 Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Thompson presided at the tea table.
New Norris Drama On Radio Tuesday
 A large number of local radio fans are expected to tune in on the Copco Players presentation of "The Best Man," a clever new radio drama from the pen of Miss Helen Norris, next Tuesday night. This new Norris play is said to have a decidedly modern plot and is full of interesting situations throughout. This will be the premier broadcast of "The Best Man" and is made possible through the courtesy of the California Oregon Power company.
Cecil Humphreys Entertains With Football Dinner Party
 Miss Cecil Humphreys was hostess for a "football" dinner party, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Humphreys, on Capitol Hill, Saturday evening. The table appointments were red and black, the Medford high school colors, with a football in the center and goal posts at each end. After the dinner, games and music formed the evening's entertainment.
 Covers were placed for Marian Moore, Frances Arnsperger, Marjorie Mulholland, Gertrude Boyle, Helen Stewart, Doris Patton, Dorothy Daniels, Katherine Stearns, Jane Robinson and the hostess.

A SPIRIT of safety pervades the social life of the city and valley this week. Halloween is just around the corner and the older folk have caught the spirit of the time as well as the children. Orange and black, grinning pumpkin faces, white sheets draped about youthful and older bodies, add to the effect of the whole.
 One of the leading social events of the week was the bridge luncheon for which Mrs. C. E. Gates and Mrs. J. A. Perry were hostesses on Saturday at the latter's home on West Main street. Of interest to a large group of friends was the announcement of the engagement of Miss Ansil Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Davis, to A. J. Wurts of this city. The wedding will be an event of early fall.
 A number of parties have been planned for the coming week and Halloween suggestions will be brought into fashion in a number of new and novel ways.
 Mesdames Gates and Perry Hostesses Bridge Luncheon
 Mrs. C. E. Gates and Mrs. J. A. Perry entertained at the second in a series of 1 o'clock luncheons Saturday afternoon at the latter's home on West Main street.
 Fall flowers and decorations were used for the appointments. Luncheon was served at six tables which were ornamented with small vases of rosebuds. Mrs. Maude Holmes assisted the hostesses.
 Favors in the bridge game were
