

BOSC PEARS GO NOVEMBER SET AT LOWER PRICE DRY, COLD AND ACCOUNT CHILL WARM RECORDS

The 20th car and final car of Medford Bosc pears, offered by the Winter Pear committee, was sold today in Detroit at an average of $3.22 per box, the lowest of the campaign. Poor condition of the pears and cold weather kept the price down.

The price by sizes were:
80's $3.15
90's 3.05
100's 2.90
110's 2.85
120's 2.75
135's 2.65
150's 2.55
165's 2.45
180's 2.35

David R. Wood, chairman of the Winter Pear committee, read the report at the Traffic association meeting. He said that including the prices today, the Detroit campaign would cost between $200 and $500. It was expected that the cost would be nearer $1000 when the campaign was launched. Shippers at the noon meeting expressed their appreciation of the campaign and said that large shippers and distributors of the Pacific coast were vitally impressed with the campaign, and its results. Several said they knew of growers who were dubious about the campaign at the start, but were now enthusiastic supporters, and in favor of next year conducting campaigns in other eastern cities.

KLAMATH PEOPLE BUY TALENT MEAT MARKET

TALENT, Ore., Dec. 5.—(Special.) Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Childers closed a deal Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Ora Eiler of Klamath Falls for the sale of their property on the highway in Talent consisting of the meat market and living rooms adjoining. Mr. and Mrs. Eiler will take possession immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. Childers and two sons Buford and Johnny, expect to leave for California in a short time for the winter.

CROWDS SEE YULE FETE

good order and when the supply became exhausted 15 or 20 more boxes of stick candy were obtained to reach the youngsters, who found their greatest delight to be given a tin of whistling and horn tooting shortly after the distribution began.

The Christmas opening was regarded today as the biggest success ever put on by the merchants, the majority of whom had special window displays, unveiled when electric lights were extinguished for a few moments at 7 o'clock, 15 minutes before the arrival of the North Pole airplane special.

Upon the completion of the distribution of candy and toys at the chamber, the huge crowd of parents, onlookers and children dispersed to wander about in the business section viewing the many attractive window displays, some of which were extraordinary examples of Christmas art.

Prizes Awarded
Prizes were awarded to outstanding displays and the list is announced as follows:
Furniture and hardware, Weeks and Orr first, Browne's second; electrical and radio, People's Electric Store first, Medford Electric second; jewelry, Diamond's first, Brophy's second; utilities, California Oregon Power company first, Southern Oregon Gas Corp. second; bakeries, Fluhrer's first, Model second; auto and service supplies, Gates Auto Co. first, Medford Service Station second; stationery and notions, Sveena's first, Office Supply company second; confectioneries, C. G. & Co.'s first, Delicatessen Store second.

Department stores, Mann's first; Russell's second, specialty shops, Ethelwyn R. Hoffman's first, Stevard's $10 and $25 store second; shoes, Kidd's first, Bootery second; drugs, Strang's first, Colvig's second; men's furnishings, Model first, Campbell's clothing store second; groceries, Skaggs's Safeway stores first, Madsen second. Honorable mention was given the Big Pines Lumber company, Palmer's Music House and Medford Beauty Shop.

Crowds Leave Marks
As an interesting sidelight to last night's event, some merchants today were figuring on the number of finger and foot prints they found this morning on the display windows, caused by prospective Christmas shoppers and youngsters attempting to gain better views by pressing close against the glass. One merchant went as far as to estimate there were possibly nearly 100,000 prints caused by the evening crowds.

Santa Claus, in a wire he sent back today, indicated he was so pleased with the local reception and that due to his inability to see all the local youngsters, he will make a return trip to Medford December 21 to appear at the Rialto theatre at 10:30 in the forenoon to greet the children in connection with a free show. Over 2000 children were given gifts last night, and it was believed there was a fairly good sized number that had been overlooked.

Outstanding in last night's opening were the services of Earl Davis who took part in the ceremonies in connection with the committee in charge.

Without exception the month of November, 1929, was the driest November record. Since the beginning of weather bureau records in 1911, the total precipitation for November has never fallen below 0.87 inches. With a normal rainfall of 2.48 inches, a deficiency of 1.61 inches is shown for the month, the total being 0.87 inches. The dryness of the month is a continuation of a long period of aridity which began about the middle of June, 1929, and with the exception of a short interval of rainy weather during the first decade of October, extended through November.

The average temperature for the month was a little below the normal temperature for November. However, maximum readings were slightly higher than is usual. These higher temperatures were offset by an average low temperature which was considerably below the normal. Below freezing temperatures occurred on 26 days.

A rather unusual feature of the temperature records for the month was the occurrence of the highest November temperature and the lowest November temperature ever recorded since the beginning of tabulation in 1911. The highest was 80 degrees and the lowest 18 degrees, making a range in temperature, 64 degrees.

The weather was extremely clear for the month of November. There were 19 clear days, 9 partly cloudy and 2 cloudy. The total number of clear days was far above the average character of days during a November. The month was also comparatively free from the ordinary November fogmists, there being but 2 days, the 11th and the 18th, on which dense fog was noted.

The percentage of relative humidity during the month was low for the season and the fire hazard remained high, due to the continued dryness of the atmosphere. Smoke from forest fires prevailed in the vicinity of the station throughout the entire month with only an occasional break.

Winds were unusually light for the month with south as the prevailing direction. The average hourly velocity was 2.5 miles, which is somewhat less than the normal.

A brilliant lunar halo was observed in the early morning hours of the 22nd.

NATIONALIST TROOPS REPORTED IN MUTINY

SHANGHAI, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Sino-Nationalist government troop defections apparently connected with the Pukow mutiny of several thousand government soldiers with disorders Tuesday, were reported tonight as taking place in numerous localities along the Yangtze river.

Mothers... Watch Children's COLDS
COMMON head colds often "settle" in throat and chest where they may become dangerous. Don't take a Children's Mustrale once every hour for five hours.
Children's Mustrale is just good old Mustrale, you have known so long, in milder form.
Working like the trained masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.
Keep full strength Mustrale on hand, for adults and the milder—Children's Mustrale for little tots. All druggists.

DUNN CANDIDACY WAITS DECISION

A political item of considerable local and county interest is the following from today's Oregonian:
"For the time being, Senator Geo. W. Dunn of Ashland does not know what he will do about the primaries in May. The senator is up for re-nomination from the Jackson county district but hasn't determined whether or not to seek a return to his seat. If Senator Dunn administers himself then Jackson county will have a brand new delegation of inexperienced men, as John H. Carlin and William Briggs, the house members for the past few years, will not be candidates. Senator Dunn is in the banking business. He reports that Ashland has had a prosperous year and that the mild weather is still causing tourists to keep to the roads, although, of course, the tourist traffic is not as dense as it was during the summer months."

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Leo Diegel, defending champion, and Walter Hagen, chief challenger, continued to lead their opponents at the twenty-seventh hole of today's third round 36-hole match play in the National Professional Golfers association championship. Diegel was two up on Gene Sarazen of New York, while Hagen had a six up lead on Tony Manera, another New Yorker.

Gene Wood, Bloomfield, N. J., was two up on Johnny Farrell, New York, at the 27th, while Al Watrous, Detroit, and Al Espinosa, Chicago, were all square at the same station.

SALES RETARD STRENGTHENING SHARE MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Increased selling resistance developed in today's stock market as the rally in prices entered upon its third day. The liquidation reached sufficient volume during the morning to give the market a reactionary appearance, but the tide of prices turned upward again in the early afternoon under the stimulus of optimistic trade surveys by business executives attending the Washington industrial conference and a brisk demand for the public utility and a selected list of specialties.

Operators for the advance struggled to press their advantage but investors were less reluctant to reach for stocks until the market gave further evidence of its stability. Prices, in general, have recovered nearly one-third of the ground lost in the October-November break, and the rapidity of the recent advance in many issues has suggested the possibility of at least a technical reaction.

Wide fluctuations again took place today in some of the high-priced specialties. People's Gas ran up 2 1/2 points, Otis Elevator 20 and Columbia Gas 1 1/4. A. M. Byers, Stimmons, Company, Midland Steel Products preferred, Allied Chemical and Brooklyn Union Gas sold 5 to 8 points higher.

SINNOTT HONOR MEMORIAL FOR LAKE IN BUDGET

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The importance of the nation's parks as recreation centers was pointed out by the house appropriations committee when it reported to the house today the annual supply bill of the interior department and provided an increase for national park service over the last fiscal year and the budget estimates. The $8,970,935 allotted exceeded the appropriations for the current year by $474,955 and the budget by $318,420.

A reduction was made to allot $19,000 for the construction of the Sinnot memorial rest at Crater Lake national park, Oregon, in honor of the memory of the late Nicholas J. Sinnot of Oregon.

The committee also set aside $200,000 for the purchase of privately owned land in the national parks and pointed out that a fiscal year 1931 would see for the first time in effective operation the program of $5,000,000 a year for construction of roads and trails in the national parks.

Allocations for national parks include the following:
Crater Lake, Oregon, $73,000.
Mt. Rainier, Washington, $148,600.
HUNGRY MAN TAKES 30 CENTS; GETS 3 YEARS
KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 5.—(AP)—A moneyless and hungry man, who grabbed 50 cents from the box office of a theater here Sunday night, was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary today.

O. H. Young pleaded guilty to the charge of robbery and told officers and the court he had been without food.
