

KINCAID'S LICENSE REVOKED ON PLEA SHERIFF JENNINGS

Upon recommendation of Sheriff Ralph Jennings, the license for the Eagle Point dance hall, of which Luke Kincaid is proprietor, was ordered revoked this forenoon by the county court on grounds that dancing was permitted after midnight. Eagle Point has less than 500 population and comes under the direct supervision of the court, although it has its own city government.

Dances have been held regularly at Eagle Point and music stopped at midnight in keeping with the state law passed by the last legislature. Sheriff Jennings, however, complained that while there were no musicians, dancers continued to loiter about the premises and danced a little to music furnished by a phonograph. Kincaid claimed he did not think he was breaking a law as he was not charging any fees for the entertainment.

His attorney, Don Newbury, admitted it was a technical violation but in his opinion was not so serious that the license must be revoked. He suggested a suspension for a short time on grounds that Kincaid had a big investment tied up in the property, which, if idle, would lose him approximately $150 per month.

The court, however, declared a violation had been committed, and Kincaid can present an application for a new license at a later date, which might be granted if he could present sufficient favorable evidence why a license should be issued.

The session before the court became a bit heated at times between the sheriff and Attorney Newbury when one or two facts were brought to light.

AUTO DEALERS AGAINST FAKE PUBLICITY, WORD AT HOLLAND LUNCHEON

The members of the Medford Automobile Dealers' association gathered at the Hotel Holland in noon today to enjoy a luncheon and discuss various problems of motor car retailing in this city. The relationship of the dealers and the newspapers was the main topic covered in the regular business session and representatives of the Medford press who were on hand, assured the automobile men of co-operation.

Both the newspapers and the local auto dealers are making an effort to eliminate any possible chance of publication of publicity or advertising not strictly legitimate as a protection to the buyers of automobiles in Medford and southern Oregon.

The next meeting of the dealers' association will be held at the Hotel Holland on Friday, November 15, at which time representatives of the traffic department will be on hand to discuss traffic problems.

A closer understanding between automobile retailers and traffic officials is being sought by the members of the local dealers body as well as the officials themselves and the next meeting promises to be an interesting one. Harold Grey, president of the dealers' association, presided at today's meeting.

CIVIC COUNCIL IN FAVOR OF CHEST

Unqualified support of the community chest drive to start here November 12 and end November 16, was pledged by the membership of the Central Civic Council at their second meeting, held at the Hotel Medford this noon. J. L. Dancy, president of the council, presided.

Composed of representatives from the chamber of commerce, city council, city planning commission, Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and the American Legion, the council discussed the activities of each organization in regard to the four-day campaign.

A committee of two, consisting of Dr. D. L. Inskip and Mark Jarmin were appointed by chairman Dancy to find out definitely from C. E. Gates what the state will do toward the development of Roxy Ann as a state park.

APPLE WEEK CREATES FIRM DEMAND IN S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 1.—(AP)—(Federal and State Market News Service)—The opening of the national apple week finds a firm market in San Francisco today. This is partly due to the light national production of apples as well as of other fruits.

Extra fancy Spitzenbergs, possibly the most popular of apples, sold as high as $3.25 per box, while smaller sizes sold as low as $2.75. Fancy grades ranged from $2.75 to $2.85 and the choice sold as low as $2.

GADDIS HITS BUDGET CUT

ed at an informal meeting yesterday forenoon, at which time the only city official present was Mayor A. W. Pipes, who approves the cuts recommended.

The budget committee's work ended with the adoption of its report last night, and the budget matter now rests solely with the city council, which body will probably make some changes.

City Recorder Alford, according to law, must advertise the budget for 29 days, giving notice and date that a public hearing will be held at which citizens can protest any features of the budget. Immediately following which, if there are no protests, the council will pass the budget ordinance.

Discontinue Market
The leading features of the citizens' budget report were the recommendations that the appropriation of $1200 for the city market be cut out, and that the market be closed after January 1, next, as a non-paying venture; and the refusal to grant items for the water commission, amounting to $27,000, as follows: $11,000 for the purchase of real estate, $14,000 for a new reservoir, and $2,000 for repairs to the pipeline of the old water system.

The item of $750 for the dog pound was also cut out, as well as $250 for the Red Cross, as the Red Cross will be taken care of in the community chest, for which the budget provides an appropriation of $1000.

Besides this appropriation of $1000, two additional items to the first budget of estimates submitted are provided for—$3000 for all port operation and $1500 for airport dedication.

Provides Park Fund
The budget committee's report recommends an item of $3600 in the council parks and playgrounds fund to be expended either for the construction of a scenic park on Roxy Ann, or possibly to establish a park along Bear creek. In the city, at the option of the city planning commission after making an investigation of both proposed projects.

E. C. Gaddis, president, and A. L. Hill, member of the water commission, in making their unsuccessful fight to have the items that were stricken out, retained in the citizen's budget report, contended that the items were absolutely necessary for the conduct of the water system and the welfare of the public.

Trouble Predicted
After the committee had ended its work by adopting the budget recommendation, Mr. Hill somewhat heatedly exclaimed to the committee and city officials assembled: "Trouble will certainly result from this action."

President Gaddis also remarked caustically to the budget committee, whom he had been contending in his arguments did not understand the water commission's duties and problems:

"It seems strange that a group of men, after deliberating about about three hours, should assume the attitude of knowing more about the water department's business than members of the commission who have spent years on its problems and have considered financing of them for 10 years."

Patton Sees Laxity
Hamilton Patton of the budget committee, several times during the debate, asserted that the water board spent too much in operating expenses; had made no effort to economize in making out its list of estimates for the budget, and really, in his opinion, could operate without the levy being made at all. Mr. Gaddis resented this and gave explanations for each expenditure.

Messrs. Gaddis and Hill especially resented the cutting out of the $11,000 item for purchase of real estate, to remove a house from the watershed, which had been contracted for by the commission, and the cutting off of $2000 for repairs to the old pipe line. They declared that the city could not, and should not, repudiate its contracts. The cutting off of repairs to the old pipeline, they asserted, was foolhardy and could not be done, as it would mean that that pipeline, which was a valuable asset to the city, would have to be abandoned. The commission would do everything possible to retain the old pipeline and keep it in repair, they said.

Need Reservoir
Mr. Gaddis also declared that the new supplementary $100,000 reservoir which the commission contemplated building this coming winter when work was slack, and for which the water commission has saved out of the so-called "million-dollar" water bond issue most of the money for building, was an absolute necessity for the city as a reserve emergency in case of a break in the pipeline of the new water system. The new reservoir, together with the old reservoirs, would furnish an ample storage supply for domestic consumption and for fire purposes in case anything should go wrong with the pipeline, until repairs could be made, he said.

It was pointed out, also, by Mr. Gaddis that some 80,000 feet of lumber was stored in the yards at the north end of the city, for the ample protection of which the new reservoir was necessary to give give pressure in case a fire should break out in it. Medford had been fortunate in never having had a big fire or other conflagration, he said.

Advocate Market
The budget recommendation to abandon the public market was taken over the protest of the council committee in charge of the public market, which asked that the market be continued for the first six months of next year, by which time the strange or some other body would take over its operations.

Committee Report
The budget committee's report was in part as follows:

"We, the budget committee of this city, having been duly appointed to make recommendations regarding the 1930 budget, having carefully examined the same, desire to make the following report:

"We suggest a reduction of $30,127.41 from the budget of $157,762 submitted, making a saving to the taxpayers of approximately 2 1/2 mills, in place of an increase of 1 1/2 mills. We recommend the following reductions. (Here follows the reductions in detail).

"On the budget of the parks and playgrounds department we recommend the adoption of the amount set forth, but on the item of improvements on 'Roxy Ann' we believe that the distribution of $3000 should be left in the hands of the city planning commission, with authority to spend it on whatever park project best meets the needs of the city. We suggest that they make a thorough investigation of the possibilities of a park along Bear creek before acting.

"There are several items in the budget that we have been unable to investigate thoroughly for lack of time and information. We do, however, believe it would be possible to further reduce this amount by careful supervision in the various departments."

The recommended budget reductions in the various departments, outside of the water department, are as follows:

Police department, $1250; fire department, $5907.41; public market, $1200; building and light, $120; library, $700; miscellaneous, $290.
