

LAUNDRY HEADS TO EAT SALMON WITH FABRICKS

Convention Delegates Will Enjoy Fish Bake at Rogue River Cabin Tonight As Climax.

R. W. Smith of San Francisco this morning introduced S. M. Ratzkoff, production engineer of the Troy Laundry Machine company, New York City, who addressed the Oregon Laundry Owners' association at the Hotel Medford this morning of the second day of their convention.

Mr. Ratzkoff spoke on "Machinery Replacement, Operation and Washroom Costs," and brought out the fact that quality bundles could be produced only through knowledge of production.

"As a machine is made up of different parts, so can production be spoken of mechanically, electrically and chemically," was a thought expressed by Mr. Ratzkoff. He also added that human force should not be considered separately, as it was often least important and least expensive.

Mr. Ratzkoff stated that rhythm in the work was an important factor brought out in the paper by Mr. Ratzkoff, and by illustrations, he told how much more effective rhythmic work had proven.

Held Open Forum. President Glen Fabrick appointed Don Robinson of Pendleton chairman of the open forum following the address.

The next paper, "Cylinder Speed and Dimensions," was given by L. F. Toman of the American Laundry Machine company, San Francisco, who used several charts and illustrations. Diagram sheets showing the relation of cylinder speed to rib height, normal load in a 12-inch cylinder and overload in a 12-inch cylinder were used.

Mr. VanWelder of Salem took charge of the forum, during which F. J. Huebisch of San Francisco, C. B. Calou of Oakland, president of the Alameda county, California, association, and Chas. M. Hurford of San Francisco gave short talks on the subject.

Lunch for Pictures. Following the session, the members of the association were photographed in front of the public library. G. T. Georges of Portland also took moving pictures of the fathers and sons present.

Last evening a banquet for the laundrymen and their wives was given at the Hotel Medford. F. J. Huebisch was toastmaster, and impromptu talks were given by Chas. Hurford, secretary; George B. Ferguson, president of the Northern California Laundry Owners' association; S. W. Crowley of Oakland, and C. B. Calou. Music was furnished by Jack Bierma, Jack Walker, Bob Emmens and Bob Sletzer, with vocal refrains by Jane Fabrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Fabrick will be hosts this evening to the delegates at a salmon bake at their cabin on the Rogue. The afternoon session was devoted to a discussion of "Common Sense Chemistry for the Laundry Washroom."

NEW SOUTHERN PACIFIC LOUNGE CAR 'HOME ON WHEELS'

Southern Pacific's latest type lounge car, just placed in service on the "Shasta" between Portland and San Francisco via the Siskiyou line, has been designed as a "home on wheels," having all the comforts of home life with some others.

The car has a large solarium furnished with easy chairs and davenport upholstered in modern tapestry; a buffet and soda fountain, a club unit with built-in card tables and easy chairs; dressing rooms and shower baths for men and women and a barber shop for barber and valet service. Current magazines, a daily resume of the news and stock market reports, received en route, are included in the service provided for the convenience of the traveler on the new cars.

Parents Draw Lots to Decide Order of Children Upon Menu

PEKING, China, May 10.—(AP)—Victor Plymire, of York, Pa., of the general council of the Assemblies of God, has arrived in Peking from the Dangar famine area near the Tibetan frontier with his wife and sister-in-law after terrific hardships encountered enroute.

He said that in the Western Kansu area famine conditions were so bad parents were drawing lots to see in what order their children would be eaten.

The three Americans had been on their way since March 4 and because of the terrible conditions their health was shattered. They are en route to the United States to recuperate after nine years' of missionary work.

Plymire said the Dangar district often was overrun by bandits who in one massacre last year killed more than 2,000 persons. At one time 700 wounded were being cared for in the Plymire's compound.

Plymire said the famine was due to banditry, marauding soldiers and crop failures. Cannibalism he said, had been practiced for months in Niangpi and other towns in the district east of Lake Kokonor. He told stories of how families determined which children should be eaten from time to time under a scheme which prevented parents from eating their own offspring.

"I never imagined such conditions could exist anywhere," he said.

"We could not bear to remain longer in the midst of such indescribable suffering and in the face of it all we were so helpless."
