

CARD VICTORY WAS WON DAY BEFORE GAME

Tribune's Special Correspondent Maintains It Was Inner Spirit of Aroused University That Slaughtered California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—(Special to Mail Tribune)—There is something more to football than what meets the eye. There is the inner spirit—call it mental attitude, morale or what you will—

It is, in our opinion, the one thing that, more than any other, wins football games. And it was this quality that allowed Stanford, twice defeated, with a ragged offense and a feeble defense, to beat California—an unbeaten team with a national title within its grasp—in the "big game" at Palo Alto Saturday.

The answer to this surprising upset—one of the most sensational in an upsetting season—was that the Cards had that spirit and the Bears didn't. More than that, while 30,000 people will maintain Stanford defeated California in the Palo Alto stadium Saturday, we maintain they really won the victory two days before, when "the greatest football rally ever held at Stanford was put on at the university and broadcast over the coast-to-coast hook-up.

Those who listened in on that broadcast must have sensed this spirit and the conquering power of it. There was a subtle, but perfectly tangible something in that demonstration that transcended the mere whipping up of football enthusiasm. One felt it was an absolute "will to win," from head coach and captain of the team, down through the squad bucket boy and the student body to the quivering frame of the oldest living graduate.

Southern California a month ago. Nothing but this inner spirit, this will to win, that simply wasn't going to stop until it had won.

This may appear rather a complicated analysis of merely another big football game. Nevertheless, it is to our mind, both a true and interesting one. It even hovers about important things in life, like the power of spiritual faith, and the influence of mind over matter. And we believe those who saw these two games—the U. S. C. and the "big game"—will be inclined to agree. (Want want of course. He will call this all appearance.)

In fact, these two games were perfect examples of the same thing, only with the respective roles reversed. In the game a month ago, the Trojans had the same spirit that Stanford had Saturday and Stanford lacked this quality a month ago. Just as California did yesterday. We started out by saying this quality was something that doesn't meet the eye. This is only half true. It is essentially an inner spirit, but it has its outward manifestations.

You doubt it? All right—but we—the unflinching editorial "we"—SAY IT. It was there—in the hands as they strutted their stuff, in the captains as they tossed the coin—in the players at the kick-off and in every play they revealed off. They were out to win, not to fight hard and go down with the ship with colors flying—but to conquer. It was simply in the air. It was inside every player. Just as the Trojans couldn't have beaten a month ago, so nothing could have beaten the Cards yesterday. As far as breaks were concerned, California yesterday got all the best of it—only one costly fumble to Stanford's 5, only 25 yards lost on penalties to 68 for Stanford. So also a month ago Stanford got all the breaks. But breaks were in the day's work for the U. S. C. team, as they were for the Cards yesterday. Other things being all equal, give a team what the Trojans and Stanford had, and the winner is known before the first whistle blows.

So that's that. Incidentally it was a beautiful day, a great crowd and a thrilling game—a particularly thrilling for the Stanford partisans, among whom, for no reason in the world, the present scribe is numbered.

Not good football strictly speaking. Too many fumbles, one awful fumble by Artman, Cardinal tackle, when he poked Beckett of California in the eye, was ruled off the field, protesting like a naughty school boy and his team neutral half the distance to their goal. Poor judgment on both sides, at critical times, but particularly by California.

Stanford, for example on Cal's 20-yard line, tried a place-kick on the 4th down, instead of a forward pass. With the score 14 to 4 in Stanford's favor, a place kick would have been of no real value, for California had to score twice to beat 14, and scoring twice would have also beaten the score of 17, a place kick would have given them. On the other hand a forward pass would have either put the game on ice completely with a touchdown, or merely left them where the failure to place kick left them—Cal's ball on their own 20-yard line.

On the other hand, California, it seemed to us, used wretched judgment throughout. In that first quarter, far down in their own territory, they should have kicked out of danger, instead of trying to rush the ball. For they ran the risk of just what occurred—a fumble (or an intercepted pass) with their opponents in the danger zone. That fumble gave Stanford the break at just the psychological time. A touchdown followed less than 5 minutes after the kick-off—and everyone knows what an edge the first touchdown gives a team "hopped up" as Stanford was.

Then with the score hopelessly against them, but with one full quarter to play, and always that outside chance to upset the apple cart, which the forward pass gives the modern game, California, for some inexplicable reason, kept trying to rush the ball in their own territory, and never started their forward passing attack (in that final quarter) until the last 5 minutes of the game—and any chance of winning was completely gone.

As for stars, "Mush" Muller, the Cardinal captain certainly deserves first mention. He played as a football captain in his last and most important game, should play always hopes to play—but SELL-DOM does. It was Muller, who recovered that first fumble which led to Stanford's first score; it was Muller who blocked Lomb's punt, recovered the ball and made Stanford's second touchdown; it was Muller who was inspiring his men all the time, all over the field, and smearing the Cal backfield line and again. Then would come Smalling, Moffatt, Frentrup, Clark and Cagliari for Stanford, Hlegals and Schwartz for California—2 great scrappers; never quitting, although in a hopeless cause.

But why quibble? Herb worked hard, and it was a great game. He is probably not to blame for the fact that favorable publicity has a certain affinity for 10 or 20 million dollars.

CLARENCE SPEARS TO GET BAGSHAW BERTH IS RUMOR

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Reports persisted today that Dr. Clarence Spears of the University of Minnesota was to succeed Enoch Bagshaw as head football coach at the University of Washington, effective next season.

Earl Campbell, student manager of athletics at Washington, remained over in Chicago after the inter-sectional game between the Huskies and Chicago, thereby indicating Washington was at least angling for the services of a Big Ten mentor.

Coach Jimmy Phelan of Purdue and Pat Page of Indiana were also rumored as desirable for the Washington post, but they as well as Dr. Spears, said they had not been approached.

GATES BOWLERS ROLL IN KLAMATH

The C. E. Gates Auto company bowling team met the Balsiger Motor Co. of Klamath Falls Sunday. The teams played six games and each won three of them. The Gates aggregation, however, figure that they brought home the bacon because their total score was 197 pins higher than that of their adversaries. The latter challenged Gates to another match, to be played at the Natatorium alleys in Medford Tuesday afternoon. They were promptly accepted. According to schedule the two teams will start playing at 4:15. Bowling fans are invited to witness this contest. The results of the games played at Klamath Falls yesterday are as follows:

C. E. Gates Auto Co., Medford: 784 711 754 652 711 748—4870
Balsiger Motor Co., Klamath Falls: 716 729 655 663 751 669—4183

STATE TAX VALUATION ANNOUNCED

Total Property Assessed at $1,124,998,691—In Excess of 1928 Total By $2,656,511—Jackson County Gains—Utility Assessment Placed at $6,953,842 This County

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Oregon's total assessed valuation for 1929, on which will be based the tax levy for 1930, is $1,124,998,691.82. This was announced today by the state tax commission.

The total figure is a combination of $944,789,311.47 in local assessments reported by the county assessors, and $180,199,380.35 assessed valuation of public utility property as fixed by the state tax commission.

The total is $2,656,511.39 more than the 1928 total of $1,122,332,180.43. Local assessments this year are $1,843,794.53 less than the 1928 figure of $946,633,016, and the utility assessments are $4,509,215.93 in excess of the 1928 total of $175,699,194.43.

The commission accounts for the increase in public utility assessed valuations by new development and expansion of utility companies.

Changes in local assessment figures are spotted. Multnomah county's assessment this year is $231,339,316, against $226,320,983 last year, a gain of $5,000,227. The total of the other 35 counties is less than last year by $6,893,921.53 in round numbers.

Twenty-two of the 36 counties show decreases in local assessments. They are Baker, Clackamas, Columbia, Coos, Deschutes, Douglas, Gilliam, Harney, Hood River, Josephine, Klamath, Lake, Lincoln, Linn, Marion, Morrow, Polk, Sherman, Tillamook, Union, Wallowa and Yamhill.

TRADING SLOW AS STOCKS HOLD TO LOW LEVELS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Stock prices showed a distinctly reactionary tendency today as five hour sessions were resumed. Prices of many leading stocks broke 2 to nearly 12 points during the morning but brisk recoveries took place in many cases when it became apparent that the decline was not causing any extensive liquidation of either investment or speculative holdings. Trading was relatively dull.

Call money renewed unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent, but the rate was again shaded in the outside market. An easy undertone developed in other monetary markets. Business news generally was favorable.

Wall Street was pleased at the response to President Hoover's efforts to stimulate business and to reports that pre-holiday trade in New York department stores was in large volume.

Liquidation of the copper shares continued during the late trading, but strong support was thrown into other sections of the list in the last hour, and early losses in leading shares were generally recovered. Calumet and Arizona dropped 6 1/2 points, Cerro de Pasco 5 and Kennecott 4. General Electric more than recovered its loss of 11 points, and Johns Manville and Westinghouse practically wiped out losses of 6 and 5 points. U. S. Steel converted an early loss of 2 3/4 points into a net gain of nearly a point. The closing tone was steady. Total sales approximated 3,100,000 shares.

It is also highly probable that the county will improve the Applegate road to the Blue Ledge mine, if that copper property resumes operations, as signs now indicate.

The erection of the bridge, formerly over Rogue river at Gold Hill, across Bear creek in the Ashland area, to provide an outlet for territory east of Ashland, is also under consideration, but no definite action will be taken until the county engineer has made a survey and a place agreeable to all has been

Needless Pain!

Some folks take pain for granted. They let a cold "run its course." They wait for their headaches to "wear off." If suffering from neuralgia or from neuritis, they rely on feeling better in the morning. Meantime, they suffer unnecessary pain. Unnecessary, because there is an antidote. Bayer Aspirin always offers immediate relief from various aches and pains we once had to endure. If pain persists, consult your doctor as to its cause. Save yourself a lot of pain and discomfort through the many uses of Bayer Aspirin. Protect yourself by buying the genuine. Bayer is safe. Always the same. All drugstores.

... in a cigarette it's TASTE!

...that's why THE BYRD EXPEDITION chose Chesterfield

Few tests are fool-proof—but the Byrd Antarctic Expedition used one when it chose cigarettes for its two years in the ice. Members of the expedition—all men of judgment and experience—were simply asked, "What cigarette do you like best?" And a large majority answered Chesterfield. Picked men, picked cigarettes...cigarettes chosen for the only reason that ever appeals to experienced smokers: dependable good taste—"TASTE above everything"
