possibly on the west flank of Hualalai, may be expected within a month, but that the lava might reach the surface from Mauna Loa or Kilauea. He asserted it was possible that lava would pour from all three craters.
