

BREESE PILOT VIEWS SURFACE OF TABLE ROCK

Would Need Much Work to Prepare Emergency Landing Field — Cabin Plane Carries Many Aloft—All Are Delighted.

Table Rock would not be the best emergency landing field in the world and would probably require considerable work to put it into condition, a flight over it yesterday afternoon in the Breeze monoplane, "City of Portland," here on a short visit, revealed. The rock had been suggested a short time ago by a local auto dealer, H. W. Lange, as being ideal for an emergency field when the floor of the valley is enveloped in heavy fog.

From the air, the surface of the rock appears rough, with smooth stretches here and there. However, its wide expanse gives promise of development should such project ever be taken seriously. The upper rock appears to offer more in the way of level area, but it has never been suggested.

The cabin plane was piloted on the flight by Major Gilbert Eckerson at a height of 4000 feet, giving a good view of the valley despite a smoke haze which was in some cases over the altitude of the plane.

Busy All Day
The plane was busy all day yesterday taking up local passengers, many of whom had never been up before. However, none came down with the statement they would not go up again, but with the declaration they are welcoming the opportunity of a longer ride.

Mayor W. A. Pipes, who was up with the ship Tuesday, said this forenoon the plane was one of the most comfortable in which he had ever ridden.

"A passenger could talk with ease in the cabin," said Mayor Pipes, "and riding was so smooth one almost thought he was riding in an automobile. There were so many complimentary comments in regard to the ship and the country shown by Major Eckerson and George B. Love, factory representative, that it would be difficult to repeat them. All the passengers came down air-minded and determined to go up again."

"No thought of danger entered my head as I rode knowing the plane to be of extraordinary construction and piloted by one of the best men on the Pacific coast. The citizens of Medford are appreciative of the courtesy shown them by the Breeze company, and especially those who had the good fortune of going aloft," the mayor concluded.

Passenger List
Passengers who flew yesterday afternoon included the following: Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Tyce, Marc Jarmin, Dr. R. C. Mulholland, E. M. White, T. H. Robinson, Terry Talbot, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Garlock and two children, A. H. Miller of the Rotary club, Dr. E. W. Shockley, Mr. and Mrs. Gain Robinson, Miss Edith Laubscher, Fred Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Eakin, R. C. Jones, Lloyd Williamson, R. Rostel, M. M. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Armstrong, E. C. Jerome, Ben Harder, Mrs. Earl York, Lucie Oatman, Mrs. C. H. Paske, Miss Dean Holt, M. H. Russell, Gladys Whitson, Floyd Hart, D. L. Randall, Mrs. A. W. Pipes, Mrs. M. N. Hogen, Miss Jeanne Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Voss, Mrs. R. A. Holmes, Cole Holmes, Winifred Foley and Thelma Moore.

Passengers who were taken up by the Breeze Aircraft company this morning include the following: Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Purucker, George Purucker, Robert Purucker, Mr. and Mrs. M. Smith, P. Frantz, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lively, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Smith, Mrs. A. F. West, Mr. and Mrs. Cole Holmes and son, Harry Moore, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Koozer, Ruth Koozer, Mrs. E. C. Ferguson, Mrs. Fred Scheffel, Mrs. Clinton Spencer, Mrs. J. P. Brady, O. K. Anderson, C. W. Ahlborn, W. C. Hatley, W. Nordan, J. C. Farnimey, Clyde Cook, R. A. Perry and Mrs. Frank Yashin.

The ship left at noon today for Eugene and will probably be at Grants Pass early next week. George Love plans to remain in the city for the Frosh-Tank game on Friday.

"WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD"

Verdict of Woman Who Tried Pinkham's Compound

Tully, N. Y.—"It hurt me to walk or sit down without help and I felt sick and weak. My mother-in-law took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she induced me to take it. I am now on the fourth bottle and have also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash.

The medicine that will do for me what the Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done are certainly worth their weight in gold. I think I have given them a fair trial and I expect to take two more bottles of the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. CHARLES MORGAN, R. F. D. 1, Tully, N. Y.

COUNTY COURT PROMISES AID HUMANE WORK

The Jackson County Humane society at a meeting with the county court this morning, was informed that "you can bank upon about $1500 for the county for the coming year." They came seeking financial aid for their work, and inclusion in the county budget.

The humane society delegation, composed of six women and three men, insisted upon a definite financial assurance, so they could lay plans for their campaign, and County Judge Alex Sparrow gave them the above assurance, only after an hour of debate.

The spokeswoman for the women was Mrs. H. D. McCaskey, Mayor A. W. Pipes made a speech, Hamilton Patton made a few casual suggestions and Michael N. Hogan, the other member of the male contingent, maintained a magnificent silence.

Mrs. Glen Fabrick declared during the course of the meeting, "that the honorable court is not taking things serious enough," and accused the court of "kidding the delegation."

Mrs. Fabrick's allegations were induced by Judge Sparrow's observation, "that if a tramp dog or cat, showed up around my place, they will tramp no more," and Commissioner George Alford's declaration, that under the same circumstances, "the animal was liable to find himself weighted down with lead." Judge Sparrow, during the talks, declared that, in his opinion, "there was less excuse for a building than anything he knew of."

Oil On Waters.
Judge Sparrow, before the women could open fire with their heavy guns, poured oil on the waters, by asserting: "We have been intending to help you out for seven months."

This announcement was greeted with a chorus of feminine, "Well, why didn't you say so in the first place?"

Mayor Pipes in his speech, asked that the Humane society be given financial assistance, and assume the responsibilities, thus lessening the burden for the city and county. The mayor said he felt sure the city council would render what assistance they could.

Mrs. F. D. Swanton of Portland, head of the State Humane society, was also present, and thought that the county judges was facetiously calling her "Mrs. Swanson," but said nothing about it.

As a result of the conference the Humane society delegates were satisfied, and declared they would be able to carry on their work more systematically, and broaden its scope.

The society, it was intimated, intends to ask the fair association for the right to use some of the county fair buildings as a shelter.

County Judge Sparrow and Commissioner Alford seemed to enjoy the session, and expressed the opinion that "the proposition was worth a trial." Commissioner Victor Bursell was not present, being in Portland on business.

It is expected that the dog license fees will take care of most of the appropriation and that the Humane society work will be broadened.

WILL IRON OUT BUDGET
well as F. C. Dillard, water department engineer.

The water commission contingent after their case had been presented by Mr. Gaddis, voluntarily departed from the meeting out of courtesy so that the councilmen could discuss the problem without any embarrassment. President Gaddis and Mr. Dillard were interviewed briefly after they had left the meeting and they expressed the hope that the city council would restore a portion or all of the amount contained in the original water commission budget of estimates asked for, when the ordinance was finally passed.

It will be remembered that the items amounting to $27,000, which the citizens' budget committee recommended be eliminated from the budget were $14,000 toward a new reservoir, $1000 for the purchase of real estate on the watershed which had already been contracted for and on which a partial payment had been made, and $2000 for repairs on the old pipeline.

Prior to the holding of the executive session the council voted to change the date for the public budget hearing and final passage of the ordinance from November 26 to November 23, and to have the budget republished. This was done to comply with some legal technicality. The budget matter will be under advisement until that time.

C. M. Coffey of Portland, president of the Pacific International Photographers' association, will give a report of the national convention of the Photographers' Association of America at their meeting recently held in Chicago, and will also outline plans for the photographers of the P. I. P. A. for the coming year.

Mr. Gendler of Portland will give an address on "The Benefits of Organization." C. F. Richardson of Milwaukie, Ore., the third speaker, has not yet announced his subject.

FALL SUFFERS RELAPSE; MAY STAY IN CAPITAL
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(Sp.)—A relapse in the physical condition of Albert B. Fall, sentenced last week to serve a year in jail and pay a fine of $100,000 for accepting a bribe from Edward L. Doheny, may prevent his departure tonight for his home in El Paso, Texas.

ASTORIA—The drill at the Union Oil company well at McGowan, Wash., pounded away despite orders of the superintendent to "pull the rig."

ARLENE R. HAY MRS. BEBB WIN PIANO CONTEST

Miss Arlene R. Hay's letter upon "Why the Study of Piano Music Will Benefit Every Child," was chosen as the winner in the Gulbransen contest recently conducted by the Palmer Music House of this city. An exceptionally fine lot of letters were entered by people from all parts of southern Oregon, and the problem of the contest judges was an extremely difficult one. It took many hours' deliberation to choose between that entered by Roberta Ward Bebb and the winning letter by Miss Hay. The judges enthusiastically commended Mrs. Bebb upon the excellence of her contribution.

At noon today the task of judging the letters was completed by William F. Isaacs, Ernest Scott, John W. Johnson and Herb Grey. Their selection of the various winning letters was based upon the number of reasons why the study of piano music will benefit every child, the soundness of these reasons and the neatness of the manuscript. A new Gulbransen piano will be awarded to Miss Hay of Central Point, while a cash value certificate of $50 will be presented to Mrs. Bebb of Medford, as second prize winner.

The three winners of third prizes, cash value certificates of $45, are Mrs. L. C. Richman of Butte Falls, Mrs. Lella M. Falkenberg of Medford and Mrs. Mae Mark of Route No. 2, Medford.

The two fourth prize winners were Miss Betty Evanson of Medford and Mrs. Zoe Jordan, also of this city; $40 cash value certificates will be awarded to these two fourth prize winners by Palmer Music House.

Miss Ruby Cox of Butte Falls wrote the letter which was chosen as winner in the fifth prize division and Miss Cox will receive a cash value certificate of $35. Miss Wilma Gorman, also of Butte Falls, was selected as winner of sixth prize, a cash value certificate of $20. Mrs. L. Myrtle Pollard of Ashland secured seventh prize of $25 in cash value certificates.

A number of letters were chosen by the judges as worthy of the cash value certificates of $20, and the winners in this division will be notified at once by the Palmer Music House.

"We are gratified at the response on the part of southern Oregon people to our Gulbransen contest," C. H. Isaac said today. "The interest shown in this contest is evidence that people of this city and southern Oregon appreciate the value of the study of piano music for children, and we believe that our contest will help materially to further this worthy move in this part of Oregon."
