

McEWAN IN FUSS WITH PRESIDENT

Differences Lead to Announcement of Resignation — Ends Tenure at Oregon December 31, 1930 When Contract Expires—Renewal of Employment Refused.

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Differences between Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the University of Oregon, and Captain John J. McEwan, head football coach, over the request for renewal of McEwan's contract were held today for the announcement of resignation of the coach yesterday.

McEwan's announcement stated the resignation would be effective at the expiration of his present contract, December 31, 1930. The coach said he would fulfill his contract next year "to the letter."

Two statements in which Dr. Hall and Coach McEwan set forth their conversations and communications were issued today after McEwan said he had discussed the renewal of his contract with the university president.

Wanted Renewal
"I didn't want to wait until my contract expired," McEwan said, "because it is always too late in a case like that to apply elsewhere if the contract is not renewed. I wanted a renewal now so I would not be left in a predicament."

McEwan declared Dr. Hall returned him a renewal, but Dr. Hall expressed surprise at the coach's resignation and issued the following statement in part: "The statement from Captain McEwan regarding this intention has been communicated to me or my office, so far as I have been able to discover to the athletic department. My information has been received from the press to whom he apparently made his communication."

The press's statement continued that McEwan came to his office and asked for an immediate decision on the renewal, but that Dr. Hall said he could give him no definite reply. Three other visits to Dr. Hall's office by Coach McEwan were recounted in the president's statement.

Dr. Hall said he did inform Captain McEwan that he would consider the situation, discuss it with the state board, with the athletic committee and the executive council of Associated Students and attempt to reach a decision early in the winter.

Plan Changes
"Finally, as I suggested to Captain McEwan today, we are giving serious consideration to changing the status of our coaching staff from that of contract to professional status on indefinite tenure with a possible reduction in salary," Dr. Hall's statement continued. "No decision has been reached on this important change, but I secured Captain McEwan's agreement as a decision was reached."

After reading Dr. Hall's statement, issued another communication in which he said he had visited Dr. Hall relative to a renewal of contract. And that he had asked the president whether his work had been satisfactory and would want him to continue his coaching.

In the interview he clearly indicated he had no intention of retaining me as coach," said McEwan. "When I visited him in connection with the trip of the Oregon football team to Florida, I asked him again for a decision, but he told me he had not and would not until after the first of the year. He outlined for me his idea of an ideal football coach, but it was so far in advance with what I thought a football coach should be that I asked him if he were contemplating a change. He told me he was planning on changing the staff of head coach and that he was considering changing the coaching staff from contract to a professional status with a possible reduction in salary."

Members of the Oregon football team, after hearing the report of the resignation, expressed their confidence in Captain McEwan's ability and their regret at the statement.

Hawaiian Gridmen Invade Mainland to Battle Oregon University

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 22.—(AP)—A squad of 25 football players was prepared to desert its Eugene stronghold today for a journey exceedingly short, compared to that of its gridiron foe in tomorrow's game at Multnomah stadium here, the University of Hawaii.

While the distance between Eugene and this city is slightly more than 125 miles, the mid-Pacific gridgers traversed 2800 miles of ocean and land to meet the Webfoots.

The Webfoots regard the game as one of the most severe tests of the present season and will fight to retain a record of only one defeat this year. The Islanders, on the other hand, are out to revenge a 6 to 9 defeat at the hands of the Oregonians on Hawaiian territory last New Year's day.

Oregon will play its final contest of the season in the Northwest without its outstanding performer, John Kitzmiller, the "Flying Dutchman." Kitzmiller was injured last Saturday in the annual homecoming game between the Webfoots and Oregon State college at Eugene. Johnny Lombardi, Kitzmiller's understudy, is expected to ably plug the gap, however.

Both Oregon and Hawaii were to run through brief workouts today, then rest until the starting of the game. The Webfoots, however, accompanied the game, however, tomorrow's battle will be virtually the deciding factor in the Pacific coast conference race for supremacy. The Californians are as yet undefeated, and a win tomorrow will give them the loop title. Stanford is out of the running for the crown. Should California be defeated, the title would go to the Southern California Trojans in event the latter are successful in their two remaining conference battles.

Bears Favored
The Bears, because of their great steadiness, and all round powerful team, have been installed slight favorites to take the measure of their Palo Alto rivals. It is the first time since 1923, however, that they have entered the big game favored to win.

Approximately 30,000 will witness the battle of the two bitter gridiron clans.

One other conference game is scheduled for tomorrow, but season performances indicate it will be extremely one-sided. The Idaho Vandals travel to Los Angeles to meet the Southern Californians, and the game should be an easy Trojan victory.

Non-Conference Games
Two coast conference teams will compete in inter-sectional contests tomorrow, the remainder will meet non-conference opponents on the Pacific slope. The University of Washington Huskies, who have not won a conference game this year, will battle the University of Chicago on the latter's home field, and the Oregon State eleven, also low in conference standings, taken on the University of Detroit, in a game at Detroit.

Washington State college meets the powerful Gonzaga bulldogs at Spokane, and the University of Oregon squad will be host to a team representing the University of Hawaii in a game scheduled to be played in Portland.

The other conference teams are listed.

RAMBLERS AND HUSKIES MEET BIG TEN TEAMS

Northwestern Hopes to Spoil Record of Notre Dame Saturday—Chicago Tangles With Coast Squad On Stagg Field.

By William Weeks, Associated Press Sports Writer.
CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Big Ten football will close one of its most sensational seasons tomorrow with three inter-league games and two contests involving teams from outside the conference.

Purdue, rated in September as just a good team, wrecked the hope and won its first Big Ten title, and will close its season against its rival, Indiana, tomorrow at Bloomington.

Indiana, defeated by Colgate, Chicago and Minnesota and tied by Ohio State, hardly ranks as equal to the job of tripping the championship Purdue eleven, but after last week's upset triumph over Northwestern, may have punch enough to make one scratch on the Hoosiers' slate.

The only other game involving important position in conference standings will be played at Columbus, O., where Ohio State and Illinois, tied for second place, will meet. Each team has two victories, one defeat and a tie.

At Ann Arbor, Iowa will make its last stand of the season against Michigan's improved Wolverines. Wisconsin and Minnesota will fight out their ancient rivalry at Minnesota, with nothing at stake except the result of the game itself.

The big attraction of the day will be at Evanston, where Northwestern takes on Notre Dame's great eleven. The Wildcats have not beaten a Rockne team in recent years, but always have managed to give the Irish plenty of trouble. They hope to be the team that spoils Notre Dame's perfect record. A capacity crowd of 50,000 will witness the struggle.

Huskies Play Chicago.
Stagg field at Chicago will provide the inter-sectional game of the schedule when Chicago meets the University of Washington eleven. The Huskies have one of the biggest teams in the country, and in their last two battles fought Stanford and California to the limit, only to lose by one touchdown margin. Chicago, noted in the past for its line-crunching attacks, will depend on a wide-open game, the bid to add a victory over Washington to its triumph at Princeton, in inter-sectional competition.

Members of the Oregon football team, after hearing the report of the resignation, expressed their confidence in Captain McEwan's ability and their regret at the statement.

OUT & KEELER'S GOLF BAG

By O. B. Keeler.
At a recent encampment of the 122nd Infantry, Georgia national guard, at Fort McClellan, Ala., Jack O'Leary, a former officer, came over for a visit with the boys. He is now manager of the Birmingham Country club and some of us naturally got to talking golf.

"Our team lost a match in a recent competition," said Jack, "when one of our boys hit a ball into the rough and it rolled into a crooked sack. He used three blows getting it out, and the team lost the competition by two strokes."

This of course recalled the time Bobby Jones pitched from the first tee in the New Orleans Country club into a large shoe in a wheelbarrow near the green, and not being sure of the rules, conscientiously whacked the shoe out on to the green with a niblick, the ball luckily rolled out, and he got down in two putts for a 4.

Once upon a time—I think in a national amateur championship—Jerry Travers pulled a long shot into a clump of caddies standing at the edge of the fairway and the ball could not be found. Apparently it had struck one of the caddies, and finally he was singled out and cross-examined. It developed that the ball had gone through a rent in the caddy's shirt and lodged against his ribs. Fearing he would get into trouble for interfering with an important match, he had slipped it into his pocket and was not going to mention it. The ball of course was dropped without penalty as near as possible where the boy was standing.

In a recent newspaper's tournament in Atlanta, played at Ashley Park, two balls, struck at the same time on adjoining fairways, traveled sufficiently off line to get over neutral ground, or rough, and there collided in the air, each rebounding into the wrong fairway.

Charlie Seiple, writing with a four-ball match at the sixth tee at East Lake to play an iron shot to the island green when a slow match should have departed, teed his ball and then turned to the lake at his right, where a little flock of wild ducks were lighting. "Let's see you hit one of them," suggested somebody.

Charlie turned around and let fly a powerful iron shot of more than 200 yards. The ball struck a duck squarely, stunning it and breaking its wing. A caddy went out in a boat and retrieved it. "Now you tell one."

TEAM CONFIDENCE RETURNS AS HURT PLAYERS RECOVER

The Medford high school football team, recovered somewhat from its early setbacks, and with more confidence than at any time, leaves in the morning for Klamath Falls, where they will play the Klamath Falls high school, a large and beefy aggregation. It has been eight years since a Klamath gridiron squad defeated a local team, and they are pointed for a victory.

The locals have been practicing all week, and in practice there seems to be more co-ordination between the line and the backfield.

Couch Hazan will take 21 or 22 players on the trip, with a first string lineup as follows: C. Thomas and Morris, ends; Cunningham and Deahby, tackles; Green and Sprague, guards; Newlin, center; Herrington, quarter; Zumburn, fullback; Wentzel and Potter, halfbacks.

Others likely to make the trip are: Cave, center; Archer, end; White and Castleman, tackles; R. Thomas, end; O. Hughes, end; Murray, quarter; Walker, half, and others.

The Ashland team will not play Saturday, their next and final game being with Medford at Ashland on Thanksgiving day.

ROCKNE FORCED STAY AT HOME

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Knut Rockne probably has seen his 1929 Notre Dame football team in formal competition for the last time.

The infection in Rockne's right leg, which forced him almost out of action eight weeks ago, made its way into the left leg, and his physician, Dr. Robert L. Sensenich, has ordered complete rest, even though the team must face Northwestern at Evanston Saturday and Army in New York, a week hence.

Dr. Sensenich hastened to add that Rockne's condition is no cause of real alarm, but said recovery would be long delayed unless the coach gets absolute rest from now on.

MEDFORD GRADS IN SONS LINEUP

Connie Conrad and George Wilson, former Medford high school football players, will be in the Southern Oregon Normal school lineup in their game tomorrow afternoon at Ashland with the Humboldt Teachers college team.

The lineup of the two teams was announced today as follows:

THREE VARSITY PLAYERS WILL NOT MAKE TRIP

EUGENE, Ore., Nov. 22.—(AP)—Indignation meetings at several University of Oregon fraternity houses last night followed the announcement that three members of the varsity football team would not make the December 7 trip to Miami for the University of Florida game, because of scholastic difficulties.

Austin Colbert, star tackle; Irvin Schultz, substitute tackle, and Charles Spear, backfield man, were ruled ineligible because they did not meet scholastic requirements. The three will be permitted to play in the Hawaii-Oregon game in Portland tomorrow.

Absence of the three from school for the period necessary for the long Florida trip would put them too far behind in their scholastic work, the faculty decided.

The team will also be without the services of Johnny Kitzmiller, star quarterback, out with a broken ankle, and George Stadelman, center, who has been out of the game for some time with an ankle injury.

Bobby Robinson, negro half-back fish, and Charles Williams, another negro halfback, will not be taken on the southern trip.
