

IOWA MENACE CLOUDS HOPES BIG TEN RIVALS

Minnesota and Purdue Are Haunted By Spectre — Ohio Prospects Eclipsed By Suspension of Star Halfback, Coffee.

By William Weekes
Associated Press Sports Writer.
CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP) Minnesota and Purdue, racing step and step toward Western conference football honors, both are haunted by the same spectre—Iowa.

The Iowa menace is Minnesota's concern this week for they will meet at Iowa City Saturday. With Northwestern and Indiana out of the way, Coach Spears started yesterday to elaborate on his offense, in preparation for the game that may make or break the Gopher season.

The situation caused by the schedule may work to the advantage of Purdue, which will meet Iowa after Minnesota takes its crack at Burt Ingwerson's team.

Ohio State's prospect of a victory over Northwestern Saturday were halted yesterday when Coach Sam Willaman of the Buckeyes suspended Charlie Coffee, one of his star halfbacks, for the remainder of the season for infraction of training rules while the team was in Pittsburgh last weekend.

Illinois started drilling for its intersectional clash with Army Saturday, after Coach Zuppke finished telling the varsity how had it looked against Northwestern last Saturday.

Although battered in its defeat by Purdue, Wisconsin received no day of rest yesterday. Coach Thistedwhite immediately went back to work to try to develop an offense which will function enough at least to score on Chicago Saturday. The Badgers have yet to score a point in conference competition.

Michigan is working busily to prepare a surprise for Harvard which will make its first midwestern appearance Saturday at Ann Arbor. Indiana has an open date this week and faces little work.

Tribute To Fighter

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Eddie McGoorty, famous middle-weight who died at Milwaukee Saturday night, was given a silent tribute by Chicago boxing fans last night. More than 22,000, who attended the Jimmy McLarnin-Sammy Mandell bout at the Chicago stadium, howled for a minute in tribute to him.

O'GRADY ENDS GO WITH NEGRO BOY IN FIRST FRAME

While he may have had intentions of defeating Gene O'Grady, Ashland light heavyweight fighter, Kid Daddis, Denver, Colo., colored fighter, soon lost them after entering the ring at the armory last night. He was knocked out in the first round of a 10-round bout, suffering a badly cut lip, which sent blood streaming over the ring.

Dennis, who has been fighting main events in Denver and who claimed he had won 26 out of 30 fights, began the fight in a determined fashion, a left striking Gene on the jaw during the early part of the round. Gene dropped but was up at the count of eight and gave some indication that he was still a little groggy. This apparently added to the negro's confidence, thinking he would soon have his 27th victory, but it was not long until O'Grady shot in a terrific right to Dennis' jaw, sending him down to stay.

The blow made a bad gash in his upper lip and it was several minutes before Dennis regained his composure sufficiently to leave the ring. The bout, when it began, had every appearance of being a torrid affair that would possibly end in Gene's defeat, and fans were sitting on edge until the sudden knockout blow.

The semi-windup between Teddy Miske and Billy Breedlove was a fast, scientific and hard-fought affair of six rounds. Miske, a Los Angeles boy, became angry once or twice at Breedlove of Bend, and one attempted to carry on the fight after the round had ended. Both boys were willing mixers and were in good condition.

In a four-round event, Battling Bunker of Dorris, Cal., was knocked out by K. O. McCumber of Dairy in the first round. Both were heavyweights, but Bunker knew so little about fighting that he was an easy mark for his tall opponent. In another four-round mix up, Jackie Breedlove, Billy's brother, won from Jack Bass of Ashland. The first four-round event ended in a draw for Young Sharkey and Sammy Bass, two young hopefuls from Klamath Falls.

The largest crowd of the season attended the fight.

SWEDISH HEAVYWEIGHT INVADES UNITED STATES

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP) Nils Ramm, likely looking Swedish heavyweight prospect, has arrived in the United States. Ramm, who hopes to fight in this country, fought here with conspicuous success as an amateur three years ago.

Medford's Contribution to Oregon State College Yearling Football

FRED (RED) McDONALD

The youth above with the serious crown, is Fred (Red) McDonald, Medford high's contribution to Oregon State college's athletic efforts.

He will appear here next Saturday, with the Rooks in the first of their annual games, and plays his old high school position—right end. Up to the time an auto bus

FLYWEIGHT TITLE MAY GO TO HUAT, BELGIAN FIGHTER

NE WYORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The elimination tournament by which the management of Madison Square Garden hopes to produce a generally recognized holder of the vacant flyweight title has passed its first round with only one surwent off the grade, in eastern Oregon, and named "Red" and a few of his teammates up, he was the outstanding end of the Rook team. He will see action next Saturday. prise. Last night's set of four ten round battles between leading 112-pounders served principally to entrench Eugene Huat, champion of Belgium more firmly in the favorite's position.

Huat, conqueror of Spider Pladner and Frenchy Belanger, made his New York debut in the principal bout of the night by administering a solid beating to Izzy Schwartz, New York's entry in the tournament. His victory came just after Willie Davis of Charleroi, Pa., who had been picked as the other probable finalist, had succumbed to the punches of his old rival, Black Bill of Cuba.

Babe Ruth spent most of his time this fall playing golf in the vicinity of New York.

BABY FACE GIVEN NOD OVER SAMMY IN TEN ROUND GO

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP) Jimmy McLarnin may not become the next world welterweight champion but he has accomplished something that the present holder of the title, Jackie Fields, found too difficult a task.

McLarnin enhanced his standing as the foremost contender for the welterweight crown last night at the Chicago stadium where he gave Sammy Mandell, ruler of the world's lightweight, a thorough beating, winning a decision at the end of 10 rounds of great fighting.

Fields attempted to conquer the Rockford strike about a year ago, and received a fine boxing lesson from Mandell.

Mandell gave McLarnin a lacing a year ago last summer when the baby faced fighter from Vancouver, B. C., attempted to lift the lightweight title, but last night found that at 143 3-4 pounds McLarnin was too tough for even his marvelous boxing ability. It was the first decision Mandell ever has lost, and was his first real defeat since he was knocked out by Joey Saenger in 1923—when he was just getting started as a major performer.

Mandell gave away six pounds to the slinger from Vancouver, B. C., and the handicap was too great. McLarnin who was too strong and too aggressive was credited with six rounds, while Mandell who entered the ring the favorite, was given but two.

JOE GLICK OUTPOINTS SAN FRANCISCO YOUTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Joe Glick of Brooklyn, N. Y., left-jabbed and right-crossed himself into another decision over Frankie Stetson, San Francisco flyweight, in ten fast rounds at the State armory in a return match last night. Glick, who outpointed the local boxer in a close bout in the same arena a few weeks ago, had Stetson groggy in the third and tenth rounds. Observers gave the easterner 6 rounds and Stetson four. Glick weighed 135 1/2, while Stetson scaled a pound and one-half heavier.

LOMSKI MATCHED TO FIGHT GEO. COURTNEY

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—(AP)—George Courtney, Oklahoma light heavyweight, and Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., puncher, have been matched for a 10-round bout at Olympia arena, Detroit, November 21. The bout will be an elimination affair,

MEDFORD RIVALS ALSO HAVE LEAN GRIDIRON SEASON

This city, in the depths of a lean football year, can draw a crop (and only a drop) of consolation from the knowledge that two of its bitter rivals, Salem and The Dalles, are in the same boat. The latter has not won a game this season, and the former only one.

Astoria, which last year shied playing Salem, defeated them Saturday, 44 to 6, and on the same day Pendleton trimmed The Dalles, 13 to 12. In normal years Astoria and Pendleton squads would have been pleasant afternoon scrimmages.

And, on the same day, a Eugene high school team, with its eye and voice on the state championship, defeated Medford, 25 to 7.

Thus have the mighty fallen. They are in such low estate that even a Portland high school team does not hesitate a moment about doing battle with them.

The Eugene team, coached by Skeets Manerud, is a smooth working organization. It has a fast backfield and a low charging line with plenty of beef. Against the green and inexperienced Medford squad that was not given a chance they looked good. But in the fourth quarter, when the locals started to unlace long forward passes, they were befuddled, so much so that their star quarterback, evidently nettled, was chased from the field for slugging. Three men would grab the man with the ball and he dragged down the field from two to five yards before they had him down.

The only hard tackle Saturday afternoon was made by Green when he sprang at Fullback Near as he came through the line. A substitute went in for Near, and the smelling salts were applied to Green. The rest of the time, for the most part, the locals were feeble in their tackling. It made the visiting backs look "hot."

Local fans would be for Eugene if they contended for the state championship, because Coach Manerud is popular here. They would wager hats, etc., that Eugene would win the title and they would also bet that against a first class high school football machine the Eugene backs would not crawl more than once after they hit the ground. It is spectacular, but dangerous, and teams that know their onions have a way of ending crawling.

Incidentally, it was one of the things the present Medford team learned last Saturday.

and Dick Dunn, Olympia promoter, and Seaty Monteth, matchmaker, hope to match the winner with the victor of the Yalo Okun-Maxie Rosenbloom fight in New York, in Detroit December 20.

GATES BOWLERS BEAT GOLD SEAL IN INITIAL GAME

The Gates Auto Co. and Gold Seal Creamery bowling teams locked horns at the Natatorium alleys last night. Both teams are composed of men with little or no bowling experience, but who will probably evenly matched there was to handicap. When the smoke of the first round had cleared away it was found that the Butter-makers had defeated the McGinnies by the staggering number of 5 pins, the two teams rolling 607 and 602 respectively.

This was too much for the Gates aggregation, and they swore loudly to avenge themselves. They did. They took the second game by four pins. The thin margin of defeat in this game seemed to daunt the Gold Seal boys, for it was not until late in the third and last game that they awoke to the fact that they had to roll and roll hard, if they wanted to take the match.

They made a grand finish, but it wasn't sufficient to overcome the lead that their opponents piled up at the start of the game. The result was 625 for Gates and 566 for Gold Seal.

While the Butter-makers had to accept defeat, they glow with pride in the knowledge that two of their men carried off the individual honors of the evening. Vern Troxell had high game with a total of 164 pins. E. N. Eldridge had high total pins with 446 to his credit. Both of these men are beginners.

So enthusiastic are the new bowlers that some of them are taking to home practice. One is so overcome by the lure of the cannon-balls that he is known to have gathered all the shoes in his household and practiced his delivery by throwing his hat at them.

While it will be several days yet before the regular league gets underway, several of the intended members are having practice games with other members. Nearly every night the alleys are crowded with beginners, who aspire to a position on some team, and veterans who are striving to reach so near perfection as possible. This year promises to be the best yet in bowling interest and a 10 team league that will offer much competition, will soon be in full swing.

The results of the three games are as follows:

Gold Seal Creamery.
N. Newland	120	112	110
V. Troxell	148	164	108
B. Newland	71	81	80
C. Newland	146	111	...
F. Plick	110
E. Eldridge	158	131	157
607 604 566

C. E. Gates Auto Co.
O. Jeldness	121	86	120
E. Cannon	151	156	112
R. Foulbeck	103	130	123

GRANDSTAND SEATS FOR FROSH TILT SCARCE

The biggest local football crowd of the year is looked for Saturday at the annual clash between the University of Oregon and Oregon State college teams which has been transplanted here for Medford's benefit.

Football fans from every community in this part of the state are already planning to attend and the advance sale of tickets has exceeded all expectations.

The game is being sponsored by Medford Post of the American Legion, who put up a large guarantee to bring this big football classic to Southern Oregon for the first time in history. Only a limited number of grandstand seats are left and these will probably be sold out in the next few days.
