PHEASANT SEASON OPENING TUESDAY WITH FEW BIRDS

With the open season for Chinese pheasants beginning with sunrise tomorrow, also for mountain or plumed and California, or valley, quail, to last until October 31, and with the deer and duck hunting seasons still on, these are halcyon days for the local sportsmen.

The law provides for a bag limit of four Chinias in any one day and not more than eight in any consecutive seven days, but no more than one female pheasant can be shot in any consecutive seven days. The bag limit for quail is 10 of such birds in any seven consecutive days.
