Chrysanthemum Circle Entertain Klamath Falls.
The members of Chrysanthemum circle No. 84, Neighbors of Woodcraft, are making elaborate plans for next Monday evening, when the local circle will entertain Ewana Circle of Klamath Falls.

A 6 o'clock dinner will be served in the I. O. O. F. banquet hall and circle will convene at 7:30 p. m. in the I. O. O. F. lodge hall.

There will be the regular order of business and Grand Representative Hiden will give her report. Any members of other circles of the Neighbors of Woodcraft, who are living or visiting in Medford are extended a most cordial invitation to meet with Chrysanthemum circle.

Jackson County P. T. A. Will Have Meeting
The fall meeting of the Jackson County Council Parents and Teachers will be held at the Medford senior high school, Medford, on Saturday, November 2, beginning at 10 a. m. Mrs. Carl Fichtner, president of the Medford city council, will have charge of the luncheon and program. Mrs. Norma Reeder of Ashland, county president, will preside. This first meeting of the season is being looked forward to with great interest, and will no doubt be well attended by the different circles all over the county. There will be a report of the state convention at Grants Pass, and many items of general interest will be discussed.

Oregon Music Teachers Will Have Dinner Party
The Jackson county chapter of the Oregon Music Teachers association will entertain the music teachers of the community in the parlors of the First Methodist church tomorrow evening, October 28. Dinner will be served at 7:00 o'clock and will be followed by an informal program. Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the university will be the speaker of the evening.

Social Events of Church Societies

Epworth Juniors Entertain Parents
The Epworth Juniors of the South Methodist church entertained their parents with a 8:30 dinner at the church on the 8th of October. About sixty-five were present. Some of the children dressed to represent the countries where work is carried on. A short program consisting of songs and recitations was given by the children, which was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Tollefson Hostess Missionary Society
The Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church met for their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Tollefson in Central Point on Tuesday afternoon, October 15. This meeting holds the record for the year in attendance. We are praising our Lord for increased interest. The foreign topic India, was very ably handled by Mrs. McMath and the national topic, Alaska, by Mrs. Hamby. Both addresses were very instructive and interesting. The social time was in the hands of the hostess assisted by Mrs. Warner and Mrs. Holt.

Social Meeting of South Methodist Missionary Society
The social meeting of the Missionary society of the South Methodist church was held on Tuesday, October 15 at the home of Mrs. Harry Kyle, 415 1/2 Newtown.

Mrs. William Rice had charge of the program and several members took part in the program.

After the program was over there was a short discussion as to the bazaar to be held soon.

The hostess served refreshments.

Auxiliaries Hold Group Meetings
The Medford and Williams Auxiliaries of the Women's Missionary society of the M. E. Church South, held a group meeting at the Williams church last Wednesday with about forty present, including guests from Grants Pass and Roseburg.

The morning was spent in visiting and at noon all were eager to crowd around the tables set under the trees in the church yard and do justice to all the good things set thereon, which included fried chicken, venison, real country cream, etc. The table was decorated with beautiful roses brought from Grants Pass.

After feasting was over all repaired to the church where an interesting meeting in the interest of missionary work was held. Mrs. Penhall of Roseburg, the new district secretary, presided.

In addition to her words of advice and encouragement several topics of special importance were presented by members of the auxiliaries. Special music and a short sketch called "The Rejuvenation of the Missionary Society" were added features. All expressed themselves as having had a very enjoyable and profitable day.

Mrs. Penhall, district secretary of the Women's Missionary society of the South Methodist church and Mrs. Richards, both of Roseburg were overnight visitors at the home of Mrs. Bob Taylor last Wednesday night.

Frances Willard Day Is Observed by W. C. T. U.

The Medford W. C. T. U. met in regular session at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday afternoon, October 24.

A splendid program was presented by Mesdames W. T. Berry and A. E. Cudney including a talk on liquor conditions as recently observed in Denmark by Mrs. Samuel Bateman; talk on the importance of education in temperance by Elder Theunler.

Reading, Extracts of the Life of Frances E. Willard, by Mrs. S. L. Leonard.

Professor and Mrs. T. H. Folsom favored the gathering with two piano and violin duets, "Souvenir of Lubeck," and "At Sunset," and an exceptional beautiful solo rendered by Prof. Parrish, entitled "I Love a Little Cottage," accompanied by Mrs. Parrish, was also highly appreciated.

A solo given by Mrs. Raymond Doran, "The Great Judgment Day," with Mrs. Thomas at the piano, was very well received.

What a great pity, when such worth while speakers and talented musicians as these take of their busy hours to contribute to our meetings, more of the people of Medford do not by their presence at the W. C. T. U. meetings show their appreciation of such distinct favors.

County Superintendent of Schools Carter had literature sent to all the schools of Jackson county as suggestions in the observance of Frances E. Willard day in the various school programs Friday afternoon. The city school, under Superintendent Hedrick, also observed Frances E. Willard day with suitable programs.

The First M. E. church will observe Frances E. Willard day Sunday and will show the moving picture, "The Transgressor," during the evening services. This is an educational picture and all people at all interested in health and morality should see it.

Before the close of the fortieth annual convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters, held recently in Washington, D. C., the managing director of the organization, Roger E. Hull, called attention to President Hoover's life insurance program, and urged his support, reminding his hearers that respect for law should be a cardinal concern of life insurance salesmen, whose business it is to insure prosperity, and that without a stable government it would be impossible for the life insurance business to exist in any country.

A month ago it was that the citizens and officials of the little town of Inantico, Va., had to face the question of losing 80 per cent of its retail trade or getting rid of bootleggers. The order was issued by Major-General S. D. Butler, commander of the Inantico marine base, which practically surrounds and supports the two-year old town, prohibiting enlisted men from entering the place, and the stores and amusement places were virtually deserted. Following a conference between the mayor and the general, a campaign against liquor sellers and other undesirable was instituted at once, and within 10 days the town was cleaned up and the marines were allowed to return.

Baptist State Evangelist Held Conferences Past Week
The Baptist state evangelist, Dr. Laughlin, with Dr. Wm. C. Owens, a returned missionary from India, held conferences in southern Oregon, assisted by the local pastors, Monday afternoon and evening at Grants Pass, Tuesday at Medford, Wednesday at Ashland and Thursday at Klamath Falls.

A covered dish "banquet" was served between the afternoon and evening sessions.

Dr. Laughlin has plans for further work in Oregon.

Dr. Owens told of the great changes in India during his forty years there.

Monthly Meeting of Golden Links Class
The monthly meeting of the First Baptist church of Medford was held at the home of Mrs. L. J. Knox, 418 Beatty street.

The guests were met at the door by a ghastly figure who ushered them into the reception room which was beautifully decorated befitting the Halloween season.

A very impressive Bible study was led by Mrs. M. Coe; after a short business session refreshments were served.

There were twenty-two ladies and ten children present.

Ladies Aid Plan Home-Coming
The Ladies Aid Society of the First Methodist Episcopal church will meet in regular Home-Coming at the church Tuesday afternoon.

The Just Folks will have charge of the entertainment.

Grace Circle To Have Halloween Party
The Grace Circle invites you one and all to the Presbyterian Sunday school hall, October 31, 1929, is the date.

Cats and witches will be in time. Don't you be late, 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Clarence Keizer To Entertain Ladies of the First Baptist Church
Mrs. Clarence Keizer will be hostess to the ladies of the First Baptist church Tuesday, Oct. 29 at 2:30 p. m. at her home at 23 Almond street.

"China," will be the missionary subject for the program.

An interesting program has been prepared. Wear your "Coochie cats" and "Chinese pajamas."

Mrs. F. R. Leach, of Bremerton, Wash., will be present.

Mrs. J. E. Lester is social chairman.

Catholic Church
The Catholic card party at Parish Hall Tuesday evening will be in charge of Mrs. Rose Sheelin and her committee. A good time is assured. All are welcome. Pin-ochle, "500" and bridge will be played.

Altar Society Will Meet
St. Ann's Altar society will meet in Parish hall Tuesday afternoon. Important business regarding the bazaar will be transacted. A large attendance is requested.

Women's Bible Class Has Social Meeting
The Women's Bible class of the First Presbyterian church met in business and social session in the church parlors at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. Sixty answered to roll call with verses of Scripture. Forty-four calls were made in the month of October.

Mrs. Frank Albert read a paper on prophecies of the Bible. She proved by Scripture how all through the ages all the prophecies of the Bible had come true as it had been prophesied. The birth of Christ was foretold in the Book of Genesis and after ages brings forth some fulfillment of prophecy and will until all have been fulfilled. Then will come Christ's second coming.

Mrs. G. D. Hodgkins then sang one of her favorite hymns which was much enjoyed. Miss Ruth Abele gave a talk on Ancient and Modern Rome. She spent the past summer in Rome and her impressions of Mussolini is quite different from what we get from the general news. She says Mussolini is doing for Rome what the ancient rulers did, only he is doing it by diplomacy and not by wars. He was called by the king to come and take charge of affairs. The people love him and are willing to do his bidding. They were sixty-seven per cent out of employment; now there is only one per cent. The children are compelled to attend school and that every child is taught the old traditions of Rome and know its history and where places and things can be found, and that they are always glad and willing to talk and if possible take you to historic places.

Miss Abele talked to Mussolini herself and she hopes to go back another year as it is a great help in her teaching. The hostesses of the afternoon, Mrs. Brommer, Mrs. Garfield, Mrs. McCollum and Mrs. Merritt, served tea. Those having birthday in October were guests of honor. The next meeting will be the fourth Tuesday in November.

To-Day and To-Morrow In The Feminine World

The Beginning of a Dining Room

By Emma Lou Fetta
A very charming design in simple cretonne was selected by the bride for the over drapes. The sash curtains are a two-tone rayon marquisette, washable, and delightful in its constant illusion of bringing in sun-light until the shades are drawn for night.

With their short, stubby backs the chairs, adorable as they were, didn't seem to be thoroughly comfortable, so we recommended soft mat-cushions which were covered in a shade harmonizing with the over drapes. The material selected was a new cotton and rayon mixture, the latter textile giving rich highlights and a brocaded effect, which nevertheless was not too dressy for use nearby the cretonne drapes. The little mats carry the richness of the sash curtains into the room proper as does the plain but luxurious carpet in a mulberry shade which was purchased by the yard and thus acquired more economically than would have been a room-sized rug.

Our young couple had inherited the picturesque little chairs. The dining table was bought with the chairs in mind. It is modern. The buffet was picked up in one of those fascinating barns where you still sometimes can find real antiques on sale (but more often not, unless you are in-the-know). Picture and screen were wedding presents from relatives, the latter from a relative who had the wisdom to inquire about what would be acceptable in the artistic sense.

British Heir's New Pilot Picked With Hard Test

LONDON.—Among the passenger pilots of the aviation world there are many, no doubt, who would envy E. H. Fielden his job.

Fielden has been appointed personal pilot to the prince of Wales. The choice fell on him only after scores of picked airmen of the royal air force reserve had been considered for this highly responsible post.

It is up to Fielden to see that the heir to the British throne flies in safety when he rides the clouds in his newly-built private plane, a two-seater with dual control.

Fielden is 26 years old and has had an unusually wide flying experience, in Great Britain, on the continent and in Africa. Last March he was awarded the air force cross for distinguished peace time flying.

The prince's new plane is a de luxe affair with inflatable red upholstery in the cockpit and trick compartments for the storage of baggage, sticks and the like.

The exterior is finished in cherry red and bright blue, while the nose of the ship is aluminum.

While the prince is said to be making excellent progress as a pilot, he does not contemplate taking out an official pilot's license.

When he chooses to fly in an air force plane instead of his own he will be piloted by Squadron-Leader D. S. Don, with whom he has often flown.

Bids will be opened for reconstruction of Mt. Hood Loop highway, located partly within the Mt. Hood National forest, Clackamas county, Oregon.

Construction of a landing field has been begun at Fairbanks, Alaska, in the expectation of a visit from the Graf Zeppelin next April.

UNBOBBED WOMAN LOSES SWITCHES

Believing she smelled a rat, as she was on her way to lunch at the rear entrance of the Mail Tribune yesterday, Mary Hesse Griffiths spied a mysterious paper bag bound with cord, lying a few feet up the alley.

Approaching it apprehensively, she picked up the parcel and attempted to determine the contents without opening the bag. It had that uneasy soft, furriness about it that would arouse even the instinctive distrust of the ancient cave dweller. She tossed it to a group of the stout hearted printers who after some hesitation, unwound the cord and peeped warily inside.

One of them, a single man, said that Mary's hunch was correct. But a more discriminating member of the married fraternity, pulled the contents forth and proved that it was not a rat, but three switches of long brown hair. The rest allowed that he was right. So any young lady who lost the aforementioned parcel in the Mail Tribune alley, can have same by calling at the back door. Otherwise three printers will be left holding the sack.

SANDY.—A live kangaroo mouse was captured by John Maroney, highway maintenance man, and turned over to the high school for observation.

SALEM.—Fire which started from an automobile caused $5000 damage to the Salem Hardware company store.

Russia is thorough. It is building a new city, installing factories, machinery to produce 500,000 automobiles and tractors a year.

Russian builders said that they thought they could do the job in five years.

An American has contracted to do it in 15 months.

The Russian government, Thursday at Rostovsdon, Russia, executed 14 Russians including two men formerly high in the army.

And Thursday at Krasnodar, 21 others were executed. All were accused of conspiring against the government.
