

YOUNG PRISONER ESCAPES COUNTY JAIL FOR A DAY

Probably the youngest prisoner ever in the new county jail and the first to escape in 11-year-old Maurice Shelley of Seattle, apprehended as a runaway boy by local officers here Saturday and then arrested the next day south of Ashland by Traffic Sergeant C. P. Talent as a burglar suspect, Weston W. Wells, 23 years old, was arrested with the boy and will be held on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

When the youngster, who could pass as a primary school student, was apprehended here the first time, he was placed in the women's ward and refused to talk about himself when questioned by Jailor Oscar Dunford. He was left in the ward and it was little thought the boy would attempt to escape, but Saturday night, probably around 10 o'clock, he effected through a small space afforded by the opening of a transom and gained his liberty.

After escaping, Maurice found his way to the Isis theatre where he appropriated the use of a bicycle, according to a confession he made yesterday, and rode to Ashland. Upon arriving there, he confessed, he broke into the Bridge Service station and took a small amount of cocaine. He spent the night lounging around Ashland hotel lobbies.

Yesterday he struck up an acquaintance with Weston Wells, a former Medford youth and chauffeur for Frank's Commission here last year, and suggested the burglary of the Walters Grocery store. Officer Talent related this forenoon. Wells declined to take part but is said to have encouraged the youngster to try it, adding that he had better wait until evening, but Maurice was anxious and broke in through a back door. He returned to Wells in a short time and the latter is alleged to have accepted half of the six dollars or so the boy said he took out of the store. The pair then had a little lunch and left on foot for the south.

The robbery of the store was discovered on the same day and it was not long until the pair were in the custody of officers. Wells told Officer Talent he had been in jail in Marysville, Sacramento and San Francisco on vagrancy charges. The boy's father resides in Seattle and his name is given as C. J. Shelley. The boy was stopped in Portland by officers as a runaway, but was later released and was in Medford a week after he left Seattle.

FOX USHERETTES DON NIFTY GARB

The young lady ushers of the Criterion and Rialto theaters blossomed forth in new and striking uniforms yesterday of which the new Fox ownership and management are very proud, the uniform of each theater being in conformity with the furnishings of that play house. The young ladies will pardon the assertion that no garb can enhance their natural beauty and accommodating sweetness.

The Criterion theater blues are made of gray flannel with blue, gold and red stripes. They are very tight fitting to the waist, then flare in a very becoming way. Blue velvet is used for trimming, with large blue buttons, and a very chic stand-up collar. The trousers are of white flannel, and cut in the very latest style.

At the Rialto theater the uniforms are generally the same except that the blouses are of dark red with grey buttons and trimmings, and the trousers are grey in color.

NORTH AIR MAIL CLOSURES AT 7 A. M.

Because of a change inaugurated by the PAT company to shorten the time of the northbound air mail service, beginning with tomorrow, by which the northbound plane will depart from here at 7:30 a. m. instead of 8:30, as heretofore, the air mail at the postoffice will close at 7 a. m. instead of 7:30 a. m.

The Medford postoffice began advertising today for bids on mail-messenger service between the postoffice and new airport. The advertisement will be run for 10 days, at the end of which time the bids will be forwarded to the post-office department headquarters for the successful bidder to be chosen. The new contract is necessitated by the fact that the new airport is much further from the postoffice, three and one-half miles, than the old airport. Frank N. Brazil holds the present contract for air-mail-messenger service between the postoffice and the old airport, about two miles distant by the route this service takes.

DR. SOULE GOES ON TRIAL

asked Dr. Soule not to give him any more drugs and his wife had made the same request, as he was endeavoring to cure himself. He described himself as "being on and off the staff."

The witness, in recounting the alleged sales, said that he asked Dr. Soule for drugs, and that the physician gave him a phial. He said he made "ready to shoot the staff with my own staff," but slipped the drug into his pocket, and took the injection. His testimony that he "wanted to stop the sales of drug," was halted by the court.

Most of the morning session was devoted to the introduction of evidence, with spirited exchanges between opposing counsel. The government is represented by U. S. District Attorney George Noster and Assistant Francis E. March. The defense is represented by Attorney George Roberts of this city, and Attorney Horace Manning of Klamath Falls.

Many Klamath Falls residents were in attendance at the trial as spectators and witnesses. A large amount of expert medical and technical testimony will be offered, it is expected.

LOCAL VOCALISTS HOME FROM RADIO AUDITION

Thrilled and happy over the chance they received to appear in the state Atwater Kent contest last Saturday night, and still appreciative over the interest expressed in them by home town people before their departure for the northern city, Ellow Mae Wilson, soprano, and George Decham, bass, returned to Medford last night to await results. James Stevens, local instructor, who has had the two young singers in training since they won the local audition last May, stayed over in Portland and will return the end of the week.

As the contest is to be judged 50 percent upon the public vote all over the state, and 40 percent upon the vote of five musical judges, the results of the Saturday night contest will not be known until a later date, when a check is completed. But whether successful or not, the two young Medford singers feel that their experiences have been worth every bit of the effort put forth. Their expenses to the Portland audition were paid by the People's Electric here, who sponsored the local audition.

ARREST TRIO ON ALCOHOL CHARGE DURING WEEKEND

Two more men, E. N. Horan and Jack Sousa, are in the toils of the law for alleged defiance of the prohibition law, following their arrest early yesterday morning by Federal Agent Terry Talent and Deputy Sheriff Sam Prescott in the Siskiyou mountains. The two officers seized 60 gallons of alleged alcohol and a new Oakland coupe. In Medford Saturday night, Officer Talent arrested Donald Ray, taxi driver, for selling a pint of alleged alcohol, and seized the taxi he was driving, a Ford Black and White cab.

Sousa and Horan gave their home in Sacramento and their route to Portland and other northern points. They were scheduled to have a hearing before United States Commissioner Chauncey Flores this afternoon on charges of possession and transportation. The coupe they were driving is entirely owned by Horan and had been driven only 7000 miles.
