

HEIRLOOMS SHOWN BY PHOENIX FOLK AT CLUB MEETING

PHOENIX, Ore., Nov. 26.—(Special)—The Daffodil club met at the home of Mrs. J. O. N. Poling last Wednesday for an all-day meeting with covered dish luncheon at noon.

Each lady had been asked to bring an heirloom for display. There were 14 ladies present besides the hostess and some of the heirlooms created applause and much comment.

Mrs. Ed Anderson contributed to the collection a sampler which had been worked by her grandmother, and which was over a hundred years old.

Mrs. Vinson, mother of Mrs. Poling, brought a knitted hood over eighty years old. Although yellow with age the hood was still in good condition.

The heirloom which won the most comment was one displayed by the hostess, Mrs. J. O. N. Poling which was a relic of the civil war days.

The next meeting of the Daffodil club will be held at the home of Mrs. M. P. Sheets on the first Wednesday in December.

Shrine Plans Peace Demonstration At Toronto Meeting Early in Year, As Testimonial to Herbert Hoover

One of the most tremendous projects ever undertaken by a fraternal organization—a project to effect and create a sentiment of peace among the nations of the world—has been launched by Shriner of North America, Imperial Potentate Leo V. Youngworth of Los Angeles recently announced.

Encouraged by the great sincerity of President Hoover and Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain when the two met in the hills of Virginia to discuss world peace, the Shrine will accept the challenge of the two leaders and rededicate itself to the Masonic ideal of brotherhood and good will of mankind, Mr. Youngworth declared.

One of the startling features of the Shrine project is the fact that the organization, fundamentally adverse to participating in matters of political nature, will strive to arouse a sentiment bound to effect, directly or indirectly, the political destinies of all nations.

Backed by the 600,000 Shriners of North America—men recognized as the leaders of their communities—the project will reach its climax with the peace meeting of the imperial council at Toronto, Canada, on June 10, 11 and 12, 1930.

According to Mr. Youngworth, the Shrine will attempt to make the Toronto gathering the greatest peace demonstration ever held. Grand masters of Masonic bodies of the United States and Canada will be invited to participate as guests of the Shrine, together with the governors of states of this nation and provinces of Canada.

There will be a huge peace banquet, at which the speaker, not yet named, will dwell on the principle of the Shrine project.

A peace parade will be held, culminating with the unveiling of the Shrine world peace monument at Toronto—a memorial, Mr. Youngworth said, which will be comparable in significance to the statue of Liberty which France placed in New York harbor.

A peace flag will be unfurled, the Arabic inscription, "Salaamun aleikum"—"Peace be on you; and on you be the peace."

VICTOR PROGRAM THANKSGIVING NIGHT FEATURES M'CORMICK

John McCormick, world-famous Irish tenor, will sing for a nationwide radio audience as the featured artist of the Victor hour to be broadcast from station WEAF over the NBC system, at ten o'clock, Thanksgiving night, November 28.

Mr. McCormick's program will be composed of many of his most successful numbers. Prominent in the list is the well-known, "Kathleen M'Keen," "The Starry Day," "Mary Dear," an arrangement of "Londonderry Airs," for which McCormick wrote the lyrics.

The Victor Thanksgiving program will include selections by the new Victor Salon orchestra, under the direction of Nathaniel Shilkret in some of which a large vocal chorus will also be featured.

An unusual novelty will be the first performance on the air of "The Victor," a recent march composition of Mr. Shilkret which in the future will introduce all Victor hours.

John Gilbert in Craterian Talkie Daringly sophisticated, John Gilbert's latest talking triumph, "His Glorious Night," a filmization of Molnar's famous stage play, "Olympia," opened at Hunt's Craterian yesterday as a most delightfully out-loud bit of romantic comedy.

Perhaps the outstanding charm and fascination of the picture is in the swift tempo that brings out the sparkling dialogue like a mountain stream racing over the rocks. The motivation is distinctly spicy and is calculated to whet the appetite of the most exacting of cinematic palates.

Katharine Dalton, New York stage star, makes her talkie season debut opposite Gilbert as the beautiful young widow who happens to be a princess and therefore becomes a puppet of passions in a court of regal conventionalities. That she falls in love with the dashing young officer is, of course, indiscreet. When she spurns him as a peasant of low birth, however, she invites herself to partake of a bitter situation which gives him an upper hand.

LIGHTING the BEDROOM...

Real comfort and practical needs call for three forms of lighting in your bedroom: Overhead fixture or wall brackets for general illumination—lights on each side of mirrors and dressing table—bedside lamp for reading in bed. A sewing lamp and desk or table lamp are needed by most women for bedroom use. Decorative shades and fixtures will add greatly to the charm of your room.

LOCAL CHILDREN IN BREAKAWAY DANCE

Eight pupils of the Eve Benson Dancing Academy appeared in a short program at the Fox Craterian Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The breakaway, latest snappy jazz and tap number, was shown for the first time in Medford, by four clever dancers, costumed as little French waitresses.

These girls were Helen McAllister, Louise Elrod, La Marie Beck and Dorothy Burgess. Another tap number was very well rendered by the same girls and received with great favor.

Four little acrobats and tumblers who announced the numbers with charming grace were Rae LeFevre, 8 years old, Barbara Bevan and Barbara Franklin, both 6 years, and Shirley Angle 5 1/2.

The numbers were accompanied by Miss Mercia Mische.

BRUSSELS.—(A)—Horse meat is becoming increasingly popular in Belgian industrial centers, largely because of a rise in the cost of living. In Charleroi 3,330 horses and only 850 oxen were killed for food last year.

ROAD WORK IS CURE REVOLUTIONARY ITCH HONDURAN GENERALS

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras.—(A)—Road building as a cure for "revolutionary itch" has been a success this year in Honduras. It has also answered a question as to what the government should do with its huge crop of generals.

Generals, of course, are supposed to be fighters and when there is no fighting some of them grow tired of idleness and sometimes try to stir up a little excitement. So the government decided that work would be a good outlet for these pent up energies. There were two naval districts and seventeen army districts which 19 of the restless spirits could command, but there were plenty left over.

Honduras needs roads and the generals are good bosses. So, the superintendent committees were detailed to oversee road gangs. They did good work too. Nine of them were assigned to the North Coast road, about 120 miles long and among those who made monuments for themselves in the shape of smooth highways were Generals Angel Matute, Blas Dominguez, Pedro Trinito, Francisco Villadarez, Ruben Barahona and Ricardo Landiabal.

Some of the working generals were liberals and some were conservatives but they realized that good roads would redound to the credit of their political parties and there was much rivalry among them.

Further events proved that after spending a day in the hot sun of the lowlands directing the work of road building, any general, no matter how much of a general he is, feels more inclined to tranquility than to starting a fight.

CENTRAL POINT SCHOOL WILL GIVE OPERETTAS WEDNESDAY EVENING

CENTRAL POINT, Ore., Nov. 26.—(Special)—Next Wednesday evening, November 27th, two operettas will be given in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock. The little state by Elmer Moppy, Cottontail and Peter Rabbit in Mr. McGregor's garden will be portrayed by children of the primary grades.

The stage setting is being prepared under the direction of Tom Swem.

A short musical comedy will be presented by an older group of pupils. This shows the efforts of two New Yorkers to fit into rural life while two young people from the farm pretend to have an intimate knowledge of city life.

The cast of "Peter Rabbit" is as follows: Peter Rabbit, Clyde Lees; Flopsy, Geneva Millard; Mopsy, Vivienne Ross; Cotton Tail, Loren Webster; Mother Rabbit, Betty Hill; Mr. McGregor, Donald Richardson; Carrots—Iris Hill, Homer Young, Harold Lewis, Milton Pitts, Robert Grisham, Inez Morningstar, Richard Wyatt, Doris Lee Anderson, Margaret DeWayne.

Beans—Bobby Tucker (smallest bean), Donald Nichols (biggest bean), Billie Lees, Byron Miller, Clifford Miller, Charles Bernhard, Marion Baker, Vernon Holland, George Jacobs.
