

WRIGLEY OPENS PURSE TO HIRE DIAMOND STARS

Owner of Cubs Planning Better Team For 1930 —Dazzy Vance and Third Baseman Whitney Are Reported Among Those Sought.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—(AP) William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the down-hearted Cubs, promises some more interesting news items for the hot stove league this winter.

Back home from Philadelphia where his Bruins absorbed their final world series knockout punch, Wrigley already is planning and looking forward to 1930. His big bankroll is out again and he is after one or two established pitching stars and a third baseman who can hit as well as field.

Dazzy Vance, speed ball king from Brooklyn, is reported to be one hurler Wrigley is desirous of buying, while Third Baseman Whitney of Philadelphia also is linked in the rumors flying around Cub circles.

Wrigley, who refused to discuss the Rogers Hornsby deal last winter until it was sealed, admits a move is on to strengthen the Cubs for another National league pennant dash in 1930 and another try for a world's title.

"We'll be back next year stronger than ever, and maybe we'll have some breaks, too," he said.

The Cub team, which received a rousing homecoming reception yesterday, was scattered today, while the business office began the task of making refunds for the sixth world series game that never will be played. A special window will be opened in the Boulevard Bridge bank tomorrow and those holding tickets for the game will be reimbursed. Approximately $200,000 will be sent back to fans.

WEBFEET RECOVERED FROM STANFORD TILT

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 16.—(AP) Injuries received by University of Oregon gridmen in the clash with Stanford university at Palo Alto have been wiped off the slate and indications are that the varsity will be ready for the battle with the University of Idaho in Portland Saturday, with all players in tip-top shape.

The Oregon team has been hitting some hard drill this week in preparation for the Vandals. Logs to Idaho would put Oregon way down in the list in conference competition, since the Webfeet already have the Stanford loss on their list.

CALLISON LOSES THREE THROUGH INELIGIBILITY

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 16.—(AP) Three freshmen football players have been lost to Coach Prink Callison by the ineligible route, and 13 others are wavering, according to a university announcement. Howard Dirks, fullback; Charles Hoag, half, and Herb Koessel, lineman, are the ineligible. None was on the first team of Oregon frosh, though Dirks and Hoag were on the second squad.

Bad Stomach Cause of Bad Skin

You can't expect to have a good clear fresh-looking complexion if your stomach is weak and disordered.

Indigestible food sends poisons through your whole body, pimples appear in your face, skin grows scaly and muddy and loses its color. Your tongue becomes coated, breath most unpleasant. But these troubles will end quickly and skin clear up if you will start today taking that simple herbal compound known to druggists as Tanlac.

Tanlac contains nothing but herbs, bark and roots which have a cleansing, healing effect on a poor upset stomach. Just a teaspoonful before each meal stimulates the digestion naturally so that you can eat what you want without fear of distress. And when your stomach is in good shape again see how much keener your appetite is—watch how quickly skin begins to grow free of disturbing eruptions. The cost of Tanlac is less than 2c a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

Low Fonseca Voted Most Valuable Player of American League in 1929

By Alan Gould. Associated Press Sports Editor. NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—(AP) Lew Fonseca, Cleveland first baseman and new batting champion of the American league, is the "most valuable player" of the league for 1929.

1929, based upon the decision of a committee of baseball writers representing each city in the circuit.

At the request of the sports editor of the Associated Press, this committee named by the baseball writers covering the world's series, cast its ballots in the absence of an official selection by the American league, which abolished this year the award it had made annually since 1922. The National league makes its last official selection this year, to be announced later.

The veteran Fonseca won the unofficial contest from contenders

What Price Glory Stars at Craterian in Cock-Eyed World

A couple of leatherneck Don Juans! That's a trite way to characterize Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen as "Sergeant Quirt" and "Top Sergeant Flagg" in the Fox Movietone all talking production, "The Cock-Eyed World," which opens at the Craterian today.

Based on a story written by Lawrence Stallings and Max Anderson, who co-authored the unforgettable "What Price Glory," Lowe and McLaglen are still in the marines, though it is peace time, but plays of fighting in the tropics—and between themselves.

Pala, buddies, brothers, everything is great until one falls for a "femme." Then each claims priority.

Of their many love affairs, three stick out prominently: one in the tropics with the gorgeous Lily Damila, another in cold Russia with the fascinating Lolla Karnelly, and the third at Coney Island with a real, flip American girl, Jean Barb.

Merchants Partially Responsible for Trading Away From Home—"Bill"

"There is hardly a day that I do not hear of some instance about how people spend their money out of town for goods and find when they receive them that the goods have been made near at hand. One of the most amusing cases is taken from the Dublin (Ga.) Record. It is as follows:

YOU WILL NEVER GET STUNG BY THE HOME MERCHANTS, THEY CAN AFFORD TO DO BUSINESS THAT WAY

"One of the best illustrations of the mail order joke came to our attention recently: A lady living in the small town of Belton in the center of the textile belt of South Carolina ordered some towels from a mail order house, paying 25 cents each for them. They seemed to be a great bargain.

"The money went from her town and the towels came back. They were all that had been claimed for them. On the brand name was a stamp: 'Made by HALF next door neighbor from the mill and she could have bought the towels for $2.25 a dozen at home."

"This is merely a clear illustration of the necessity for town builders to look around before sending money away. It is also clear that merchants have mail order prices beaten to a frazzle, but will never get the business of their own neighbors unless they tell them that they have the goods by advertising in their home paper. Advertising is the merchant's only weapon against mail order houses. Mr. Merchant—advertise what you have to sell. It pays the mail order house, and it will also pay the home merchants who advertise regularly.

"It is well," said "Bill" Dollar, "for people to think of their duty to the home town before they send their money away. And it is not only money that is sent away, but credit information is almost as bad. Witness the following as reported in the Merchants' Journal of Topeka, Kansas:

"Down at Henryetta, Okla., a merchant was asked by some mail order house for a credit rating on a party living in that town. The merchant gave the mail order house the desired information. Recently the mail order house sent the merchant this letter:

"Some time ago we addressed a letter to you asking for credit information regarding Mr. So and So. You very kindly replied and upon your recommendation the party was sold. We are very sorry to inform you that this obligation has not been kept and that no payment has been made on account. Inasmuch as this person was sold on the report that we received from you, we presume that you will have no objection in assisting us in collecting the amount, etc."

to be willing to stand back of them, hadn't he?"

"As the above happenings are true stories," said "Bill" Dollar, "it may be well to close the day with a fairy story.

"Once upon a time in the land of Uncle Sam, a colony of people organized themselves into a town. The town grew and waxed fat upon the produce of the land thereabouts, and the people dwelt happily under their own vines and fig trees and their tradesmen built emporiums of merchandise and all was well. Many people joined the colony from year to year until the town was a place of population and prosperity.

"But the time came when into the midst of the town crawled a serpent of discord, yea, the mail-order outsider, which whirped into the ears of people a siren song of bargains, the same being a table and a fake. Thereat the people thought they saw a good thing and they bit.

"In the course of events the merchants closed their doors and removed to other towns wherein the mail-order serpent had not entered. Large sunflowers grew up before the closed doors and grass grew in the streets, whereas the cows ate bountifully. It was fun for the cows, but death for the town!"

WOODALL CHOSEN TO MANAGE DUCK TEAM NEXT YEAR

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 16.—(AP) Tom Turner, president of the Portland baseball club, announced today that Larry Woodall, catcher for the Ducks, would succeed Bill Rodgers, resigned, and manage the team next year.

Turner's selection was received with surprise by baseball fans. Woodall had been mentioned, but it was thought Bill Essick, White Sox scout, or Cy Perkins, or George Burns of the Athletics had the best chance.

Turner said he had much confidence in Woodall and said it was Woodall's strategy behind the bat this year which won for Portland many games.

Woodall came to Portland this year from the Detroit Tigers. He was a first string catcher for Detroit eight years. Before that he attended the University of North Carolina. At present Woodall is in Washington, D. C., where he will remain until the first of the year. Woodall is married and has one child.

HUNTING ACCIDENT YARN BY SUSPECT HELD FABRICATION

ROSEBURG, Ore., Oct. 16.—(AP) Further evidence tending to refute the story given by the Carr brothers, held here as suspects in the blasting of a safe in a Grants Pass department store, was obtained today. Sheriff Jackson of this city, said.

Jackson said Sheriff Lister of Grants Pass told him in a telephone call today that he has checked the movements of the two men in Grants Pass on Friday, Saturday and Sunday and has found they were not on a hunting trip in Coos county at the time, as they claimed. Lister said he was positive that Harry Carr's hanged hand resulted from a premature explosion of the blast while attempting to open the safe, and not from a hunting accident.

Carr was to be moved from the hospital to the county jail today and will be taken to Grants Pass as soon as he is able to travel. No attempt has been made to secure a statement from either of the men as officers are first completing their investigations in order to have material with which to check against any statements the men may make.

SCHISSLER SQUAD RETAINS OPTIMISM

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 16.—(AP) All the dopsters are now taking the coming Stanford-Oregon State game at Palo Alto as settled in advance while they turn their attention to the "natural" the week following between the Cards and the Trojans which is supposed to settle the coast championship.

Strangely enough, Coach Schissler's men are not accepting the situation as settled and are leaving here for Palo Alto with no idea that "Pop" Warner's tricky giants are unbeatable nor that the Beavers have no chance to take part in another champion topling party.

NOTRE DAME COACH FINDS TEAM ALERT

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 16.—(AP) Knute Rockne is convinced his 1929 football team is alert above all other things.

Because of his ailing leg, Rockne directed his team in practice yesterday from an automobile and by means of a radio amplifier. The varsity was stopping Wisconsin plays consistently, so he called his assistant, Tom Lieb, and whispered a complicated Badger formation.

The reserves tried it and so completely did the university stop it that Rockne was mystified. Later, he discovered the reason.

The whispered conversation boomed out so loudly the players heard and memorized it yard away. For later whisperings the amplifier was turned off.

OUTSIDER VICTOR IN HISTORIC HANDICAP

NEWMARKET, Eng., Oct. 16.—(AP) West Wicklow, ridden by C. Richards, and an outsider, today won the historic Cesarewitch, England's great autumn handicap.

Friendship, ridden by Dines, was second, and Brown Jack, ridden by Steve Dunaghue, was third.

Mike Hall, rated as America's greatest cup horse and carrying the colors of Robert M. Eastman, of Chicago, was unplaced.

ARMY-NAVY GRIDIRON BATTLE MAY RESULT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(AP) Chairman Britten of the house naval committee, said after a call at the White House today he was confident West Point and Annapolis would resume football relations this year.

Britten said the president had evidenced a keen desire to have the two service institutions play this year. He added he had suggested it would be advisable for them to meet on Soldiers' Field in Chicago on December 8.
