

JEFFERSON HIGH STUDENT WINNER IN ESSAY AWARD

WASHINGTON, May 7.—(AP)—Ray Steubing, a student at Jefferson high school, Portland, Oregon, was announced today as winner of an award for the best 300-word high school paper on "How May the Pact for the Renunciation of War Be Made Effective."

He will be given a vacation trip to Europe.

Laelle Palmer of the John Marshall high school, Richmond, Va., was second, and Max Baer, Central high school, South Bend, Ind., third.

The judges were William John Cooper, commissioner of education; Senator Capper of Kansas and Gideon A. Lyon, associate editor of the Washington Evening Star.

RABBIT BREEDERS LEARN TECHNIQUE

Instructions were given in the technique of dressing rabbits at a well attended special meeting last night of the Southern Oregon Mutual Rabbit Breeders' association held for that purpose in the plant of Swift & Co. on Fir street.

"Swift & Co. demand an attractive, uniform dressing, and from now on they shall have it," said C. C. Allhouse of the association. Changes will be made in the grading of rabbits according to size, in order to stimulate the demand for the matured meat, which lags far beyond that of the small fryers. The heavier ones, being more matured, are really superior to the former and cheaper than beef, as they go twice as far.

Manager Campbell of Swift & Co. is very optimistic as to the future of dressed rabbit meat, and it will not be long now, he thinks, till it will be a workaday dish for the many as well as a Sunday treat for the few wise epicureans, as is now the case.

Clowns and Pretty Girls in Circus

Realization that funny clowns were necessary to the success of the circus was made many years ago. But it remained for the Al. G. Barnes Circus to discover that pretty girls are also important. In the 1930 edition of this famous show spectators will find fifty of the best known "Joys" in the circus world, and scores of California beauties that could win prizes in any beauty contest.

HOWARD DISTRICT

HOWARD DISTRICT, Ore., May 8.—(Sp.)—The Parent-Teachers association will hold its regular monthly meeting at the schoolhouse Friday afternoon, May 9th. The president desires a good attendance as this is the last meeting of the year, and plans will be made to give the children a treat the last day of school.

Miss Marie Joie Smith, who teaches at Prospect, visited her mother and brothers over Sunday.

Mrs. Mabel Mack met with the sewing class last Wednesday afternoon, and has arranged to meet with us again May 12th.

Mrs. Susanne Carter paid our school a brief visit last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and family having sold their place in Howard Park, are moving to Medford. Their many friends regret very much to have the Cooper family leave our neighborhood. They have the well wishes of all wherever they may locate.

Several pupils from the Howard school will take part in the musical festival at Ashland Thursday.

Mrs. Schulte, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Sacred Heart hospital recently, has returned to her home and is improving rapidly.

Mrs. Raymond Crawford went to Grants Pass one day last week as a delegate to the Baptist convention held there.

PORTLAND GAINS MAJOR SHARE IN SCHOOL AWARDS

CHICAGO, May 8.—(AP)—Winners of the national creative work contests sponsored by Quill and Scroll, national honorary society for high school journalists, have been announced. Authors, critics and journalists were the judges.

Five leaders were named in each contest. They included:

Cartoons: first, Seymour Kall, Queen Anne high school, Seattle; second, Joe Kimmel, Lewis and Clark high, Spokane, Wash.

Poetry: Sixth, Joan Cox Grant high school, Portland, Ore.

Story: Illustrations: Fourth, Douglas Lynch, Grant high, Portland, Ore.

DOUGHERTY HEARD IN RADIO ORATION

A number of local people tuned in last evening when William Dougherty, 16-year-old high school senior of this city gave his oration on the Constitution over station KGW, Portland. Listeners today stated that the talk came in clear and distinct. The Oregon contest was sponsored by the Portland Oregonian.

Ralph R. Bailey, Dougherty's coach accompanied him to Seattle today where he will compete with Vernon Withuhn of Washington, LaVon Sorenson, Idaho; Margaret Balros, Hawaii; John S. Billings, Utah; and Alfred Vaughn of Phoenix, Arizona, winner over California and Nevada competitors.

Brisbane's Today (Continued from page one)

those injured, or whose homes had been destroyed. In Frost, the prompt action of two public school teachers, moving the children to open fields, saved the lives of 75. Intense and unseasonable hot weather, elsewhere, might well account for the erratic and dangerously powerful winds.

In New York yesterday the temperature, at noon, was 87 degrees, breaking all records for May 7.

News from Burma tells of many earthquakes and tidal waves. Ancient pagodas were rocked to destruction. From the top of one, the Shwe-Dagon pagoda, there fell a huge weather vane, of solid gold, said to be worth $1,200,000.

Many devout Burmans doubtless asked themselves what particular god had become annoyed, just what had annoyed him, and how he could be placated.

In very ancient times human sacrifices might have been offered, in the belief that the right god would accept them. And the victims, before having their throats cut, would be ordered to take humble messages of propitiation to the higher regions.

Educated Burmans know that it was only this old earth, trying to settle down into permanent shape. That process will continue for thousands of centuries.

Modern bootleg-gangster crime is viciously cruel.

In Chicago, a man "taken for a ride" is found in a ditch, many bullets in his body, marks on his chest, and, most horrible, his eyeballs gouged out.

Police think this was a warning to others in disfavor.

On the other hand, gangland delights to honor those that in its opinion, fall in a good cause.

In Newark, N. J., Frankie Mazzechi, is described by the police as a "gunman killed in a bootleggers' quarrel about territorial rights." Invading the other bootleggers' territory is the deadly sin. Mazzechi will have a magnificent funeral, no expense spared; truck loads of flowers and a fine grave. He was shot dead as he stood on a corner.

The senate, by a vote of 41 to 38, rejects Judge Parker, nominated by President Hoover for the supreme court.

Lawyers of high standing have said that decisions by Judge Parker, now criticized, were the only decisions he should have rendered in accordance with law.

But it is probable that President Hoover is glad to have the matter ended, adversely.

The affirmation of a judge, so savagely criticized, justly or otherwise, would have affected the public mind and respect for the highest court, unfavorably.

Dr. Butler, head of Columbia University, told a gathering in London that our new tariff bill, if passed, will take congress away from the Republican party at the election this fall.

That pleases the British, anxious to have us use goods made in Britain, as much as possible.

Nevertheless, attacks on free trade will be the backbone of the next Tory campaign. Rotherham and Beaverbrook, two more influential men, out of office in England, are fighting to keep British buying for British workers and factories throughout the world.
