

HEAR ARGUMENTS ON MOTION GORE ALIENATION CASE

Arguments were heard this afternoon in the circuit court on motions filed in the $50,000 alienation suit filed by Mrs. Gertrude M. Gore, against her parents-in-law, W. H. Gore and his wife, Sophia I. Gore, well known pioneer residents of this valley. Mrs. Gertrude M. Gore alleges that the parents of her husband encouraged him in an estrangement, and she further alleges that they fostered a triangle affair in which Melba Williams, a school teacher, was one of the points of the angle.

EARNED TITLE, IS VIEW OF GREGORY

Medford is still cashing in on its football fame through winning last year's championship and its outstanding teams of the past few years, as witness the following in L. H. Gregory's sport gossip column in the Oregonian yesterday: "Now come the annual screams from neglected high schools. Any unwary mention at this time of year of a supposedly complete list of undefeated high school football teams is sure to elicit anguished protests from 10 or 12 more that have been overlooked. Not that I blame the boys. Heck, no! The more lung power to 'em. The general public will eliminate to a championship of one kind or another, unofficial if it can't be official, and since the state association always has been, and by unalterable, adamant and high-minded vote of its non-title-minded principals, always will be, opposed to a genuine championship, it naturally becomes a shouting match. If you don't shout, you won't be heard."

Evidence that Medford and surrounding territory is taking advantage of the speed offered by air mail, is the report of a big increase in poundage for the first nine months of 1929 over the corresponding time in 1928, announced today by the Medford post office. Nearly six thousand pounds of mail has been sent from this city this year by air, compared to 4329 pounds last year.

HAD SUFFERED 15 YEARS, SHE SAID

"I suffered for fifteen years until life hardly seemed worth living, but thanks to Sargon I'm now well and strong again."

MRS. G. F. NEFF
"Blindness and constipation kept me ailing almost continually. Even the strongest foods brought on a spell of nausea, and I had terrible sick headaches. I had a tired, achy feeling all the time, and all my strength and ambition seemed to leave me. I slept but little."
