MRS. DIETRICH HIT BY STRAY BULLET

While riding on a country road near Medford at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, enjoying the rare November sunshine, Mrs. Peter Dietrich felt a sudden pain in the upper part of the right arm and a moment later felt some small hard object fall on her lap. A hurried examination revealed she had been shot. The bullet was from a .22 calibre rifle and its condition indicated that it had glanced from some hard object along the road.

The occupants of the car heard no shot and did not know a gun had been fired until the woman was struck. Authorities were attempting to locate the owner of the gun today, but had met with no success this afternoon. The accident took place on the road that was recently constructed on the old P. & E. right-of-way north of Medford. 232*

AWARD PRIZES ON SATURDAY EVENING FOR CHEST DRIVE

Contributions for the Community Chest were still coming in today bringing the total of the drive well over the goal of $20,000, but Medford residents and those of the surrounding community are urged to continue to leave donations at the chamber of commerce if they have not already done so. This year is generally recognized as being prosperous for southern Oregon and in view of that, the drive total to be made as large as possible. Next year may not be so good. Next Saturday evening at the Fox Craterian theatre, Mayor A. W. Pines will make awards as the result of the chest work. Winners in the essay contest will receive cash prizes and presents to teams will also be awarded. The Japanese association of Medford will receive a blue pennant for contributing 100 per cent. A red banner goes to the Lions' club for having the most teams in the field while a green banner will be awarded to Mrs. W. B. Sherman for having the best team, which took in all of the surrounding community.

EXHIBIT POSTERS IN PORT CONTEST

With a total of 66 beautiful posters submitted from artists and amateurs in various parts of the country, using the Medford airport dedication July 3, 4 and 5 as their inspiration, the poster contest closed Saturday at the local chamber of commerce. Sixteen of these were sent in from the Chouinard Art School in Los Angeles. Others were from Seattle, Portland, Eugene and points throughout the northwest, as well as a substantial number being submitted locally.

Every conceivable idea of flight, and the progress made by the airplane within the past few years, is depicted by the artists. Impressionistic, futuristic and all types and movements of art are embodied in the pictorial displays.

A prize of $100 was offered at the opening of the local contest for the winning poster. Entries are now on display in the chamber of commerce headquarters. A group of three judges was appointed by the airport committee and will pass upon these within the next few days. The judges are Tom Swain, Ed Ross and Clyde Eakin.

Another National Business Recognizes Mail Tribune A. B. C.

An advertising campaign for Crema, one of the most popular 2-cent cigars on the market, starts in the Mail Tribune today and will continue for some time. Crema cigars are certified by Dr. Alfred W. McCann as "sanitary and clean," and the company advertises: "The superiority of Certified Crema starts with the choicest and tenderest leaves, ripe and mellow, and continues in goodness thru a slow, expensive maturing and mellowing process and stopped off with a wrapper that is really fine. Certified Crema contains no sugar, no floor sweepings, all long filler, all fresh, tender leaves. Over $7,000,000 was spent in perfecting the method of manufacture used by Certified Crema that insures uniformly fine, clean cigars. Followed, sanitary, crush-proof." The selection of the Mail Tribune to carry this schedule is another evidence by a national advertiser of the superiority of the Mail Tribune's coverage of this field and the recognition of the guarantee of that circulation by the Audit Bureau of Circulation. BURIAL HERE FOR ROXY ANN VICTIM; DEATH IS PUZZLE

The body of Frank Kennedy Abel, found on a lonely slope of Roxy Anne last Friday, will probably be buried in the Medford I. G. O. F. cemetery, according to Coroner H. W. Conger, who received advice from relatives in Canada last Saturday. Due to the fact that Abel had no known friends in Medford, forestalling any possible attendance at funeral services, it is probable the body will be quietly taken to the cemetery without ceremony. A funeral oration may be given by some local minister, but it would reach only the attentive ears of the attending undertakers. This coroner's office learned Saturday that Abel had engaged a room in a lodging house on Front street February 22 for two nights. He slept there one night and left the next morning, apparently in search of work. One of the roomers at the house had a fairly long conversation with Abel the evening before he left, on the front porch. He seemingly had plans of returning to the house in the evening, but he never came back. He was among the list of the missing until J. J. Baker, orchard laborer, found the body in the woodland on the southeast slope of Roxy Anne while hunting for a bee tree, seven miles from Medford on the Otis Garrett homestead property at the end of long winding, poorly kept hill road.

WOMEN THINKING OF JOBS, STATES FIELD SECRETARY

That modern women are vocational minded, and in their early youth are beginning now to think in terms of business and professions, was a statement made and emphasized by Miss Ruth Rich, field secretary of the National Business and Professional Women's Federation, who addressed members of the local women who gathered in Klamath Falls, Saturday night.

Miss Rich, who was reared in the south, told how the attitude of southern parents has changed within the past few years in regard to women seeking to earn their own livelihoods. She said that the southern mothers now have a tremendous pride in the fact that their daughters do work and are successful in professions they are following.

Miss Rich expressed deep regret to the group of local women who attended the conference that she was unable to include Medford in her itinerary. She wished them success in the state convention, which will be held in May. A caravan of Medford business and professional women motored to Klamath Falls Saturday noon, attending the dinner in honor of Miss Rich given there that night, and the breakfast for her the following morning.

They returned to Medford via Crater Lake and declared the entire trip was thoroughly enjoyable.

DETROIT SALES TOP MARKET IN LARGER CITIES

Medford Boses sold today on the Detroit market by the Winter Pear committee for an average per box of $4.25, which topped the markets of the land, and exceeded the prices in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Boston by substantial margins.

The New York and Chicago price average was around $3.80 per box. The Detroit prices by sizes were:

Table with 2 columns: Size and Price. Rows include 80s, 90s, 100s, 120s, 135s, 150s, 165s, 180s.

The car of Medford Boses sold today was the 15th, and was of good color, flavor and quality.

Car No. 14, sold last Friday, also topped the four leading markets of the land.

The prices obtained were highly gratifying to local growers and the Winter Pear committee, and proves that a co-operative campaign yields results.

There are five remaining cars of Boses of the 29 subscribed for the campaign. Some of this number will be disposed of for the Thanksgiving trade.

PLAN INQUEST DEATH OF ASHLAND YOUTH

With one or two new developments unearthed this forenoon, as the result of continued investigation, it is probable that a coroner's inquest will be held at Ashland tomorrow night into the death of Ralph Bauer, Ashland Junior high school student, who died from a burst gall bladder two weeks ago.

The injury is believed to have been caused by an external blow, and reports are current in Ashland that the boy was pummeled by a schoolmate. The inquest will cover every detail of the tragic happening, the district attorney and coroner's office declared this afternoon.
