TRACK MEET WILL BE HELD, RAIN OR SHINE, IS WARNING

Regardless of weather, the annual Jackson county field and track meet will be held tomorrow at the county fair grounds and indications are that there will be showers. However, a little rain is not expected to dampen the enthusiasm of the several hundred young participants from the town and rural schools to be represented. As the past two days had been selected, making allowance for stormy weather on the first late and automatically postponing the meet until the following Saturday. However, the board of management did not see fit to carry out such procedure this year. If rain should fall tomorrow the large grandstand will afford sufficient shelter from the wet drops and others can find shelter in autos. The meet will then probably progress between showers.

A complete entry list of schools had not been received by the county school superintendent up until early this afternoon. The partial list included the following high schools: Jacksonville, Phoenix, Central Point, Sams Valley, Rogue River, Gold Hill and Prospect.

The rural school list to date is as follows: Eagle Point, Independence, Dodson, Lone Mountain, Brownsboro, Applegate, Table Rock, Wagner Creek, Oak Grove, Evans Valley, Bellview, Little Applegate, Sams Cove, West Side and Howard.

One event will be under the direction of Albert Finch of the Medford junior high school and he will be assisted by local high school students and by Boy Scouts as officials. There will be one or two concessions on the grounds where light lunches may be purchased.

The last parade may be reached by way of Stewart avenue for north and south bound travel through the cooperation of highway contractors who have a crew of men laboring to improve and widen the present grade. Stewart avenue is reached from Kings highway by northbound traffic and by Riverside avenue for southbound autos.

STRANGLER LEWIS AND KRUSE BOTH UNPOPULAR HERE

Ed (Strangler) Lewis, ex-world's heavyweight champion is as unpopular in the entire wrestling world as Bob Kruse, Portland, has always been in the Medford rink and when they meet at the armory tomorrow evening in a finish match, Lewis is apt to have the edge for unpopularity. The ex-champ is well known for previous trouble in and out of the ring.

The opponents to Strangler Lewis tomorrow night competed in a healthy mix in the ring from a numerous wins down over the country for a few months during the month. The next round the deadlock plan and he lost part time in telling the Pioneer kid from Scenic Dreamy who came out from Minnesota to show the "Strangler" did not mean so much to him in a wrestling way. Preberg took the first fall and lost the next two.

Kruse met Lewis a few months ago and put up a hard struggle before the ex-champ took the winning fall. Kruse thinks his chances are good for a better showing this time and many of his local followers hope they are.
