

The Weather

Cloudy and unsettled tonight and Tuesday, with showers, N or much change in temperature.

MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE

MEDFORD, OREGON, MONDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1929.

Temperatures

Highest yesterday 46
Lowest this morning 37
24-hr. precipitation to 5 a.m. .23 in.

No. 198.

Today

By Arthur Brisbane

The Lambs Retire. Offering Prizes. Selling Short. Kemal and Zog.

(Copyright by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Wall Street's spasm, at the end of the week, with many innocent lambs shaken out on their little heads by margin calls, proves the danger of mixing in crowds.

When the crowd is gambling and its members get frightened all at the same time, danger is very great.

Millions have been gambling in stocks, utterly ignorant of values. When a scare comes, everybody runs at once, and stocks are thrown overboard, often sacrificed.

The wise, that look on and wait, profit by the folly of the ignorant.

Stocks today are worth more than they were a week ago. But, with fright, everything is suspected. The late Richard Croker quoted a friend who lost heavily on race tracks: 'I would not bet again, if the horse, himself, told me he could win.'

He did bet again, of course, and lambs that are nursing their wounds, vowing 'never again,' will come back to buy at higher prices.

Experience can cure many things, but not drugs or gambling.

The Bethlehem Mines Corporation gives many prizes of $50 to individual miners for 'cleanliness and general appearance of their homes and streets.'

It's an excellent idea, of which the miners might show appreciation by offering the company officials individual prizes for arranging of better wages, more leisure, better homes.

There is nothing like good pay and leisure to improve appearances.

One feature of the Stock Exchange Saturday was a well organized bear attack on the big Steel Trust stock. Such attacks may or may not prove profitable for a while, during times of selling.

But those that sell short United States Steel, or any other great American industry, are in for a bad financial headache.

Don't gamble. And don't be frightened into selling stocks well chosen, if you can hold on.

Kemal Pasha, powerful Turk who threatens even Mussolini.

(Continued on Page Four)

Mrs. Teghorn Sharp has a daughter in a trust in a well eastern school for girls. Anyhow when Mussolini resigns a portfolio we know he wazz fired.

LOCAL MAN KILLED ON DEER HUNT

Edgar Chamberlain Shot in Knee Near Pinehurst By C. M. Cooper, Dies From Loss of Blood - Twin Brother, Edwin, Third Member Party - Shooter Grief Stricken.

Edgar Chamberlain, 30, an auto mechanic of this city, was shot Sunday afternoon for a deer by C. M. Cooper, his hunting companion, in the Chingapin district near Pinehurst. Chamberlain died last night at the Community hospital in Ashland from loss of blood.

Chamberlain was shot through the leg near the knee as he was crawling on his hands and knees through the brush, according to the coroner. The bullet from a high-power rifle pierced an artery and a first-aid tourniquet applied to stay the flow. The wounded man was rushed to Ashland in an automobile.

Chamberlain, with his twin brother, Edward, and Cooper, all residents of this city, left yesterday morning for a hunt. They separated, Cooper told the coroner that while beating through the timber his attention was attracted by a noise in the brush. He fired at a distance of 150 feet. A shriek of pain and a cry for help answered the rifle's sharp report.

Cooper rushed to the side of his wounded companion and hastily applied a bandage and then hurried to a nearby inn for aid. Chamberlain's brother, hunting higher up a hill, heard his cries and rushed to his side. The accident occurred about 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, the wounded man dying last night at 9:30 o'clock.

Heavy Blood Loss At the hospital it was revealed that Chamberlain was exhausted from a heavy loss of blood. According to Dr. H. W. Haynes, the attending physician, his pulse was barely noticeable when he reached the hospital.

Cooper told Coroner H. W. Conger that he fired only when he was positive that he was shooting at a deer. He was grief stricken by the tragedy. The fact that Chamberlain was crawling on his hands and knees is believed to have caused Cooper to fire, under the impression his target was a deer.

Chamberlain and Cooper were employees of the Lewis Super-Servico Station. Chamberlain is survived by a wife and other relatives.

Coroner Conger announced that an inquest would be held, probably late today.

All the principals in the first hunting tragedy in seven years in this section are well known in this city.

Coroner H. W. Conger said this afternoon that the matter of calling an inquest into the death of Chamberlain had not been definitely decided.

The coroner said that in statements before he died, Chamberlain said that he was "running from the shot" as the fatal shot was fired. The coroner took this to mean that he was in a stooped position. Chamberlain could give no reason for running, the coroner said.

Chamberlain, the coroner said, declared in the hospital that the shot was so close he thought it was his own gun.

Cooper, grief-stricken and nerve shattered by the tragedy, threw his rifle away and swore never to hunt again, the coroner said. He and Chamberlain were fellow-workmen, and warm friends.

Cooper said that he fired under the impression that he was shooting at a much closer distance, and that Chamberlain was facing Cooper, as the bullet entered the front part of the knee.

Amputation of the leg would have been necessary, the coroner said, and the doctors were preparing for this operation when the end came.

The authorities will probably question Cooper again, when he has recovered somewhat from his present grief and distraction. In the first shock of the tragedy, none of the principals have been able to tell a connected story.

PORTLAND, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Hunting accidents took two lives in Oregon yesterday and sent a Washington boy to a hospital with a torn lung and his face mangled.

Russell Starr, 16, of Corvallis high school student and athlete, was shot to death accidentally by Clinton Lewis, his companion, while hunting in a Benton county slough. Just as Lewis fired at a

(Continued on Page Eight)

Burning Prison With Mutiny At Its Height

This Associated Press telephoto gives an air view of the penitentiary at Canon City, Colo., taken during the revolt of convicts. Dark building at left is the cell house from which the mutineers threw bodies of guards from the upper left window.

DOCTOR SOULE GOES ON TRIAL IN DRUG CASE

Klamath Falls Medic Faces Charge of Providing Dope for Addict On Commercial Basis - Many Attend Court Hearing.

Under cross examination by the defense this afternoon in the trial of Dr. A. A. Soule of Klamath Falls, charged with illegal dispensing of narcotics, Fred G. McDonald testified that at his own request to break the chains of the habit he had been confined in the Jackson county jail. He said he had cured himself of the addiction, and "I have been off the stuff since September 18."

McDonald testified that he had requested Dr. F. G. Swedberg of Ashland to supply him with a drug prescription, but denied that he had represented himself as being on the verge of collapse. He said Dr. Swedberg had refused to grant his request, but had loaned him $5 at his request.

The witness declared that the federal narcotics agents investigated his case at his own request and that he had implored the physician and other Klamath doctors "not to give him shots," as he was able to break himself of the drug habit.

McDonald also told of his self-imposed imprisonment in the Klamath county jail, as a self-imposed cure, and to prove that "I could leave it alone."

He said he had entered an Ashland sanitarium but was forced to seek attention elsewhere and had entered the Jackson county jail, where he received treatment.

F. B. Davis of Seattle, Wash., a narcotic agent, followed McDonald on the stand and identified drug pills and prescriptions as obtained by McDonald in the office of Dr. Soule.

A number of Klamath and Jackson county physicians will be called by the defense as witnesses.

Trial of Dr. A. A. Soule, prominent Klamath Falls physician, charged with violation of the Harrison Narcotic act, began in the federal court this morning, Judge Robert S. Bean presiding. A jury was selected, opening statements of both sides made, and Fred G. McDonald, star witness for the government called to the stand.

The defense contends that Dr. Soule administered narcotics to McDonald, as a "act of mercy, within the province of medical practitioners," and that McDonald preyed upon his sympathies to secure evidence. "They held that the drugs prescribed for McDonald were made to alleviate suffering, and in the course of legitimate practice."

The government held that the prescriptions were furnished "on a commercial basis for profit," and that Dr. Soule stepped beyond the medical limitations provided in the Harrison act, prohibiting supplying of drugs, to confirmed addicts. Its use upon a physician's orders is permissible under the law in incurable diseases, for the relief of pain in the aged, and to thwart death.

McDonald the first witness testified that he had resided in this city and Klamath Falls for several years, but employed as a salaried instructor. He admitted he had been a drug addict since 1923, "off and on." The defense declared he had been employed as a Boy Scout and Girl Scout worker at Lake o the Woods camp last summer.

Identifies Prescriptions. McDonald identified a dozen prescriptions, introduced as evidence, as having been purchased by him from Dr. Soule in his Klamath Falls office, and described to the jury how he had been searched by federal narcotic agents before each purchase. He testified the drug was taken from him by the agents in the hallway after the alleged purchase.

McDonald testified that he had

Word was received this morning by the Rogue River Traffic association that truck drivers of New York City had joined the teamsters in a dock strike, and that fruit from this district arriving Sunday was being held on barges, pending settlement of the strike. It is estimated there are 55 cars of Rogue River Bartlett's, subject to the hazards of the strike, and its continuation for three or four days would cause heavy financial loss to local growers and shippers.

The Bartlett's reached New York in prime condition for quick transportation to the market, and the strike prevents delivery, and consequent loss.

Rogue river boatmen shipments in the strike zone can be placed in storage.

There was no sale of fruit on the New York market today.

A telegram from the Erie railroad said that the fruit cars were being held on barges, and not switched to the yards. This would simplify re-shipment if necessary.

Local shippers said that the continuation of the strike for three or four days would "demonize ship-

CHARACTER OF DANGER IS ASSAILED

Relations of Eunice Pringle and Nick Duneav, Playwright, Used As Backfire By Accused Theater Magnate - Cross Examination of Girl Resumed This Morning.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The social relations of Eunice Pringle, dancer and college student, and Nick Duneav, playwright, became the center of the defense case today as trial of the 17-year-old girl's statutory charge against Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire theater owner, entered its second week.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Cross examination of Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer and college student, was resumed today as trial of the girl's statutory charge against Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire theater owner, entered its second week.

Shortly before the opening of court, District Attorney Burin Pitts said that a secret indictment returned by the county grand jury Saturday was for Harold Dolly, a private detective, who was named by Ivan R. T. Samsonoff as the man who asked him to give "Mr. Pantages a break." Samsonoff is a state witness.

Pitts said a warrant probably would be served on the man today.

STRIKE HALTS VALLEY PEARS GOTHAM DOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The city was threatened with a shortage of fresh vegetables and fruits today as a strike of 2000 union market truckmen paralyzed movement of produce from rail terminals and docks.

Over the week-end 2000 carloads of food, valued at $5,000,000 accumulated in railroad yards with additional arrivals increasing the congestion hourly.

Word was received this morning by the Rogue River Traffic association that truck drivers of New York City had joined the teamsters in a dock strike, and that fruit from this district arriving Sunday was being held on barges, pending settlement of the strike. It is estimated there are 55 cars of Rogue River Bartlett's, subject to the hazards of the strike, and its continuation for three or four days would cause heavy financial loss to local growers and shippers.

The Bartlett's reached New York in prime condition for quick transportation to the market, and the strike prevents delivery, and consequent loss.

Rogue river boatmen shipments in the strike zone can be placed in storage.

There was no sale of fruit on the New York market today.

A telegram from the Erie railroad said that the fruit cars were being held on barges, and not switched to the yards. This would simplify re-shipment if necessary.

Local shippers said that the continuation of the strike for three or four days would "demonize ship-

TEACHERS OPEN TWO-DAY MEET AT HI SCHOOL

Institute Hears Training School Head On Delinquent Boy Problem - Prof. Conkle Presides - Mayor Extends Greetings.

"The average boy who is sent to the Oregon State Training School at Woodburn, has a higher intelligence quotient than the average boy in the public schools who has never been in any trouble," this statement was one of the many interesting ones made by W. H. Baillie, superintendent of the institution, who was the guest speaker of this afternoon's session of the teacher's institute, which opened this morning at the local senior high school.

That it is generally the boy brimming over with ideas and energy—the boy who wants to do things and consequently does too much—who enters the reform school, was also brought out by the speaker. Mr. Baillie noted that out of the number of boys who have been paroled from that institution during the past 20 years, only six per cent have found their way into the penitentiary.

"The boy who comes to us," said the superintendent, "is one who has been given up by his parents, his teachers, the police and society. He generally comes in with the corner of his mouth turned down and a leer on his lips. He hates everybody, because he believes that everybody is against him, and that everything he wants to do is taboo by society. Let me tell you, from actual experience, in many cases we have been able to change the boy's entire attitude toward the world in 15 minutes' time."

Mr. Baillie said that the period directly after a boy has been released from the training school is the most difficult one of his training. If he goes on with his schooling, his teacher is apt to avoid all that has been done for him—either by over-kindness, or over-toughness.

The boy does not want to be sorted out in one way or another. He wants to be one of the crowd. Above all, no boy wants to be lectured—especially the one who finds his way into our school. So we never lecture. We talk to him as one man to another, and make him discover for himself the right and constructive attitude toward society," he said.

The teacher's institute opened at 8:30 this morning with registration in the senior high school. Due to the illness of County Superintendent of Schools Suzanne Holmes Carter, the various announcements were made by Principal B. H. Conkle of the high school, who presided during the morning and afternoon sessions.

Greetings were extended to the 150 or more teachers in attendance by Mayor A. W. Pines. "Tons and Materials" was the subject covered by L. L. Love, professor of vocational education at O. R. C., another guest speaker for the occasion, who gave his address during the morning session. F. E. Carleton, secretary of the Oregon State Teachers' association, gave an interesting resume of the work accomplished during the past year's that organization. The meeting will extend through tomorrow.

Heavy Hitters to Vie Outside of the pitching, the series promises to be a spectacular contest between the heavy hitting Cub army, featuring Hornsby, Wilson, Severson and Taylor, and the slugger Mack cast, boasting a superior battery defense, plus an attack starring Al Simmons and Jimmy Fox.

It will be one of the high spots of the series to see whether the great Hornsby and the slugger Mack will do more damage with their war clubs than Simmons and Fox, the young Mack Seige guns. This quarter contributed a grand total of 146 home runs during the regular season. They may burst a few world's series records, if they get the range, even though the well known Mr. Ruth has left considerable for them to shoot at.

The Cubs, after being routed in their last two games by the Reds and Pirates, expected to tune up for the series with an hour's drill at noon today. The Athletics, still trimming the former champion Yankees two straight, were due to reach Chicago late this afternoon. They declined an invitation to work out at Wrigley field and will not be seen in uniform until practice before the roar that starts the first game tomorrow at 1:30 p. m., central standard time.

With all reserved seats sold hundreds of fans prepared today to take up the vigil outside the park and stick it out all night to make sure of a place when 12,500 bleacher seats at $1 go on sale at 8 a. m., or earlier tomorrow. An hour later 2500 standing room tickets for the grandstand go on sale.

Oregon Weather Oregon: Cloudy and unsettled tonight and Tuesday with showers in the west portion, not much change in temperature. Moderate westerly winds on the coast.

Baseball Classic May Be Another Million Dollar Party - 50,000 Fans Expected for Opener in Chicago - A's 7 to 5 Favorites - Earnshaw and Root May Pitch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The weather man, after going into a huddle with his various instruments today, held out promise of generally fair weather with not much change in temperature, for the opening game of the world series tomorrow.

By ALAN GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor (CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Baseball's "biggest show on earth" comes to town tomorrow, featuring the highly trained White Elephants of Cornelius McGillicuddy and the Battling Brains of Joseph McCarthy in the main event of the game's colorful carnival.

Stripped of the billboard phrases it's the Philadelphia Athletics against the Chicago Cubs for the world's championship, the honors that go with it and perhaps the richest money reward for the participants in series history.

It will be another million-dollar party, the first since 1926, if the battle between the American and National league champions goes as far as five games, as it seems quite likely to do. Six games, at the rate of a shade over $200,000 per game and a sell-out already assured, might top the previous record "gate" of $1,207,846, set by the Yankees and Cardinals in 1926. A struggle to the limit of seven games certainly would establish a new money record.

HEAVY GATE TO FEATURE 1929 SERIES

Baseball Classic May Be Another Million Dollar Party - 50,000 Fans Expected for Opener in Chicago - A's 7 to 5 Favorites - Earnshaw and Root May Pitch.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The weather man, after going into a huddle with his various instruments today, held out promise of generally fair weather with not much change in temperature, for the opening game of the world series tomorrow.

By ALAN GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor (CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Baseball's "biggest show on earth" comes to town tomorrow, featuring the highly trained White Elephants of Cornelius McGillicuddy and the Battling Brains of Joseph McCarthy in the main event of the game's colorful carnival.

Stripped of the billboard phrases it's the Philadelphia Athletics against the Chicago Cubs for the world's championship, the honors that go with it and perhaps the richest money reward for the participants in series history.

It will be another million-dollar party, the first since 1926, if the battle between the American and National league champions goes as far as five games, as it seems quite likely to do. Six games, at the rate of a shade over $200,000 per game and a sell-out already assured, might top the previous record "gate" of $1,207,846, set by the Yankees and Cardinals in 1926. A struggle to the limit of seven games certainly would establish a new money record.

Expect 50,000 Fans Fully 50,000 fans, a record for any series game ever played outside of New York, are expected to jam Wrigley field to the limits of its bleacher extensions tomorrow for the battle that renews a baseball rivalry between Philadelphia and Chicago of 19 years ago. It marks the re-entry of Connie Mack's Athletics into the series for the first time in 15 years and the Cubs after a lapse of 11 years.

Nineteen years ago the proud Cubs of Frank Chance's era were heavy favorites, only to be trimmed in a five-game series.

Tomorrow the Athletics, still directed by the veteran, Mack, will go into the fray favored to win by the betting at 7 to 5 as well as by most experts, in spite of the favorable influences of home grounds and a home-town crowd for the clouting Cubs. History may repeat itself with another upset of the "dope," for the Battling Bruins are unmistakably rarin' to go and die for the dear old National league, if necessary.

The batteries for the opening game were expected to be Earnshaw and Cochrane for the Athletics, Root and Taylor for the Cubs, thereby putting two powerful right handers against each other in the first pitchers' skirmish.

Heavy Hitters to Vie Outside of the pitching, the series promises to be a spectacular contest between the heavy hitting Cub army, featuring Hornsby, Wilson, Severson and Taylor, and the slugger Mack cast, boasting a superior battery defense, plus an attack starring Al Simmons and Jimmy Fox.

It will be one of the high spots of the series to see whether the great Hornsby and the slugger Mack will do more damage with their war clubs than Simmons and Fox, the young Mack Seige guns. This quarter contributed a grand total of 146 home runs during the regular season. They may burst a few world's series records, if they get the range, even though the well known Mr. Ruth has left considerable for them to shoot at.

The Cubs, after being routed in their last two games by the Reds and Pirates, expected to tune up for the series with an hour's drill at noon today. The Athletics, still trimming the former champion Yankees two straight, were due to reach Chicago late this afternoon. They declined an invitation to work out at Wrigley field and will not be seen in uniform until practice before the roar that starts the first game tomorrow at 1:30 p. m., central standard time.

With all reserved seats sold hundreds of fans prepared today to take up the vigil outside the park and stick it out all night to make sure of a place when 12,500 bleacher seats at $1 go on sale at 8 a. m., or earlier tomorrow. An hour later 2500 standing room tickets for the grandstand go on sale.

Oregon Weather Oregon: Cloudy and unsettled tonight and Tuesday with showers in the west portion, not much change in temperature. Moderate westerly winds on the coast.

Saans Rob Victims of Auto Crash Portland

PORTLAND, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Struck by an automobile on a downtown street corner here yesterday and removed unconscious, Mrs. John Moffitt of Bend was the victim of a thief who stole $1050 in currency which she was carrying wrapped up in an old newspaper. She had arrived in Portland Saturday.

she told police, to deposit the money in a bank.

Two elderly women assisted her to the curb after she had been struck. It was then that she discovered her large roll of bills had been taken.

BALM SUIT OF PASTOR DISMISSED

Two Letters to Mrs. Kennedy Basis of Action By Seattle Judge - Lack of Evidence Shown - Asked Her for Money After Refusal to Marry, Is Gist of Correspondence.

SEATTLE, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The $50,000 breach of promise suit filed by the Rev. H. E. Clark against Mrs. Minnie E. Kennedy, Los Angeles evangelist and mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, was thrown out of court here today.

Superior Judge J. T. Ronald dismissed the suit for "lack of evidence." Counsel for Mrs. Kennedy had asked dismissal of the suit on the grounds that Clark, a former Seattle minister, had failed to prove that he had been financially damaged because of his relations with Mrs. Kennedy and that his plans for religious work were ruined.

The decision was made as court opened today after lengthy arguments on the motion Saturday. Clark had alleged that Mrs. Kennedy had obtained his consent to marry her and then refused to go through with the ceremony, leaving him "morally unfit" to carry on his work.

Judge Ronald indicated that he had dismissed the suit because of two letters which Clark had written to Mrs. Kennedy, asking for money. The letters were written after the Los Angeles woman had refused to marry Clark.

Oil Man Billed The investigation was started at the request of Clifford R. Dabney, wealthy Venice, Cal., oil operator who alleges that after becoming a member of the cult, he advanced approximately $40,000 to Mrs. Blackburn, pending the completion of a book she was writing, to be known as "The Sixth Seal," and upon which the colony based its beliefs. Mrs. Blackburn's arrest on an embezzlement charge disclosed some of the activities of the cult which brought investigators leading to the discovery of the girl's body.

Her husband standing silently by, Mrs. Rhoads told investigators that her stepdaughter had died of influenza, Jan. 1, 1925. Believing that she would be resurrected, the body was placed in an improvised, copper-lined casket made by Mr. Rhoads, packed in ice and for more than a year had been transported from one dwelling to another as the family changed dwellings. Despairing of the resurrection that never came, Mrs. Rhoads told officers that the burial took place February 10, 1926.

HOOPER-M'DONALD DISCUSSING PEACE WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald in a joint statement today said gratifying progress had been made in the review of all questions that might give rise to friction between Great Britain and the United States.

"We have frankly reviewed all questions that might give rise to friction between our peoples," the announcement said. "Gratifying progress has been made and the conversations are continuing."

The statement was made immediately after the arrival of the chief executive and the British statesman at the White House after their week end at Mr. Hoover's Rapidan camp where they conversed intimately in the rustic setting.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—(AP) Stock prices made further recovery in today's market but several soft spots developed as shares sought for supporting purposes last week were known back into the market. Scores of issues were marked up 2 to 10 points and Columbia Carbon soared 35 3/4 to a new high record at $22 1/2.

Trading was in fairly heavy volume, with the ticker showing an average delay of about 20 minutes during the morning.

Credit conditions were somewhat easier. Call money dropped from 1/2 to 3/8 per cent, and the time money market displayed an easy undertone. The weekly federal reserve brokers' loan statement is awaited with considerable interest in the hope that it will throw some light on the extent of real liquidation in last week's break. New financing, which has been held up by the recent decline in prices is again making its appearance on a large scale, the $40,000,000 Marine Midland Corporation issue being advertised this morning, with all the stock reported as sold.

Bridegroom Killed. BAKER, Ore., Oct. 7.—(AP)—A bridegroom of but one day, Coy Douglas of Burns, was killed near here yesterday when the automobile in which he and his bride were riding overturned on the Dooley Mountain highway.

GIRL'S BODY HELD IN ICE BY CULTERS

California Religious Outfit Discloses Remains of 16-Year-Old Willa Rhodes Held for Resurrection for More Than Year - Four Persons Are Held By Police.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—(AP) Belief that Willa Rhoads, 14-year-old adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rhoads, from under whose beach residence the girl's body was removed from its three year old grave yesterday was sacrificed as a part of the weird ritual of a religious cult, was expressed today by Captain B. W. Thomson of the police bureau.

Thomson advanced this theory after perusal of a number of documents relating to cult activities which were said to have been found in the Rhoads residence.

The finding of Willa's body, and subsequent confession of several members of the Divine Order of the Royal Arm of the Great Seal, has resulted in the holding by police of four persons involved in operations of the cult. Chief among these are Mrs. Martha Rhoads and her husband, William, Foster parents of the dead girl. The others are Mrs. Otis Blackburn, so-called high priestess of the cult and her daughter Mrs. Ruth Angelina Willard Rizzo.

Police investigators have uncovered an amazing story of religious cultism in which the belief of resurrection caused the body of the girl to be preserved in ice for more than a year before it was finally buried in a shallow grave, alongside a casket containing the bodies of seven dogs, beneath the bedrooms of the Rhoads home.

The dogs had been sacrificed to the dead girl and, according to the story told by Mrs. Rhoads, represented the seven tones of Gabriel's trumpet which should proclaim resurrection morn.

The investigation was started at the request of Clifford R. Dabney, wealthy Venice, Cal., oil operator who alleges that after becoming a member of the cult, he advanced approximately $40,000 to Mrs. Blackburn, pending the completion of a book she was writing, to be known as "The Sixth Seal," and upon which the colony based its beliefs. Mrs. Blackburn's arrest on an embezzlement charge disclosed some of the activities of the cult which brought investigators leading to the discovery of the girl's body.

Her husband standing silently by, Mrs. Rhoads told investigators that her stepdaughter had died of influenza, Jan. 1, 1925. Believing that she would be resurrected, the body was placed in an improvised, copper-lined casket made by Mr. Rhoads, packed in ice and for more than a year had been transported from one dwelling to another as the family changed dwellings. Despairing of the resurrection that never came, Mrs. Rhoads told officers that the burial took place February 10, 1926.

HOOPER-M'DONALD DISCUSSING PEACE WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald in a joint statement today said gratifying progress had been made in the review of all questions that might give rise to friction between Great Britain and the United States.

"We have frankly reviewed all questions that might give rise to friction between our peoples," the announcement said. "Gratifying progress has been made and the conversations are continuing."

The statement was made immediately after the arrival of the chief executive and the British statesman at the White House after their week end at Mr. Hoover's Rapidan camp where they conversed intimately in the rustic setting.

Will Rogers Says: BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 7.—Lest you forget, King George and the Prince of Wales are also from the same country as Premier MacDonald. Yours, WILL ROGERS.