

1929 ALL-AMERICAN

By Alan Gould
Associated Press Sports Editor.
NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—As a tribute to the fertile football plains that produced some of the most brilliant teams in Notre Dame and Purdue, the middle west takes the lion's share of honors in the fifth annual all-American consensus, compiled by the Associated Press from expert nation-wide opinion and made public today.

On the first team, the "shock troops" of an all-American squad of 22 players, five represent the middle west, four the east and one each for the south and Pacific coast.

Pittsburg and Notre Dame, two of the finest aggregations of the year, each gained two places on the mythical eleven, a distinction no team in the country has been accorded in the consensus since Dartmouth placed three men on the first team in 1925.

The east manifested strength in the squad as a whole by collecting 12 out of the 22 places, with nine going to the middle west, six to the south, five to the far west and one to the southwest.

In the nation-wide poll of opinion, taken by the Associated Press, 215 experts contributed their view. They represented newspaper sports editors and writers, Associated Press staff observers, officials and coaches in every section of the country. There was not an important game anywhere, scarcely a spectacular feat recorded in any noteworthy college contest which was not "covered" or studied by some one or more of these experts.

The results of the consensus show a distinct drift in the "class" of football talent, for the season of 1929 at least, to the middle west, in contrast with the powerful showing of the far west in 1928. On the whole it was dis-tingly a "mid-western year," with such teams as Purdue and Notre Dame leading the parade more of the way, while Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota registered noteworthy intersectional triumphs to add to the prestige of the big ten group.

Star players of one of the most spectacular of all college campaigns stood out as conspicuously as did the select few teams. No all-American selective process is safe from debate of the grogliest variety; nevertheless the consensus indicated little doubt about the majority of contenders for honor positions.

Three of the players on the team were overwhelming choices—Frank Carideo, Notre Dame's great quarterback; Bronko Nagurski, the powerhouse of Minnesota's team, and Joe Donchess, lean, hard hitting end of the Pittsburg Panthers. Toby Uansa of Pittsburg was by far the leading halfback in the balloting.

Carideo was the choice of 123 experts for the position of field general, outdistancing such eastern aces as Al Marsters of Dartmouth, Abbie Booth, of Yale, each of whom faded at the finish, largely through injuries, after dazzling starts.

With the ballots proving the majority choices conclusively, they also indicated strong support for Iowa's great captain, Willis Glasgow, along with such other fine performers as Jack Elder of Notre Dame, Cy Leland of Texas Christian, who broke up any number of games with dazzling runs; "Mack" Stennett of St. Mary's; Dick Gentle of Pennsylvania and Merle Hurford of Washington, the one bright spot in an otherwise drab year for the Huskies.

Following are the 1929 All-American football teams, as compiled by the Associated Press.

GEORGIA BLOCKS TECHS AGES AND EMERGES VICTOR

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Capitalizing the breaks and successfully subduing Georgia Tech's backfield aces, Thomason and Mizell, the University of Georgia today won the twenty-fifth edition meeting of the two institutions by a score of 12 to 6.

Scoring early in the first period on a fourth down pass from Chandler to Matfett, the Bulldogs held their edge until midway of the third period when Holt, substitute for Watkins, recovered Chandler's blocked kick behind the goal line.

Georgia's final touchdown and march of victory also came as a result of a blocked kick in the final quarter. Bryant, substitute for Rowe, crashed through the Georgia Tech forward wall to block Mizell's punt. The ball shot far up into the air but Bryant was under it when it came down and scampered some 40 yards for the score.

Neither Georgia nor Tech was able to convert any of their after touchdown attempts into extra points.

A drizzling rain began in the first period, making the ball and the field slippery.

The last half of the game found both teams kicking frequently on first downs.

Running true to form of previous meetings between the rival Georgia schools, the contest was spirited and hard fought throughout.

Mizell and Stumpy Thomason, playing their last game of collegiate football, gained practically all the ground the Yellow Jackets were able to cover, but the hard charging Red and Black line had them effectively blanketed throughout.

MEDFORD STARS IN FRONT RANK FOR '30' TEAM

Former Medford high school football stars, now attending the University of Oregon, loom large in 1930 varsity prospects, according to a Eugene dispatch to the Oregonian of yesterday. The article states that Bernie Hughes, Bill Morgan and Al Stoehr will make the fixtures of the Oregon line hustle to retain their places. Morgan is touted to dislodge one of the university's highly touted "quarterback" tackles.

Meanwhile, "Fatal Red" McDonald, over at Oregon State college, is effervescent along as "one of the leading varsity end prospects of the coast," and getting ready to dispute with three others for first place as a Took basketball center. McDonald would have been named all-State center at the Salem tournament last spring if Williamette valley coaches had not thought he was "too cocky."

The Oregonian article is as follows:

"George Stadelman was lost from the Oregon line early in the season when he broke his ankle in the Idaho game at Portland. His place has been filled by Ernie Forsta, a sophomore. Like Stadelman had this year, Forsta will find himself up against competition in 1930. Bernie Hughes, trained by Prink Callison, one of Oregon's greatest centers will make a bid for the pivotal job in 1930. Hughes, a member of last season's championship Medford team, was one of the outstanding spots on the freshman team this season, and many predicted that he will replace Forsta as the regular center. He weighs 180 lbs. Bill Anstey and Shesley Carter, reserves, will be back again next season.

"With the exception of Harry Wood, reserve end, the Oregon line will not be, however, without competition that the regulars retain their positions. Shields and Lillie at guards will have Cy West, Ted Park, Henry Hayden and Gilbert French of this year's squad to beat out, while a pair of outstanding freshmen, Jack Hughes and Al Stoehr, will be in the running also. Stoehr weighs 185 and Hughes 180. Both played for Medford last year.

Austin Colbert and George Christensen will also have to move to retain their tackle positions. Bill Morgan and Sherwood Billings, a pair of freshman tacklers, are eyeing the positions now held by Colbert and Christensen. Morgan, another Medford boy, probably is the best of the two since he has more experience, but Billings, from Hill Military academy, is big and may develop swiftly. Another tackle prospect will be Joe Jonsa, a giant from Texas, who was ineligible

IOWA'S PLEA FOR REINSTATEMENT IN BIG 10 DENIED

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The University of Iowa was denied reinstatement to the western conference today because it refused to dismiss George Brenahan, track coach, declared several athletics ineligible under the classification of improper financial aid, and because it has not materially changed the personnel of its athletic governing board. E. H. Lauer, Iowa director of athletics, said tonight.

"Iowa did not do these things for the reason that it was not willing to sell its soul to gain the world," Lauer said in a statement, which was so bitter that it indicated Iowa might never again seek reinstatement.

"At the June meeting, the chairman of the faculty conference committee quoted a scriptural passage to Iowa's representation," Lauer's statement read. "The passage was apt and had to do with the necessity of good work as a sign of repentance. Iowa took this seriously and good work has been done. It is now Iowa's turn at scriptural citations, 'what does it profit a man though he gain the whole world if he loses his soul?'"

"Iowa lost only the thing it was asking for. As revealed to me in the conference, the reasons for continuing the sentence against Iowa were: 'It had not materially changed the personnel of its athletic governing board; it had not dismissed Coach Brenahan from his position as track coach; it had not declared any athletics ineligible under the classification of improper financial aid.' Iowa did not do these things for the reason that it was not willing to sell its soul in order to gain the world."

GIANT TACKLE SEEN AS GUARD CANDIDATE

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Dallas Marvill, 254-pound tackle of the 1929 Northwestern football team, is an outstanding guard candidate for the Wildcat basketball team. Marvill handles his bulk well and is expected to get into action often.

STRIBLING WINS FIGHT ON FOUL

PARIS, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, giant Italian carpenter, was disqualified at the end of the seventh round of his bout with William L. (Young) Stribling of Macon, Ga., here tonight, and the decision was awarded to the American.

Carnera was disqualified on a foul for hitting Stribling after the bell, ending the seventh round, had sounded. It was the second meeting between the two heavyweights, both ending on fouls. Stribling was disqualified for hitting Carnera low in a recent bout at London.

TELEPHONE EARNINGS SHOW GOOD INCREASE

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. today reported that its per earnings for the 10 months ending October 31 aggregated $13,959,451, equal to $9.63 a common share, as against $12,293,226 or $8.81 a share for the same period of last year.

TARHEELS VICTOR OVER DUKE 48-7

DURHAM, N. C., Dec. 7.—(AP)—The University of North Carolina Tarheels passed and ran their way to a 48 to 7 win over Duke University's Blue Devils eleven here this afternoon to clinch the North Carolina championship. The game was the last of the year for both eleven and was witnessed by about 15,000 persons.

A flying club is being organized by students at the University of Virginia.

REIGH COUNT WORTH MORE THAN MILLION

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—(AP)—John D. Reigh, Chicago sportsman, has refused an offer of $1,000,000, the largest bid on record, for his championship thoroughbred, Reigh Count—and can't understand why anyone should offer that much money for a horse, nor why he rejected the bid.

The offer was made by W. T. Waggoner, Texas millionaire, owner of horses wearing the Three D silks, and immediately was refused.

Reigh Count is owned by Reigh this year through a transfer from West Point, where he was outstanding on the plet team.
