

MME. BORI WILL OPEN AS 'MANON'

Beautiful Spanish Prima Donna to Inaugurate Metropolitan Opera Season Tonight in Role Which Brought Fame 19 Years Ago—Grace of Singer Undiminished.

By Lorena A. Hickok (Associated Press Staff Writer) NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(AP)—One night in Paris 19 years ago the Metropolitan Opera company of New York gave Puccini's "Manon Lescaut."

In the title role that evening appeared a young and unknown soprano—a tiny, diffident Spanish girl from Valencia, who had arrived for rehearsals a few days before with her glossy black hair curled up in tight knots over her ears.

The next day all Paris was talking about "La Petite Bori." Two years later, in that same role, she made her American debut at the opening of the Metropolitan's season at home. And around the golden horseshoe went the whisper: "Lucrezia Bori—Isn't she enchanting?"

"Lucrezia Bori—Isn't she enchanting?" Tonight the Metropolitan will open its season of 1929—an opening which, with long skirts back in fashion, should have about it something of the thrilling magnificence of pre-war seasons.

Absent 17 Years And again "La Petite Bori" will be the lovely, wistful manon. Incidentally, opera house attaches said, it will be the first time Mme. Bori has sung at a Metropolitan opening since the night of her American debut, 17 years ago.

In the gorgeous costumes of the eighteenth century, Mme. Bori tonight will add greatly to the magnificence of the Metropolitan opening, which is in itself probably the most colorful social event in America, outside of diplomatic receptions in Washington.

And she still is "La Petite Bori," a woman of surpassing loveliness and grace. Some singers, after they have become prima donnas, grow stout and mature. But not Lucrezia Bori.

Captain William Gray Pioneer of Old Oregon Country Succumbs to Paralysis

PASCO, Wash., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Captain William P. Gray, whose life span covered the story of civilization of the old Oregon country succumbed Saturday to a paralytic stroke after an illness of a week. Born at Oregon City July 26, 1845, four years before the great California gold rush and a decade after Jason Lee, the Methodist brought Christianity to the Willamette valley, Gray says the northwest drifted from the hands of the Indians, jagged under the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack and finally developed into a major unit of the United States.

Lived Ten Years As Respected Citizen Suicide When Return To Cell Imminent

EUREKA, Utah, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Gustave Kahl, an escaped convict, who lived near here as a respected citizen for more than ten years, was dead today, a victim of his own hand. He shot himself through the fear of being detected and returned to San Quentin prison in California to finish serving a term for second degree murder. Kahl's body was found yesterday in a deserted cabin 17 miles from here by a posse after a two days' search. A large caliber revolver was frozen in his hand and a bullet hole through his head told the story. He had been dead several hours when officers found him.

HINT PROTESTS ON ELIGIBILITY MORE SCHOOLS

Suspension of Baker High From Oregon State Athletic Assn. May Be Echoed in Charges Against Additional Players.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 28.—(AP) Reverberations were echoing up and down the state today as a result of the suspension of Baker high school from the Oregon State High School Athletic association for the rest of the 1929 football season. Baker was suspended for alleged disregard of the "principles of good sportsmanship," and for alleged failure to "take ordinary precautions in the enforcement of eligibility rules." La Grande and Corvallis filed the protest.

It was whispered around here today that other high schools of the state might feel the weight of protest. But while the decision to bar Baker created great discussion, the state high school athletic board had no information that charges might be filed against any other school.

The controversy grew out of the question of eligibility of five members of the Baker football team. Those filing the protest declared these five players were ineligible because their parents did not live in the Baker district. It was declared by Baker, however, that the players were rightful residents of the district as guardianship papers had been taken out for them by residents of that city.

never uttering a complaint, Pantages received this verdict with hardly a quiver of emotion. An adopted daughter, Mrs. Dixie Martin, fled from the court room to the refuge of the adjoining prisoner's room with her hands to her face. While the theater man blushed as the verdict was read in solemn tones by the court clerk, a few moments later he walked unaided to the prisoner's room, his two sons, Rodney and Lloyd, who were in the court room to hear the verdict, accompanied him. There his daughter Carmen, who had remained in the prisoner's room, and Mrs. Martin broke into mourning and unrestrained weeping.

After the jurors were discharged, at the hotel where they had been kept behind locked doors and under guard since the start of the trial, October 1, they disclosed they had been unanimous for conviction from the taking of the first ballot Friday night. Mrs. Christine Ulrich said that the disagreement of nine to three had been only on the degree of punishment, which they were obliged to fix at either the state's prison term or a one-year county jail sentence. The first appearance of the jury in the court room came Sunday morning, when they returned for the re-reading of the trial testi-

Jury Unanimous Refusing to pose for news cameramen as he was booked, Pantages declined to comment other than to say "I won't pose." Later in his cell he told newspapermen, "I got a raw deal. I didn't have a chance with the jury. They were against me from the beginning. Looks like a man didn't have a chance when a woman tries to frame him as I have been framed. But don't you think I am beaten. I have told my lawyers to take this case to the highest court in America if necessary to get a reversal."

Needless Pain!

The man who wouldn't drive his motorcar half a mile when it's out of order, will often drive his brain all day with a head that's throbbing. Such punishment isn't very good for one's nerves! It's unwise, and it's unnecessary. A tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin will relieve a headache every time. So, remember this accepted antidote for pain, and spare yourself a lot of needless suffering. answered that question years ago. It is not. Some folks still wonder if it really does relieve pain. That's settled! For millions of men and women have found it does. To cure the cause of any pain you must consult your doctor; but you may always turn to Bayer Aspirin for immediate relief.
