INVESTMENT TRUST FINDS BIG TEST IN MARKE SLUMP

By William R. Kuhns
(Financial Editor Associated Press Feature Service)

NEW YORK (AP)—Investment trusts and trading corporations received their baptism of fire in the recent selling crisis on the stock exchanges. They experienced a sharp depreciation in the market value of their securities.

Many of them, however, with large liquid reserves, were able to pick up large blocks of securities at attractive prices.

Heavy financing by these corporations earlier in the year raised the aggregate total of their capital to around three billion dollars. This accounted, in part, for the large increase in brokers' borrowings.

Most of those organized within recent months saw their securities drop to prices far below those at whichc they were offered to the public. The more seasoned issues, a few of which had doubled or trebled in price, fell back sharply in common with the shares of all leading railroads, public utility and industrial companies.

Estimates of purchases by investment trusts during the height of the hysterical selling movement range from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000.

Some of these funds were withdrawn from the call loan market, where they had been placed for temporary investment in anticipation of just such an emergency. On the eve of the break officials of one trust made known that more than 90 per cent of its assets were in cash but the proportion generally was believed to be much smaller.

Some investment groups also were believed to be heavy sellers of securities in the early stages of the reaction and Wall street eagerly awaits their quarterly and semi-annual reports to discover the changes that have taken place in their security holdings.

MARKING OF ALL ROADS PLANNED TO AID PILOTS

WASHINGTON—A plan whereby highways of the United States would be marked with letters 30 feet high to facilitate pilots in discovering localities has been broached by the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce.

Col. Harry H. Blee, chief of the division of airports and aeronautical information, said that pamphlets regarding the move would be sent over the country urging states and municipalities to conform to the movement.

"A highway when viewed from the air stands out very clearly and is therefore one of the pilot's best landmarks," said Colonel Blee. "It only remains for them to be marked properly to provide the best location-finding factor we have. The general use of a standard system of air marking that will convey the necessary information to aircraft pilots is today one of the most immediate aids to navigation."

The markings should read from west to east or south to north, depending on the general direction of the highway, he said. They should be placed at all intersections with other highways and at intervals of not more than 20, preferably 10 miles, along the route, Colonel Blee remarked.

IMPORTANT DAM SITE IN ALASKA FOUND BY FLIER

WASHINGTON.—With the aid of airplanes, a lake has been discovered in Alaska which it is estimated will develop 45,000 horsepower without even building a dam, it was reported to the Navy department by Lieutenant Commander Arthur W. Rudford, who was in command of an aerial survey in Alaska last summer.

As seen from the air the lake is on the eastern shore of Taku inlet between Greeley Point and Jaw Point, about twelve and a half miles from the beach. It has an area of 900 acres and the water leaves the basin with a fall so abrupt that a dam would not be needed, his report states.

At the request of the secretary of the interior and the secretary of agriculture the expedition was ordered to survey southeastern Alaska.

Results of the aerial survey are expected to be of prime importance to departments of the government interested in mineral resources of Alaska, water and power supply and trail building activities.

Survey from the air was the only practicable method of obtaining information about the country, as it is very mountainous. All the work had to be completed in the three summer months when there was sufficient light for photographic work and even then some days were too dark.
