

ANNOUNCE DEBATE TOPIC IN SCHOOLS SOUTHERN OREGON

The question that has been assigned to the Southern Oregon high school district for debate is resolved: "That the Child Labor Amendment to the Constitution should be adopted." This announcement was received at the local high school by R. R. Bailey, debate coach, from the secretary of the State Debate League. The state is divided into twelve districts, and each district debates a different question. The district winners meet at the close of the inter-scholastic contests and debate on a common question. Three members of last year's team will try out for places to represent Medford high school. They are Laura Drury, George Winne and William Dougherty. Laura Drury is an honor student, and president of the Girls' League. George Winne was southern Oregon's representative in the state finals of the Ellison scholarship contest, while William Dougherty placed fourth in the state finals of the National Oratorical contest. The inter-scholastic debates will not start until after Christmas, but the intervening time will be spent in intensive preparation. A series of inter-class debates will be held the latter part of October. The chief opponents of the Medford team will be Ashland and Grants Pass. Medford lost the district championship last year to Ashland by one point. Dr. Simkins, the chiropractor, with Russian massage, over the Woolworth store. Phone 1299.

Distribution Without Waste

Shoulder to shoulder toward a definite goal!

The greatest possible democracy prevails throughout the entire Safeway organization. High-sounding titles are dispensed with—rank scarcely exists. There are no hard-boiled, slave-driving "bosses." Shoulder to shoulder—errand boy and executive—each playing his part according to his individual ability and sharing the rewards in proportion to his contribution to the success of the whole—Safeway Men march steadily toward a definite goal, that of "Distribution Without Waste."
