

REESE CREEK P. T. A. TO BUY GAS LIGHTS FOR SCHOOL ROOMS

REESE CREEK, Ore., Nov. 22. (Special.)—The P. T. A. held its regular meeting last Friday. A number of things were discussed, one of the most important being the study of the child. Mr. Henry gave a short talk on "The Child, His Nature and His Needs." Miss High followed with a short talk on "Psychology and the Parent." It was decided by the association to take up the study of "The New Psychology and the Parent." The subject of more lights for the schoolhouse was discussed and it was decided that gas lanterns would be purchased. The Christmas treats were brought up and it was decided to do as it has been done in previous years. The parents or any who desire to help may send 25 cents to the teacher for every child they wish to receive a treat. The teachers will then turn the money over to a purchasing committee who will see that the candy and nuts are purchased and the socks filled. Each member drew months for which they would provide some kind of entertainment and refreshments. A public library has been installed in the school for the benefit of the parents in this district. Those who like to read may now have the use of library books by calling at the school and picking them out.

GOLD HILL SEES DWINDLING ROGUE

GOLD HILL, Ore., Nov. 22. (Special.)—During the past few weeks there has been considerable comment in Gold Hill regarding the amount of water in Rogue river. The water is the lowest it has been in the past 25 years at this season. Usually during the latter part of November, the river is rising and is from five to 12 feet above the usual water level. At present the river has risen about one foot in the last three months since the usual water level. Since it has not rained for several weeks, the river seems to be again going down, rather than rising. No rain is predicted in the near future by the weather bureau and if the weather does not change within a very short time, the river will have reached its lowest mark at this time of the year. The temperature is now at freezing point every night. Creeks which flow into Rogue river are also at their lowest stage. In previous years, these small creeks, some of which were dry in the summer time, were torrents at this season, but at present barely enough water is flowing to be noticed.

J. Wilkinson; chaplain, C. W. Roberts; lecturer, Mrs. Harry Cougle; steward, Mrs. May Fields; assistant steward, Clinton Hedge; petty body assistant steward, Thomas Wilkinson; gate keeper, Mr. Vahnenwald; Ceres, Josephine Topping; Flora, Mrs. Vahnenwald; Pomona, Mrs. Johnson. These officers will be installed the next meeting, December 21.

WILLOW SPRINGS

WILLOW SPRINGS, Ore., Nov. 22. (Special.)—Russell Harris, eldest son of Mrs. W. B. Harris, spent last week in the valley as the guest of his mother. He was here on business as well as pleasure and has been appointed trustee of the Harris estate. A correction is to be made in the item of November 1, when stated that Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Bonney entertained the Grange drill team. The dinner given on Thursday evening at the Bonney home was under the auspices of the Super-Maid aluminum agent. The dinner for the drill team is still something for them to look forward to. Carl Birkholz and Jack Sullivan of Milwaukie, Wis., who have been guests at the J. W. Birkholz home for the past six weeks, left on the Shasta last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Clements visited their son Gled, who is a student at O. S. C. They returned to Eugene Saturday where they attended the game and visited their younger son Dute. They arrived home Sunday. Carl Hoover and John Bohmert attended the game at Eugene, leaving here Friday morning and returning Sunday night. They visited the students from this district and greatly enjoyed the game. Invitations are out to Thanksgiving dinner at the J. W. Elden home. This is an annual event and much enjoyed by the favored ones. Mrs. H. B. Alverson of Grants Pass and her house guests, Mrs. Josephine Slater of Rockford and Mrs. Hattie Cleveland of Chicago, Ill., were week end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Parker. College students expected home for Thanksgiving are: Miss Wilda Richmond, Dot and Cleo Clements, George and Harry Elden and Roland Hoover. Cleo Young arrived home Sunday from a ten days' trip. He visited old classmates at Corvallis, spent a week with relatives at Cottage Grove and attended the game at Eugene. Frank Stephenson has been on the sick list for the last two weeks, but is slightly improved. A. V. Carlson has a helper and is improving his time this dry weather by getting his pruning done. The Willow Springs school board authorized a committee to purchase material for a new curtain for the schoolhouse stage. The ladies of the Willow Springs Thursday club will make the curtain, which will be hung by volunteer workmen. W. K. Parker is doing some repair work at the Willow Springs schoolhouse. The B. M. Bush family are preparing to move to Medford and the Elsie Hansen family to move into the Bush home. The two families have exchanged property. Mrs. J. D. Slagle, who has been seriously ill for some time, is able to be out again. Mr. and Mrs. Slagle were Sunday dinner guests at the M. F. Young home and on Monday they were entertained at O. S. Blackford's.

And nothing, after all, is more delightful than eating well. Charles Dickens like no other writer realized this. His characters became real personalities through their humanity—their relish of the creature comforts that we ourselves are aware of. AND BACON, so smacking good and flavory they might well have graced the boards of those jovial, discriminating connoisseurs of Dickensian adventure. Good food, tempting and served, is a treat that all people enjoy—in Dickens' own Merrie England or with us today. To think that there was any one age "when eating was an art" is really a mistake. It means overlooking, surely, the appetizing, toothsome delights to be had in FRY'S DELICIOUS BRAND HAMS. Fry's Delicious Brand Bacon. Everything in the Name Implies.
