SUNDOWN STORIES

Watering the Elephants
By Mary Graham Bonner.

The elephants were reaching out and gathering drinks of water from tiny clouds. And now some little boys were holding out buckets as the planes passed through several larger clouds.

"They're going to be let in free this afternoon for helping with the elephants," the Little Black Clock said.

"Is there going to be a circus performance in the air?" John asked.

"Certainly. Want to see it?"

"Do we? Oh, Little Black Clock! I should say we do!" John exclaimed.

"I thought you might. I have it all arranged. But we want to see the rest of the parade first."

So John and Peggy sat in their plane, which stayed perfectly still up in the air, and they watched the first air circus parade pass by.

The circus parade was splendid. The planes which carried the performers, the animals and the band were painted bright red, and pictures of the wild creatures were painted upon the wings. Some of the planes were so large and so open that they could see the beautiful circus ladies as they bowed and waved their hands.

As the parade flew along the people who were watching from other planes clapped and shouted with delight.

At the very end of the parade was a plane in which there was something that sounded exactly like a calliope.

"It's a real circus!" John told the Little Black Clock.

TURKEYS CHEAPER FOR YULE FEASTS

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 10.—(AP)—Turkeys are going to be much cheaper during the Christmas holidays than they were for Thanksgiving. Turkey raisers have a surfeit of the birds on hand as a result of holding back shipments when the market threatened to be glutted before Thanksgiving. At present they face the necessity of getting rid of the birds or keeping them indefinitely, as there are no other holidays near at which the fowls are generally used.

This information comes from a leading poultry produce company, which deals in poultry of all kinds. Today they quoted 28@30c as the price being paid shippers for the top grades. Previously it was 32@34c.

Veal occupies a similar position. The market is glutted with calf meat. The price has been reduced from 17½c and 18c to 17c straight.

There was no change in the butter and egg prices.

"The Circus Kid" Jacksonville Theatre

"The Circus Kid" comes to the Jacksonville theater Wednesday and Thursday.

The story tells of a lion tamer, once the leader of his kind, now a helpless, nerve-shattered wreck. The love of a boy coupled to his mad infatuation with the star of the whole circus gives him the opportunity to prove that King Kruger is still the greatest of them all.

Helen Costello is the star of the circus and Frankie Darro, the boy who manages to make life worth living for the broken-down trainer. The whole cast is excellent, but the acting of Joe E. Brown as "King" Kruger is a special feature.

Marion Davies Comes to Craterian

With a male chorus of 30 voices and an orchestra of 50 pieces, "Marianne," Marion Davies' latest starring vehicle, an all-talking picture, will open at the Craterian theater tomorrow.

In producing this romantic comedy-drama there has been combined the efforts of six noted composers who have turned out a musical score acclaimed by Arthur Lange, music arranged, as the most tuneful written in recent years.

Included in the song numbers are "Just You — Just Me" and "Hang Onto Me," "Sugar," "Oo La La La La," "Marianne" and "Blondy."

All the numbers are sung individually by the cast principals, Miss Davies, Lawrence Gray, Cliff ("Ukulele Ike") Edwards, Benny Rubin and George Baxter, with the massed vocal and instrumental ensembles providing a stirring background of harmony.

The story deals with the A. E. F. in France after the signing of the armistice. Miss Davies plays a French peasant girl.
