NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R. MAY CONSTRUCT LINE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. — (AP) — Authorization for the Northern Pacific and the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company to construct a 60-mile line in Gray's Harbor and Jefferson counties, Washington, was given today by the Interstate Commerce commission.

WATCH PARTY HELD IN JACKSONVILLE HOME

JACKSONVILLE, Ore., Jan. 4. — (Special.) A watch party was given New Year's eve by Mrs. L. C. Cole and Mrs. Kenneth Merrifield at the Cole residence in honor of John Cole and Roland Merrifield who were home from college for the holidays.

Screen Life Hollywood

By Robbin Coons. HOLLYWOOD. — There used to be only one kind of director in filmland. He was the man who at the megaphone, which was his resplendent insignia. Today, since the arrival of talkies, film-makers, and screen reviews, his number has been multiplied to six, and one alone has to take care of a stumbling over of directors on many of the movie sets.

The man who used to wield the megaphone is still there, although he no longer wields it, or anything at all, except his hands, and voice occasionally, when the microphones are idle.

He carries nothing to set him apart from the small army of other set workers except his air of authority and purchase. If he be Cecil DeMille, his riding habit.

The megaphone, in talking picture making, is out.

Five Others. He, with or minus megaphone, is the personage meant when one says "the director." But there are others.

All-important is the director of sound, or "sound technician." Chances are that you will find the command of a tripod-mounted know-all called the dance director — and in his field his word is law.

There is, of course, a director of music, and an erstwhile stranger to the movies is there in the person of the director of dialog, found on many talkie sets, working with the "real" director.

Even he who once was simply the "head cameraman" has become the "director of photography" and incidentally seldom touches a camera except in instructing his assistants.

These dozen hands all at work on a single picture may remind of the superfluous cooks who sniped at each other in the kitchen of the broth—just the same, they all are required to produce most of today's spectacular talkies.

And odd as it may seem, he who was once the megaphone wielder remains the most important of all the talkies, as many directors have learned through unhappy experience, are still movies.

Another Passing. The talkies have encroached on another bulwark of the legitimate stage in talking over the local Orpheum, which is to be wired for pictures at the close of the present bill. Fittingly, Carmel Myers of the talkies headlines the final week's bill.

Oldest Twins 80. GARBETT, H. (U.P.) — Said to be the oldest living set of twins in the United States. Mrs. Ann Dussler of this city and her sister, Mrs. Katherine Ziemer, Tascosa, recently celebrated their 80th birthday anniversary.

AID FOR FEDERAL ROADS FOSTERED BY HOOVER PLAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. — President Hoover's plan for reorganizing the federal aid system for road building, increased appropriations for the federal aid system are seen as an impetus to all highway construction.

For many years the appropriations have been held at a constant figure of $75,000,000 annually, a sum parceled out to the various states to match the amount spent by each in federal highway development.

Indication that, without an increased appropriation, federal projects would not proceed as rapidly as they had in the past few years is carried in the report of the bureau of public roads that the mileage of improvement during the fiscal year was smaller than the previous years.

That federal projects have been able to approach a constant pace is laid to the accumulation of a large balance in the fund because, during earlier years, annual sums had not been entirely expended.

The balance has hastened the date of improvement during past years but it has now been absorbed and the results of confining the road building program to current appropriations are reflected in lessened mileage.

Governors of many states, in response to President Hoover's call have increased building, pledged more aid, but the maximum to which the states can push their highway development may depend on federal help.

As a result, eyes of the road building world will be turned to congress when it fashions what may be the backbone for road building programs in authorizing federal aid appropriations.

In response to the general movement for highway expansion, an increase in the federal aid appropriation to $125,000,000 in the fiscal year 1930 is being sought by the house committee alone to stimulate building and forestal depression.

The federal aid system for the fiscal year included 188,857 miles of interstate and intercountry highways. Nearly 79,000 miles of the system have been initially improved thus far with federal aid.

With an increase in the federal aid appropriation, the American Automobile association estimates expenditures for highway and street construction and maintenance in 1930 would exceed $2,500,000,000 and furnish employment for 625,000 people.

A bill to appropriate $250,000,000 to aid the states in construction of rural roads has been introduced by Representative Robinson, republican of Kentucky.

PEIPING THIEVES MARKET PASSES

PEIPING, Jan. 4 (AP) — The famous "thieves market" of China's ancient capital formally abolished in a decree issued by General Chang Yin-wu, mayor of Peiping. The decree also prohibits the fairs which have been held for centuries here at dawn and after night-fall. The decree quotes a Chinese classical writer as saying that the middle of the day is the time for people to buy and sell.

The "thieves market" has been one of the most picturesque features of Peiping life for generations. To an appointed place hundreds of dealers have brought every conceivable sort of object at 8 o'clock in the morning, or earlier, and Chinese and foreign residents in search of bargains have been the patrons.

It has been popularly supposed that a large number of the articles displayed were stolen, which accounted for their surprising cheapness.

Animal Market Off. ST. LOUIS (U.P.) — The business of supplying wild animals for zoos has slumped in the last few years, according to Lorenz Hagenbeck, junior member of the Carl Hagenbeck company of Hamburg, Germany, who visited St. Louis recently. "Only monkey sales are increasing in volume," he said.

DRY LEADERS OF NATION CONFER

DETROIT (UP) — Although the program has not been completed for the national meeting of the Anti-Saloon League of America, several national prominent prohibition leaders are expected to address the convention when it meets here Jan. 15 to 19. Three thousand dry workers will attend the conference.

Mrs. Ella Boole, president of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union and Dr. James M. Doran, United States Prohibition Commissioner are included in the speakers' list for the convention. Other speakers on the program include Sergeant Alvin York of Tennessee; Justice Florence Allen of the Ohio Supreme Court; Dr. Howard H. Russell, founder of the Anti-Saloon League and Rev. R. N. Holsapple, superintendent of the Michigan league.

Special honor will be paid to Dr. Russell in honor of his 75th birthday anniversary.

LABORER ROBBED AND THROWN INTO STREAM

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 4. — (AP) Tony Madick, 32, a laborer of Melich, was in a hospital here today with a fractured skull sustained when he was picked up from the road by two robbers near The Dalles who slugged him, robbed him and threw him into Devils Creek on the Columbia River highway.
