E. C. Solinsky, superintendent of Crater lake national park, and Alex Sparrow, ex-superintendent of the park, now a big rancher of the Rogue river country, were at the Multnomah hotel over the week end with Mrs. Solinsky and Mrs. Sparrow. Patronage of this national parks has been better this summer than in any past year, said Mr. Solinsky, and the Crater park has shown a particularly heavy increase in the number of visitors. Mount Hood also has been one of the particularly favored places, he stated, which goes to show that Oregon is coming into its own as a Mecca for tourists and local vacationists. Mr. Sparrow was enthusiastic over the showing at the Oregon state fair of the brilliant race horse Romping Peavine. He has in his stables five horses from the same sire as Romping Peavine and he expects much from them on the turf.—The Oregonian.

STUDENTS WELCOME HEALTH EXAMINATION

(Contributed)

Each year as the county doctor and nurses go into the schools to offer free medical examination to any so desiring, they are more welcome and this fall ever so many boys and girls who have heretofore refused the examination are coming of their own volition.

Incidentally they are acquiring an excellent habit—whether young or old, well or sick, rich or poor—that of regular health examination. It is one thing the Jackson County Health Unit is making a great effort to encourage.
