Again is seen the silver lining of the cloud. After despair had seemed to wrap him as a shroud.

Thanksgiving Day—Another picture darkening "neath the stars." Our boys across the seas, while nations worshipped Mars; The smoke has cleared; the guns are staked; armistice declared. And joy now fills the hearts that erstwhile had despaired.

Thanksgiving Day—The Southern music on this picture, seen also. A picture of despair and hope, of children's helpless cries— Father, Kelly went to help—Sing a thanksgiving song For P. of H. number now eight hundred thousand strong.

Thanksgiving Day—Our happiness we oft times put in pawn. Forgetting that the hours are hatched just before the dawn. And we fall to see our blessings when our hearts are sorely tried— Blessed gifts of friends and love and dear ones by our side. —G. H.

Each Point Grange. A very pleasant meeting of the Grange was held at the last regular meeting on Tuesday night, November 19, although the attendance was somewhat smaller than usual.

Our Grange usually has a very good attendance, there being from 80 to 150 members present at each meeting. We believe our Grange is standard so far as attendance of members is concerned. We are also standard in many other counts. We have been wonderful in our efforts to bring in new members. The general discussion centered around the ever present subject of marketing, the particular phase this time being the public market. Although there is still a great difference of opinion as to the trade a public market should cater to retail, wholesale, or both, it is inevitable that a plan will soon be evolved that will meet with the approval of the majority for the Grange Motto.

In essentials, unity;
In non-essentials, liberty;
In all things, charity.

Object.
The great object and crowning glory of our organization is to "Educate and Elevate the American Farmer."

"For we seek the greatest good to the greatest number."

Honorable Calling.
There is no calling more elevating to the mind than that of agriculture, when viewed as presented in our order. God, in the beginning, made it honorable, and it is our duty to sustain it as such.

character is built up by a better understanding of Grange principles. A better knowledge of the purpose and object of the Grange will result in better work in all of its various departments.

A greater insight into the vision of the early founders of the Grange will give us a clearer, truer vision of the real spirit of the Grange. Such a wonderful opportunity to impart to our newer members a better understanding of the principles, purpose and aims of the Grange should not be neglected. We should lose no chance to instill a greater respect for our beloved order in the minds of our members and this respect follows naturally with a better understanding of the work. That order which has done so much to "elevate and educate the American farmer" and in building manhood and womanhood.

Drugless Healers Conquer Catarrh
Inflammation Quickly Subdued
What is commonly called catarrh is a condition of inflamed mucous membrane. This disease can affect any organ or part of the body lined with membranous tissue, such for example, as the bladder and bowels as well as the head, nose and throat. There is a catarrh of the generic anatomy which distressingly affects hundreds of thousands of women the world over.

Acute Nasal Catarrh affects the mucous membrane lining of the nose and communicating cavities. It usually is characterized by disorder of the sense of smell and an abnormal mucous discharge. It is commonly called a cold in the head and begins with chilliness along the back, headache and a general feeling of weariness. There may be a slight fever, sneezing and feeling of dryness in the nostrils, so the patient feels more comfortable when breathing through the mouth. There is a water secretion from the nose and eyes and an impairment of the senses of smell and taste. The inflammation may extend downward, making the pharynx red and swollen, and there usually are sores in the nose and on the lips. Often there is partial deafness, owing to swelling of the membrane of the Eustachian tube leading from the throat to the middle ear.

Chronic Nasal Catarrh indicates structural changes in the nasal membrane. It progresses from the acute form, and the nasal passages become thickened, dark red in color, and there is a congestion of the blood vessels. One or both of the passages may become closed. Another form of chronic nasal catarrh atrophies the mucous membrane, and the passages become enlarged from the tissues withering. Frequently there are ulcers on the membrane, from which there comes an offensive discharge.

Effects of Catarrh
Sufferers with catarrh are highly susceptible to head colds. Mouth breathing is also a common result of interference with the air passages. There is more or less constant sniffling. The voice becomes nasal, and there may be varying degrees of deafness and adenoid growths in the nose and pharynx. Unless catarrh is caused by constitutional disease, it involves no danger of fatality, though it is one of the most disagreeable and annoying afflictions we know, one that is apt to make life miserable in many ways. In the course of time it will gradually undermine the patient's general health.

Local Treatment Ineffective
Trying to cure catarrh by local treatment is a waste of time. In the first place the victims of catarrh can never expect to be rid of it until the causes within the body are corrected. Douches, liquids, sprays, powders, etc., can not touch or remove these causes.

A New Natural Discovery
The Science of Chiropractic has discovered the only rational method of removing the causes of catarrh known to the healing arts. The primary cause of catarrh in any form is to be found in the disturbances of the natural processes of body. Nerve energy is the agent that carries on these processes and controls every function in every organ and part. These forces are normally active when they are provided with nerve energy from the brain in normal quantity. In a large percentage of all diseases it will be found that there are obstructions on the nerve lines to interfere with the passage of nerve energy. Chiropractic is the new drugless science of locating and removing these obstructions by hand adjustment. The Chiropractor will gladly refer you to scores of cases of his own observation in which Chiropractic has succeeded, where other efforts failed. There are cases of substantial people whose position puts their credibility beyond question, many of whom have scoured the world in search of health and found it in Chiropractic.
