LISBON, May 10.—(AP)—"American quick lunches" are succeeding here. A Portuguese luncheon is a matter of hours. Restaurant owners advertise that the quick luncheon keeps the figure trim and the purse fat.

Seven of the 12 Students to Appear in "Pair of Sixes"

Everything from the violet-colored pills put out by the Eureka Digestive Pill company to the cards used in the poker game are in readiness for the presentation Tuesday evening at the Craterian theater of "A Pair of Sixes," a three-act farce written by Edward Peipe, and directed by Miss Isabel Willis.

Members of the cast represent the best dramatic talent in the senior class of Medford high school.

T. Boggs Johns, acted by Charles Thomas, is always having a hard time. Coddles, the "Henglish" maid is violently in love with the pill magnate, and is continually following him around, trying to attract his attention. The part of Coddles is well taken by Dorothy Whitman.

Alberta Wirth takes the part of Mrs. Nettleton, wife of George Nettleton, the other member of the pill company. She seems to be quite attractive to the Mr. Johns, which excites Mr. Nettleton. Norris Porter is Mr. Nettleton who demands that the medicinal qualities of the pill be advertised.

Millard Younger is well able to carry the part of the book-keeper, who holds the record for making the most efforts of anyone engaged in the same business.

Margaret Mellig is the miss always making use of perfume. She is the fiancée of T. Boggs Johns.

Amy Dorf as the "Light-headed" stenographer, always chewing gum, and as light-headed as she is blonde makes a hit by her characterization.

Rudd Gail makes the ideal office boy, always quarreling with the employees of the firm. Robert Christner is the shipping clerk whom the office boy seems to have it in for.

Merland Tolleson takes the role of the lawyer, and Tom Emmons that of Mr. Applegate. Cliff Lord as the salesman adds much humor to the play.

Song Leader Will Attend Convention

A charming member of the Portland delegation to the state convention of Business and Professional Women's clubs to be held in our city is Mrs. Mae Ross Walker, state song leader and prominent in musical circles in her home city. Mrs. Walker was appointed song leader for Oregon at the national convention in Oakland, California, in 1927, where she led the singing for the "Northwest" luncheon. Miss Moselle Blair, state president, re-appointed Mrs. Walker as state song leader for the state conventions held at Roseburg and Eugene in 1928 and 1929 respectively. The title of State Song Leader has been conferred on Mrs. Walker for the 1930 convention. She said, "I consider this appointment a very great honor and sincerely hope that the group singing will become a permanent feature of the conventions with an official song leader always among those present."

Eva Gordon

Recording secretary of the State Federation, who will attend the convention here. Miss Gordon lives in Eugene.

BERLIN, May 10.—(AP)—Sickness insurance for household pets and barnyard animals is being sold in Germany. To insure the health of a dog costs from $3.75 to $68.25. The premium on a pig is about $1.50. The animal must first be adjudged a "good risk" by the company's veterinarian.

RIO JANEIRO, May 10.—(AP)—Protestant organizations here claim that close to 1,000,000 persons in Brazil profess the Protestant faith but these include German colonists and other foreigners. The native adult Brazilians enrolled in Protestant churches number about 100,000.

DO YOU KNOW?

Dry Cleaning Kills 99% of All Known Germs
When you send your garments, hats, suits, rugs, curtains, neckties and overstuffed furniture to be dry cleaned they are completely deluged in pure, sweet solvent, specially prepared. That alone would destroy any lurking germ.

BUT THAT IS NOT ALL—
When they are superheated, steam passes through each tiny fibre. No germ could possibly miss annihilation.

AN OLD SAYING—WHICH IS VERY TRUE
"A penny saved" is fine business—but—did you ever stop to think that often a penny spent will save a dollar?

Dirt, sand, grease and other foreign matter fairly gnaws the fibres to pieces. A cleaning now will prolong their life considerably.

Accommodation and What It Meant

"Accommodation" is an empty phrase until put into actual practice. A bank's many facilities are as naught until actually made use of.

That is Why we offer to the growing business man a banking service that will help him grow bigger. It may be in our checking department or in all departments. But, no matter where, the hearty, complete accommodation of this bank is yours always.
