Hack 'n' Mack Try Their Act in Basketball

Buddy Hackman and Gene McEver, Tennessee's twin touchdown terrors, will continue their rambling on the basketball court this winter. Hack is a forward and Mack is a guard.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(AP) Looking ahead to 1930, Dixie athletic fans figured it would be soon enough if they saw no more of Hack and Mack, Tennessee's touch-down twins, until the fall of 1930. They won't see this distinguished pair in football garb until then but they will see them in other raiment right soon, for Hack and Mack are out for basketball.

Hack, whose real name is Buddy Hackman, is a forward and for once may outscore his famous partner, since Mack (Gene McEver) is a guard at basketball. Mack was the nation's leading football scorer in 1929, and Hack was not far behind.

Both are juniors and are playing their second season of varsity basketball. Farley's action was taken after reports reached the commission of the somewhat intricate financial arrangements of the bout.

TITULAR BOUT LOOKED QUEER QUIZ ORDERED

Morgan's Visit to Canvas in Second Round Saved $25,000 Under Financial Agreement—Ring Rulers Withhold Purses.

By Herbert W. Barker. Associated Press Sports Writer. NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Tod Morgan has relinquished his junior lightweight championship, but whether to his conqueror, Benny Bass, or not, awaits the decision of an official inquiry by the New York state athletic commission.

Bass, the pile-driving puncher from Philadelphia, knocked out Morgan in the second round of their 15-round titular bout in Madison Square Garden, and apparently had succeeded in his 130-pound crown beyond a doubt. A few minutes after the knockout, however, Chairman James A. Farley of the state commission, ordered the purses of both fighters withheld pending an investigation to be begun by the commission on Tuesday. Bass and Morgan, with their managers, were ordered to appear before the commissioners at 11 o'clock before the sons at that time. Farley indicated that he did not believe the bout had been fought on his merits.

Farley's action was taken after reports reached the commission of the somewhat intricate financial arrangements of the bout.

It was said that in the event he lost, Morgan had been guaranteed $35,000, but that if he won he would receive 37 1/2 per cent of the gate. The gate, as it turned out, was approximately $28,000, of which it was said Morgan would have received little more than $10,000 had he won.

The fight, while it lasted, was a sensational affair. Bass, on the long end of odds as high as 6 to 1, ran into serious difficulties in the first round. Morgan, who had the Philadelphia challenger with several rights to the chin that had Bass reeling and dizzy at the bell.

At the start of the second round, however, Bass rushed from his corner and swung a wild right that landed flush on Morgan's chin. The champion hit the canvas with a thud and barely regained his feet at the count of nine. Bass seems both fast to the body and head.

Morgan, almost defenseless in the face of the storm of leather that came his way, tried to get close enough to his rival to hold on, but Bass unleashed a terrific right to the chin that sent the titleholder down for the full count.

A moderate sized crowd of 9000 saw the match. Bass weighed 127; Morgan 128.

SANTA'S WHISKERS MAY BE FIXED TO FORESTALL FIRES

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 21.—(Sp.)—Seeking to avoid a repetition of the tragedy of a year ago, when three young girl students of an Oregon educational institution suffered a terrible death in a students' rooming and boarding house fire because a warm-hearted house mother carelessly placed "welcome home" candles in a window and the flames ignited the curtains and spread to the Christmas trees, as well as the needless destruction of property through holiday carelessness, State Fire Marshal Clavo A. Lee is sending out warnings to the fire chiefs and press of the state.

One feature is in the nature of a "Holiday Happiness Declaration" in the unique form of a resolution, in appropriate holiday colors, pleading the stigmatists thereto to exercise care and discretion in holiday preparations and the other setting forth a list of important things to avoid in decorations and costumes, prescribing two formulas for fireproofing inflammable materials.

One chemical formula for fireproofing Christmas trees, evergreen foliage, cotton batting and other flammable and decorative materials, was applied to the huge Christmas tree which adorns the main corridor of the state house, at the instance of Secretary of State Hal E. Ross, custodian of the Capitol building and grounds, and a thorough test by the application of lighted matches to the foliage proved it very effective. The other formula is prescribed for the treatment of children's costumes and other highly combustible fabrics to render them fireproof. The latter solution will not injure the fabrics and is claimed to make the colors fast. The two formulas prescribed are as follows:

For Christmas trees, evergreen foliage, cotton batting, used for trimming and for artificial snow, and other flammable decorative materials: Two pounds of sulphate of ammonia, four pounds of chloride of ammonia and three gallons of water. Apply as a spray. Quantity may be reduced in proportion of ingredients to suit the needs.

For children's costumes and other flammable fabrics: Ammonium phosphate (commercial) one pound, water one gallon. Immerse articles in the solution and allow them to thoroughly dry.

LOCAL AIR PORT IS DESCRIBED IN STANDARD GUIDE

A very definite proof of the rapidly increasing development of aviation in the Pacific west is shown in the new edition of the Standard Oil Company of California and now being issued to licensed pilots.

In this volume are described 412 airports located in the western states. When this company published the first edition of the guide in June, 1927, there were listed 144 airports. Less than a year later a new volume was necessary, for the leading fields in the Pacific west had increased to 175; 12 months later another edition was required for there were now 263 fields. It was only nine months afterwards that a supplement had to be issued to include additional airports which brought the total to 325, 75 which brought the total to 412 landing fields in virtually the same area as that covered by the first edition of the Standard Oil company's guide.

A feature of the new edition of the guide is a 20-page section of aerial navigation maps showing established air routes, the compass courses and landing fields, with also indicated railroads, mountain ranges and waterways. These maps are of great value to the pilot in charting a course. They present the most comprehensive picture of the network of Pacific west air routes that are now a vital part of the commercial development of the nation.

Her injuries are not thought to be serious.
