WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The shipping board today held illegal the practice of giving full carload rates on shipments to be divided among two or more consignees. It ordered the practice discontinued in disposing of cases involving 16 shipping companies.

The cases grew out of a complaint filed by associated jobbers and manufacturers of Los Angeles, and supporting petitions of intervention by chambers of commerce of San Francisco, Seattle and Tacoma, the Western Confectioners' Traffic Association and others.

The complaints alleged that the practice was carried on in shipments from the Atlantic to between two and six Pacific coast ports at the same rates as were charged on other carload shipments or on those delivered altogether at one port.

Two months ago I started eating a large bowl of your ALL-BRAN with cream for breakfast and today I am in fine condition, better than I have been in three years. My bowels are regular every day. I have not taken one cathartic pill in two months."

"THIS IS INDEED COMFORT"

AND so it was. Those convivial feasts, those "substantial" meals of Dickens' Merrie England make one ofttime wonder if we today don't overlook the finest delights of the table—if we don't miss something, not being connoisseurs of really thumping good food, as was Mr. Pickwick or Wardle—if we don't miss the jovial spirit that good food and good company inevitably provide.

If you do . . . you needn't! Not while FRYE'S DELICIOUS BRAND HAMS AND BACON may still be had!

Here is food that might have delighted even such a particular palate as Charles Dickens himself must have had. . . might well have called forth again his ecstatic praises.

But let it be said that Frye's Delicious Hams and Bacon are sweet, firm, moist and fresh to taste, in short, worthy of a Dickens board—which, after all, transcends all "foody" praise.

Six delightful Dickens Character Prints sent on request to Dickens lovers. Send 5c to cover mailing. Unusual 92-page recipe book included. Address Frye & Company, Portland.
